SENSATIONAL ART HORRORS AMUSE PARIS

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The thirty-fourth annual salon of the Society of Independent Artists opened today at the Grand Palais in a veritable orgy of artistic independents.

Five thousand entries, representing every free and liberal form of plastic art from the early cubist days of right triangle nudes to latter-day horrors from Russia, are hung in dazzling profusion throughout the galleries, the exhibits being grouped with no thought as to school, style or merit. Pre-Raphaelite portraits are hung side by side with fat, unwieldy, even vulgar nudes, and glittering patterns in cubist colors brighten many conservative canvases by still life and landscape which appear to have no claim to independence whatever.

SHOW IS BAFFLING

Generally this season's show is as baffling as its predecessors. There are fewer American exhibits this year, but the sensation of the show is an exhibit by the American, Raymond Duncan. He has dropped rug-weaving and the pursuit of the life beautiful as lived in potato sacks and sandals, and shows versatility in a splendidly independent painting called "Nativity." This is the one picture that can easily be found in the immense salon, as it can be traced by the sound of laughter. The small room in which it is hung is filled with amused spectators, who comment variously on the picturization of a little child born with the assistance of two corpulent nudes.

Another salon hit it the true sense of the world is Skypitzine's painting of Lower New York from the East River. This looks like a bright piece of calico magnified many diameters. It is for sale for 2500 francs.

One striking feature of the salon

TURKS EAGER FOR RENEWAL OF FIGHTING

BY LARRY RUE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 9.—The Grand National Assembly decided today that the ultimatum closing Smyrna and Ismid ports is decisive, according to dispatches received here from Angora.

Unless an intermediary chooses to smooth over the differences between the Allies and the Turks the latter intend to go ahead and fulfill the national pact with force of arms.

At Angora the situation is regarded as critical, the leaders pointing out that the nation is in much better shape now to fulfill the national pact than when it was adopted in 1919 after the defeat in the World War, when the Army was without arms or ammunition and when the French, British and Italians maintained strong forces of occupation in Anatolia.

KEMAL AT PANDERMA

Although Anatolia is in a high state of excitement, with the Grand National Assembly favoring direct action, Mustapha Kemal Pasha is at Panderma pending the official report on the Lausanne rupture from Ismet Pasha, who is passing through here on Saturday.

In the meantime the Turks are improving their military position in every possible way, especially at the strategic points. Reliable sources indicate that the Turks already are fortifying Smyrna to prevent the landing of large Allied forces. The Ismid region is being fortified also. The British are still holding Chanak but defenses have been erected in the interior.

The Allies handed a collective note to Adnan Bey last night demanding that the Turk government conform with international courtesy and lift the extraordinary measures imposed at Smyrna and Ismid ports.

The exchanges of views between Adnan Bey and the Allies continues.

ITALY WITH BRITAIN

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ROME, Feb. 9.—Italy will stand solidly with England and France in their policy towards Turkey and the Near East question, according to a statement made today at the Italian Foreign Office.

The Italian cruiser Vensels is now in Smyrna harbor and it is considered sufficient here to represent Italian naval power.

PEACE IS EXPECTED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Observers here familiar with diplomatic and other official advices on the Near East situation, expect ultimate acceptance by the Turkish Nationlist authorities of a treaty of peace substantially on the lines of that worked out at Lausanne.

The nature of reports which have reached Washington since the conference delegations departed on the refusal of Ismet and his Turkish colleagues to sign the pact, has not been revealed, but it is evident that they are of an optimistic trend.

It would cause little surprise her if the Turkish authorities, after Ismet has submitted his report at Angora, initiated a suggestion that the Lausanne pact be signed with the economic and financial clauses eliminated and that a new conference be called to deal with these questions. It is not believed, however, that such a course would be acceptable to the Allies, particu-

Getting Ready for Little Phil

DEATH PIT GIVES UP 32 BODIES TO MOURNING TOWN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAWSON (N. M.) Feb. 9.—While Dawson waits and watches in silence, bowed down with the immeasurable grief at the disaster which afflicted her yesterday, rescue crews and volunteer workers continued tonight to comb the labyrinth of passages in Dawson Mine No. 1 for the dead and living.

When the shifts of rescue workers were changed tonight, thirty-two bodies had been removed from the subterranean tomb in which they had been struck down at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Two men, whose ingenuity and presence of mind saved them from the deathly afterdamp which followed the explosion, were at home tonight with their families.

The list of men in the mine contained the name of Panfilos Cordova of Los Angeles.

In the mine, some buried beneath huge mounds of debris, others lying behind mammoth obstructions that block rescue workers and others far back, somewhere in the dark depths of the many passageways not yet cleared, are eighty-eight men.

HOPE NOT ABANDONED

Dawson has not abandoned hope that they will be brought forth alive.

The arrival of two mine rescue cars of the United States Bureau of Mines from Tucson, Ariz., and Hanna, Wyo., is being anxiously awaited by local rescue crews.

Justice of Peace T. L. Kinney late this afternoon impanelled a coroner's jury which will begin the work of identifying the bodies of the dead; a temporary morgue has been established in the local opera-house building, the largest structure in the city; supplies are being rushed to the mine, 11 miles in rebuilding the interior of the gutted tunnel and preparations for the burial of Dawson's dead tomorrow are being made.

The cause of the explosion still remained unexplained. J. R. Morrow, outside superintendent of the mine, declared it would be impossible to fix the exact cause of the blast at this time, owing to the dismantled condition of the interior of the property.

COLUMN OF DUST THEORY

One theory is that a column of dust, raised by a passing motor in the main shaft of the mine, may have been ignited by a short circuit. Another is that a spark caused by a pick striking against a rock in the mine may have set fire to the accumulated dust.

Just prior to the explosion the fan system, which drives fresh air throughout the workings and prevents the accumulation of gases, was in operation. Officials are at a loss to account for the blast as a consequence.

From the condition of four bodies taken from a point near the center of the mine late this afternoon, indications are that the blast centered near the heart of the workings. The four bodies were terribly burned, every vestige of clothing having been burned away and the forms were seared almost

COMMUNIST CHIEFS ARE ARRESTED

Letter Sent Rascisti Says "Hour for Revenge Has Struck"

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Feb. 9.—The police in different parts of Italy today continued to take into custody Communist organizers. Among those arrested was Mario Mariani, one of Italy's most noted novelists. They also detained Deputy Guido Viselli while his residence and also the home of his father were searched.

Fifteen persons were arrested at Spoleto, province of Perugia, where numerous documents were found containing instructions for the formation of a Communist organization. At Reggio nell'Emilia, capital of the province of Emilia, a workman who was arrested confessed that he had acted under the orders of the Central Communist organization, whose headquarters was in Milan. The man revealed the code by which many documents were deciphered.

The chiefs o fthe Perugia Fascisti have received a letter signed by the Secret Revolutionary Executive Committee, saying:

"If our comrades under arrest are not immediately released, you will be held personally responsible. You are warned, so beware. The hour for revenge has struck. From every quarter of Italy, the word 'revolution' echoes. We fear neither prison nor death. Our unshakable faith is our guide. Communism will gain its greatest victory."

CHIEF OAKS ON WAY TO CITY WITH MURDERER OF POLICE DETECTIVE

BY OTIS M. WILES
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HOUSTON, Feb. 9.—A reward of $5000, to be given the captor of "Little Phil" Alguin, now on a train en route to Los Angeles, brought additional trouble into the case of the notorious bad man who is charged with killing Detective Sergeant Fitzgerald of Los Angeles.

Demands for credit for the capture of "Little Phil" came in a deluge of telegrams from Mexico and the border country today, shortly after Chief of Police Oaks arrived here to take his prisoner back to the Pacific Coast.

DANCER CLAIMANT

Catherine Uribe is the leading contender. Mrs. Uribe, the former Follies dancing girl and leading lady for Al Jolson, is now in Mexico City. Since the last attempt to deport "Little Phil," which was made by Chief Oaks in El Paso several weeks ago, she has been traveling through the Mexican interior, meeting and pleading with high officials to deport Alguin.

"Through my efforts Phil Alguin was deported," said the telegram Mrs. Uribe sent from Mexico City yesterday.

But the young and pretty dancer does not want the $5000. As her reward, she asks for the release of her husband, Herbert Uribe, who is held in the Los Angeles City Jail on a charge of stealing an automobile. By a previous plan with Chief of Police Oaks, Mrs. Uribe was to obtain liberty for her husband if she, through his influential relatives in Mexico, could get "Little Phil" out of Mexico.

WOMAN PERSISTS

"I will never surrender hope of getting Alguin back to this country," she told The Times correspondent in El Paso when the last and fifth attempt failed several weeks ago. On the day following this statement she left for Mexico City, paying her own expenses to play a lone hand in the game of Alguin's deportation.

Until today it was understood here that Lee Manning, immigration officer of El Paso, was to receive the reward for the capture.

"Do not give Manning credit for Alguin's deportation. It was through efforts of myself and Judge Medina that Alguin is now your prisoner," stated a telegram from Dr. L. Uribe of Juarez, father of Herbert Uribe, who is held

INJUNCTION ON WALSKA TOUR LIFTS

Counsel for Rival Singers Agree to Concert Plan of of Polish Star

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Counsel for both sides signed an agreement invalidating certain parts of the injunction obtained by Mme. Luella Melius restraining Mme. Ganna Walska, Polish opera star and wife of Harold McCormick, from singing under the management of Jules Daiber, concert manager. This agreement leaves Mme. Walska free to embark on her proposed American concert tour. It is expected she will carry out her engagements as made by Mr. Daiber.

The Polish singer, who arrived from Paris with her husband Wednesday, ventured out yesterday afternoon to a matinee at the Metropolitan Operahouse. According to word from the office of Jules Daiber, she spent the morning closeted with her manager and accompanied him to hear a special performance of "The Barber of Seville" in the afternoon.

Superdreadnaughts Join Base Forces Off Coronado Islands; Seamen Happy

[BY NAVAL RADIO TO THE TIMES.]

AT SEA, ABOARD THE U.S.S. CALIFORNIA, Feb. 9.—The mastodons of warfare are beginning their preparations to engage in naval problems early next week, while en route to Panama.

This morning vessels of the San Diego base force joined superdreadnaughts off Coronado Islands. Tactical exercises ensued, and will continue until the fleet is joined by thirty-seven destroyers and eight submarines at Magdalena Bay on Sunday.

Immediately the combined fleet will proceed toward Panama, where it will unite with the Atlantic armada, becoming the greatest fighting machine the world has ever known.

There is not a manjack in the fleet but is pleased with being at sea again, although the weather is squally and cold. Admirals Eberle and Hutchinson and other high-ranking officers paced the deck with whole-hearted enthusiasm, regaining their sealegs and sniffing the air tinged with salt spray with unconcealed pleasure.

The California officers are enjoying the radio concerts from KHJ, The Times' radio broadcasting station.

Revolutionist Is Reported Jailed in Mexico City

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 9.—Several newspapers today report that Gen. Juan Merigo, an asserted revolutionist, who some time ago was under charges at El Paso, Tex., of having violated the American neutrality laws, was taken into custody here today together with three other military men.

Merigo when last heard of here was in El Paso.

A dispatch from El Paso the 5th inst., said that three out of seven asserted Mexican revolutionists had failed to appear in the Federal Court there that day and their bonds were ordered forfeited. Among them was Gen. Merigo, said to have been second in command of a military expedition into Mexico in February, a year ago.

He was under a bond of $1500. The dispatch added that Merigo was said to be in Mexico City.

POSTOFFICE RECOMMENDED

Secretary Mellon and Postmaster-General Ask $3,000,000 Appropriation for Los Angeles

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Recommendations that a new postoffice and Federal Building to cost $3,000,000 be erected in Los Angeles was contained today in a letter submitted to Speaker Gillette of the House of Representatives by Secretary Mellon of the Treasury and Postmaster-General Work.

The amount named includes the cost of a site and would provide for a building to house not only the postal department, but also other government departments.

Nineteen cities were included in the estimates submitted to Speaker Gillette, which total more than $50,000,000 for the housing of Federal offices whose business is now carried on in cramped and congested quarters. The government's annual rental bill in these cities amounts to $2,500,000.

FOUR WESTERN CITIES

Included in today's recommendations, which are in addition to a list of 140 cities submitted Dec. 20, 1922, where the total cost of additional Federal space was estimated at $45,004,000, are the following: Los Angeles, $3,000,000; San Francisco, $3,350,000 (including sale of Subtreasury; Seattle, $3,900,000, and Salt Lake City, $900,000.

In Los Angeles, the estimate provides for the site and construction; San Francisco's estimate calls for the sale of the Subtreasury acquisition of site and construction of Federal building, $2,000,000, and site and construction of postal station, $1,350,000; for Seattle, the estimate includes the site and construction of a postal station and office building, $2,350,000, extension and remodeling of Federal Courthouse, Customs house and Postoffice Building, $450,000.

INCREASE IN BUSINESS

The demand for more space for government activities in the cities named in the recommendations is the result of the increase in government business caused by the normal increase of population. Many government departments in large cities throughout the country are housed in rented quarters, bringing the government's total annual rent bill to more than $30,000,000.

In their letter to Speaker Gillette, Secretary Mellon and Postmaster-General Work declared:

"It would seem wise to map out a program covering a period of years whereby relief would be provided first in places where the congestion is greatest and where large sums are being paid for rented space in privately owned buildings. The requisition of sites where not already owned by the government making of surveys, preparation of plans, etc., will require considerable time; therefore it would not be necessary to appropriate a large initial amount to commence the work of relief if the authorizations should be made.

"Because of the failure of the government to keep pace with its cers of the United States Bureau of Mines from Tucson, Ariz., and Hanna, Wyo., is being anxiously awaited by local rescue crews.

Justice of Peace T. L. Kinney late this afternoon impanelled a coroner's jury which has begun the work of identifying the bodies of the dead; a temporary morgue has been established in the local opera-house building, the largest structure in the city; supplies are being rushed to mine No. 1 for use in rebuilding the interior of the gutted tunnel and preparations for the burial of Dawson's dead tomorrow are being made.

The cause of the explosion still remained unexplained. J. R. Morrow, outside superintendent of the mine, declared it would be impossible to fix the exact cause of the blast at this time, owing to the dismantled condition of the interior of the property.

COLUMN OF DUST THEORY

One theory is that a column of dust, raised by a passing motor in the main shaft of the mine, may have been ignited by a short circuit. Another is that a spark caused by a pick striking against a rock in the mine may have set fire to the accumulated dust.

Just prior to the explosion the fan system, which drives fresh air throughout the workings and prevents the accumulation of gases, was in operation. Officials are at a loss to account for the blast as a consequence.

From the condition of four bodies taken from a point near the center of the mine late this afternoon, indications are that the blast centered near the heart of the workings. The four bodies were terribly burned, every vestige of clothing having been burned away and the forms were seared almost beyond recognition. Other bodies taken out earlier today did not show such burns.

TUNNEL NO. 11 WRECKED

Tunnel No. 11 south has been almost completely wrecked by the blast. This cut is a considerable distance in the interior.

Two men who miraculously escaped the death-dealing concussion of the explosion were working in crosscut No. 4 north. This is believed by mine officials to indicate that section of the workings was not as badly damaged as other parts of the mine.

Rescue workers and repairing crews, penetrating slowly into the main entry, declare the openings into the crosscuts have been crumbled by the blast, making it necessary to rebuild such portions of the tunnels and crosscuts before proceeding further.

Only a handful of spectators remained about the mine tonight. Among them were wives, sisters and sweethearts of the toilers, whose fate still is unknown. Thus far only seven families have been left fatherless by the explosion. Three-fourths of the identified dead were unmarried. Eight of the identified were American citizens.

SUPERINTENDENT IN LEAD

Scott Dupont, general inside superintendent, led rescuers in their work today after suffering injuries in the explosion yesterday. He was about to enter the mouth of the mine when he saw the mine car coming out of the tunnel. As he stepped back, the tongue of flame and smoke burst from the opening with a roar. He was knocked down and burned by the flaming dust. Today, despite his crippled condition he entered the workings.

The explosion was of such force that it toppled cement walls which formed the exterior of the entrance and buried large timbers fifty to a hundred feet. The explosion was heard all over Dawson.

Officials of the Phelps-Dodge Corporation today announced that virtually every mining company in the West had offered to assist in the rescue work, but that at present the only rescuers other than the company's own employees were the members of the crew of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company's car.

Many of the rescuers have been struck by falling rock.

The walls and ceilings of the tunnels are shaky and the excavating parties frequently are obliged to retrace their steps to clear the tunnels of debris that has fallen behind them.

The advance guard of the rescue workers is equipped with oxygen helmets.

PHELPS-DODGE STATEMENT

The following statement was issued today by Manager W. B. Brennan:

"At 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, February 8, an explosion occurred in mine No. 1 of the Phelps-Dodge Corporation at Dawson, N. M.

"Operations in the mine were normal and no unusual conditions were noted. Normally there are about 140 men employed in this mine, but only 123 men were inside at the time of the explosion.

"Owing to the fact that the overcasts were blown out, the restoration of ventilation in the distant areas has been more or less slow.

"It is estimated that it will require at least two months to clear the debris so that operations may be resumed.

"The company is endeavoring to do all in its power to alleviate any suffering which may attend this unfortunate accident and greatly appreciates the splendid spirit of its employees, who are volunteering their services in connection with the rescue work."

Shopkeepers and hotels and restaurants closed their doors at 2 o'clock this afternoon and announced that they would not reopen until 6 o'clock Saturday evening as an additional protest against the action of the French.

The committee of defense in the Ruhr is distributing funds to idle workers. The money has been subscribed in various parts of Germany or advanced by the German government.

NEW BUILDING FEDERAL PLAN

building needs in the larger cities, the Postoffice Department has been forced in a number of instances to enter into agreements for leased quarters in buildings to be especially constructed for the purpose. The rent paid in such cases is frequently at a rate to absorb the original costs during the terms of the leases, leaving the government at the expiration of the leases with no equity in the buildings. Furthermore, the buildings so leased by the Postoffice Department naturally do not provide space for other activities, its appropriations not being available for providing such additional accommodations. Space for this purpose, however, could be provided at a comparatively small increase in cost in connection with buildings, or extensions to buildings constructed by the government. In some cities congestion in the Federal buildings is bad and is increasing at a rate which will result in a few years in the rental of space unless the government provides additional housing for these services."

The report from Washington, yesterday, that Los Angeles might get a new $3,000,000 postoffice building in the near future was greeted with an incredulous smile by the local postoffice officials.

Not that a new and commodious structure of the sort described could not be used in the transaction of the expanding postal business of the largest city on the Pacific Coast, but with the historic precedents surrounding such an enterprise, there was but a faint hope that the dream would be realized, inview of the economic program that has been outlined by Congress.

"Possibly my children will see it," said Assistant Postmaster Foster.

The government has just entered a twenty-year lease of the new terminal station at the intersection of Third street and Central avenue, agreeing to pay a rental of $126,000 a year during the life of the lease, or a total of $2,500,000. The rental price included the furnishing of the new quarters. This contract, it is believed, would have much to do with the erection of a proper postoffice building in this city in the near future.

"Do you want a Bible sent in to you?" asked Chief Oaks, "you may get repentant before you arrive in Los Angeles."

"Nix," Little Phil responded, "I never use 'em."

Alguin started on his way to Los Angeles late tonight.

Chief of Police Oaks, who has succeeded in dragging "Little Phil" out of Mexico after a man hunt extending over a year and a half and after five previous attempts to capture him had failed, arrived in Houston this morning to claim his prisoner.

OAKS GRATIFIED

"All I can say is that I am the happiest man in the world," said Chief Oaks as he was greeted at the railway station by Chief of Police Goodson of Houston.

While waiting to make the last lap of a trip of several thousand miles that will terminate in a Los Angeles courtroom where he will be tried for murder, "Little Phil" has been held in the Harris County Jail here.

The return trip will be no pleasant one for the prisoner. Every precaution was taken to prevent him from harming himself or the officers who have him in custody on the train. His wrists were handcuffed and a heavy "Oregon boot" was on one of his legs and will remain until he is safely placed in a Los Angeles cell.

CAPTORS ASSIST

Four guards will escort "Little Phil" as far as El Paso. Special Agent Lee Manning and Alfonso Frias, his captors, will assist in guarding him at El Paso. Chief of Police Oaks and Capt. Claude Smith, who accompanied the Los Angeles chief to Houston, will keep a day and night watch over him during the homeward journey.

Alguin has boasted that he will kill any police officer if he gets the chance and will attempt an escape from the train if given half an opportunity.

acceptable to the Allies, particularly to France and Great Britain. In some quarters it is said that ever, that such a course would be the French have more at stake in the financial agreements than any other power, due to French loans in the Near East.

AMERICAN INTEREST

Last moment efforts to patch up the disagreemnt at Lausanne added greatly to the hopes that the chief interest of the United States in the discussion, establishment of the personal rights of American nationals in Turkish territory on a basis which would satisfactorily replace the present ...ish capitulations, would ultimately be realized. Ismet is understood to have shown a willingness to reach an agreement approximating this.

The American attitude on the financial and economic agreements is summed up in the announced purpose of the administration to press only for an open door policy in the Near East.

As the general guarantees of the Lausanne Treaty are of utmost importance to one or all of the Allies in each case, however, it is regarded as impossible that the British and French would weaken their position by assenting to the signing of a treaty not including the financial and economic features, although these represent, it has been said, only about 20 per cent of the Lausanne pact. The Turks have been willing to accept the other 80 per cent.

"NATIONAL KLOKARD" MUST FACE "WIZARD"

DR. HAYWOOD ASSERTED TO HAVE INVENTED HIS OWN TITLE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Edward Young Clarke, Imperial Kliaff of the Ku Klux Klan, announced today that Dr. Oscar Haywood, self-styled national klokard, had been recalled from New York to the Imperial palace at Atlanta to explain to Dr. W. S. Evans, Imperial Wizard, asserted unauthorized assumption of authority.

According to Mr. Clarke, the principal charges against Dr. Haywood were that he challenged Dr. Thomas Dixon, author of "The Clansman," to a debate without sanction of the Klan; that he had assumed the fictitious title of "national klokard," and that he had taken upon himself to state the attitude of the Klan without authority.

Mr. Clarke, who said that Dr. Haywood already was on his way to Atlanta, also left for the South today to be present when the latter met the Imperial Wizard.

LONG LIFE CLOSED AT SAN MATEO POOR FARM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN MATEO, Feb. 9.—Jocinto Floria, who said he was 114 years old, died today at San Mateo county poor farm here of old age and pneumonia.

According to Floria's personal records, he was born in Mexico City late in 1809 and served in the Mexican Army as a bugler at the age of thirteen years. He was wounded during a civil war.

He had no secret of longevity, he told friends, other than that he did not touch liquor and took plenty of exercise. He smoked moderately.

arms. The issuance of this proclamation was simultaneous with the announcement that the sentence of death had been suspended so that he could undertake to appeal to his former associates to surrender.

Much good is bound to come from the government's action in meeting Deasy's overtures as well as those of 600 prisoners in Limerick jail with a generous gesture. A large defection from the irregular ranks is fully expected between now and the time the amnesty offer expires, February 28.

RETURN TO NORMAL

There have been signs lately of a return to normal partriotism on the part of the free State's opponents. The country has drifted into a seemingly hopeless deadlock, which, for the moment at least, has been broken by the government's offer of amnesty, offering an opportunity for every opponent of the Free State to withdraw from an impossible position without loss of dignity or self-respect. For the time being the government has suspended executions.

Attached to the amnesty offer is only one condition—that Ireland always must be under control of a government elected by the people No surrender of principle is demanded of those in arms. They may still hold their views on any form of government they desire.

Ireland awaits the outcome of the government's offer with anxiety, but full of hope.

COSGRAVE IN LONDON

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State government, accompanied by Patrick Hogan, Minister of Agriculture, and Hugh Kennedy, the government's legal adviser, came to London today to settle the British government detail connected with the transfer of powers to the Free State in accordance with Anglo-Irish treaty. Their visit, according to authoritative information, has no connection with the peace movement.

After making courtesy calls on Premier Bonar Law and the Duke of Devonshire, Cosgrave and his colleagues settled down to business at the Treasury Department, discussing with Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and department officials, the financial and other questions requiring settlement. This business may occupy several days.

SAN FRANCISCO PRISONER ACCUSES AGENT IN CHAUFFEURS' TAXICAB WAR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—A statement that he was hired by S. T. Dixon, business manager of the Chauffeurs' Union, to destroy nearly a score of taxicabs during a chauffeurs' strike here last May, was made today by Charles W. Dunn, a County Jail prisoner, and was denied by Dixon.

Dunn said he was paid $50 for every taxicab he destroyed, and he burned some and destroyed the motors of others.

The beating up of non-union drivers was also included in Dunn's contract, according to the confession, $25 being paid for every driver assaulted. Highway robbery and the intimidation of taxicab passengers by the breaking of cab windows and doors were also admitted by Dunn, according to Police Detective Kalmbach. Dunn said that a number of others were in the conspiracy. Dunn is awaiting trial on a charge of robbery in connection with the strike.

ART HORROR IN PARIS OPENS

Independent painting called "Nativity." This is the one picture that can easily be found in the immense salon, as it can be traced by the sound of laughter. The small room in which it is hung is filled with amused spectators, who comment variously on the picturization of a little child born with the assistance of two corpulent nudes.

Another salon hit it the true sense of the word is Skyptizine's painting of Lower New York from the East River. This looks like a bright piece of calico magnified many diameters. It is for sale for 3500 francs.

STRIKING FEATURE

One striking feature of the salon is the nude population which from the standpoint of obesity, makes the stout women of Rubens appear thin. Scores of bathing ladies line the walls, rolling in avoirdupois, clumsy, ungraceful and with perspective and anatomy indicated only as an afterthought of the artist. To sum up, the general impression of the independent salon's idea of the female form would seem to be that the Venus of the future will be a cross between the fat lady in the circus and an animated cluster of Virginia hams.

In the line of novelties the salon is not disappointing. The most diversified gallery is one in which Russian artists, or, rather, carpenters, from Odessa exhibits thing called "constructions," which consists of tinplates, cylinders, sheet metal and wood, pieced together and suspended from the wall in various shapes.

NAILED TO FLOOR

One has three harp strings nailed to the floor, which the spectators have to walk around to keep from stumbling over. Even the catalogue number is upside down on one of these. Opposite this display, which resembles the inside of a piano and which is offered for sale at 2000 francs, is a conservative landscape of Gallina. Farther is "Mother and Children," by the Russian artist Fargue, which does not look like either mother or child. Alongside this is "Danse Bleue," by a Polish painter, Federovitch, which is very independent and very blue.

A number of purely futurist or cubist canvases have kept up the tradition of the salon, but by far the tendency this year is ugly women and distorted landscapes, although, strangely enough, there have been a number of creditable works admitted.

HEADS EGG-SHAPED

The sculpture exhibited is small, exclusive and still shows the general movement to suppress the ankles and knees, having the leg start at the torso and descend, in a receding wedge, to the foot, which is represented by a formless lump. Heads are still egg-shaped and the stomach is worn large this year.

The most striking thing about the salon continues to be quantity, not quality.

PHOENIX, Feb. 9.—The Colorado River pact, with a rider, was accepted today when the Arizona legislature, in committee of the whole, ratified the agreement.

The rider demands for the State of Arizona $5 per annum for each horsepower developed on the river, and limits Mexico to 2,000,000 acre feet per annum. The Legislature also accepted an amendment that demands the exclusion of the Gila River from the pact. The acceptance, with reservations, came after two days of oratory. MARCHIONESS CAPPONI MAY ESTABLISH CLINIC AT SAN DIEGO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9. — Emile Coue gave his two farewell lectures at the Lexington Theatre here today. His voice, reported as weary from his continued speaking, was so fresh that he spent the morning making a phonograph record of his lecture.

"I had a beautiful trip and am very pleased and happy over it," said M. Coue. "My only unhappiness came when people refused to believe that I do not perform miracles. It distressed me. It happened that one cripple that I treated was almost instantly helped and the audience went wild. But if it had not so happened they would have gone away unbelieving. One must have trust."

The Marchioness Manucci Capponi, American wife of an Italian nobleman, who was a member of Coue's party on his lecture tour, announced today that she will not head the Coue institute to be established here. She will return to her home in San Diego, she said, and may establish a clinic there. The names of the committee of five which is to have direction of the New York clinic may be announced tomorrow. It is understood that they are to have the advice and co-operation of Capt. and Mrs. A. Rogerson, heads of the Coue institute in London. Coue will sail on the Olympic tomorrow at noon.

CALIFORNIA IN SECOND PLACE IN MOTOR LIST

PASSES OHIO WITH A TOTAL REGISTRATION OF $61,805; NEW YORK IS FIRST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 9. — California apparently has jumped into second place among the States in the number of motor vehicles owned and operated within the State, having passed Ohio during the past year, according to figures given out by Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the State Motor Vehicle Division, following a tabulation of final reports of the 1st inst. from all branch offices.

The department's license year, ended the 1st inst., and on that date of this year there were 822,894 automobiles in the State; 39,411 solid-tired trucks, 16,300 motorcycles and 4851 trailers. This makes a total of $61,805 automobiles and trucks.

The later published figures for Ohio are $61,000, which gives California a slight lead over the Buckeye State, which has been in second place. New York, with a registration of 4,000,732, is first.

In passenger motor vehicles, California already is in first place, but the large number of trucks operated in New York puts that State in the lead when automobiles and trucks are combined.

The number of chauffeurs' licenses in California is 84,402.

SUBSIDY RIDER EFFECT FEARED

Leaders Try to Keep Debt and Ship Bills Moving

Senator Jones Urges Marine Legislation at Once

Smoot Insists Upper House Take up War Obligation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Senate leaders today were engaged in the unwelcome task of attempting to grease the legislative ways to prevent what appeared to be an even chance that both the British debt settlement proposal and the ship subsidy bill would stick and fail of launching before the end of the session, March 4.

It was acknowledged by several members of the Senate majority that the President's subsidy rider to his message on the debt settlement has had a rather disastrous effect on Senate opinion, because the President's slap at the upper house had alienated the support of several Senators whose opposition to the proposal for the relief of the merchant marine had not been more than half formed.

PROPOSITION NOW UP

The immediate proposition to be settled today, however, was to determine the order in which the two measures should be considered. Senator Jones of Washington, who has kept the subsidy bill before the Senate as unfinished business since December spoke today in favor of the legislation and is inclined to oppose the previous program that it be laid aside again in favor of the debt settlement.

Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, is insistent that the Senate proceed immediately to the consideration of the amendment to the debt bill which passed the lower house today after being fervently supported by both Republicans and Democrats, 291 to 44.

The division of opinions between Senators Jones and Smoot and the lack of enthusiasm displayed by several Senators who before the President spoke would probably have voted for the ship subsidy has of course, strengthened the position and determination of members of the farm bloc and Democrats who have decided all along to conduct a filibuster against enactment of the shipping legislation.

With only sixteen more legislative days before the close of the session, the filibusters believe that with the natural opposition that the British debt settlement will meet from several quarters, there will be but little difficulty in extending the debate to the closing hour itself.

The counter-plan being considered by the Republican leaders is for a series of continuous night sessions to be called soon as the advocates of filibuster show that they do not intend to permit the reaching of a vote. They are confident that such a step will wear down the opposition in short order but do not like to adopt such a drastic course if an absolute tie-up of business can be avoided in other ways.

The hoped-for solution tonight was that previously discussed agreement could be reached to bring up and pass the debt settlement bill before the subsidy measure and that time enough would be left to force a vote on the latter by night sessions in case the necessity to whip the Senate into acting arose.

THEATER LABOR IN STRIKE MOOD

Technical Workers Seeking $9 Day Standard

Walkout Would Cripple Film Production

Producers Firm in Stand for Open Shop

A growing sense of dissatisfaction is being manifested among painters, carpenters and electricians employed in local motion-picture studios and rumors of a strike are being heard. Such a strike at this time, when there is a demand for workers, would seriously cripple, if not halt, the production of motion pictures here, producers admit.

The workers are reported to have demanded a $9-a-day scale in lieu of the $7 daily wage they are now receiving. Craftsmen employed by the building trades downtown are working for $8 a day. Lost time due to weather unfavorable for the filming of motion pictures and lack of continuity in the employment of studio carpenters, painters and electricians are other asserted grievances.

A meeting of a special committee appointed by the Motion Picture Producers' Association was conducted last night at a Hollywood cafe. J. W. Engel, chairman; Irving G. Thalberg and Abraham Lehr and other representatives of the Goldwyn, Mayer, Roach and Metro studios attended, apparently to discuss the local labor situation.

UNAWARE OF TROUBLE

Those attending expressed complete ignorance of any impending strike on the part of technical workers. It was stated that only the $9 a day wage question was discussed. An official announcement was made that no revival of strike conditions was expected until May 1, provided the $9 a day demand was not met by producers. The definite decision as to whether the award will be made can be expected to emanate, was stated, from the next meeting of the producers' association the first Wednesday in March.

Members attending last night's meeting reported workers at their respective studios seemed contented with conditions.

To offset the time loss of workers due to varying needs of studios for carpenters, painters and electricians an effort is being made to provide employment as continuous as possible, under conditions to which the motion-picture producers are subjected, by shunting all demands for technical labor through the technical placement bureau of the service bureau, at 1036 South Hill street, W. R. Reynolds, secretary of the producers' association, declared.

Denial was made that studio laborers had made any recent demand for continuous employment. In case of a strike the producers believe they can temporarily cope with any situation that may arise. Statistics were quoted to the effect that there are three jobs for every four craftsmen employed in the building trades. It was admitted, however, that the evident surplus of workers consisted chiefly of laborers not as highly skilled as men now being given employment and who are asserted to be talking strike.

LABOR HOLDS MEETING

While the producers' committee was meeting in Hollywood an attempt was made last night at the regular meeting of the Central Labor Council to revive strike conditions which for several months have admittedly grown "cold" against the Motion-Picture Producers' Association.

Anticiating some "red-hot stuff," the committee room in Union Labor Temple was fairly well filled with men and women union members.

The anticipated did not happen, however. A committee report from members of the inside electrical workers, who have attempted to keep all members of that craft away from Los Angeles, made another attempt to get the concerted action of all crafts affiliated with the building trades to stand with them in bringing about absolute closed-shop conditions in all motion-picture studios.

It was admitted that there was no dispute on wages and no attempt was made to force the motion-picture producers to pay for time when weather conditions prevented work.

The general consensus of opinion was that the long-ago called strike was a feature and apparent lack of enthusiasm indicated that no further action will be taken against the producers at this time.

Though the producers, through Secretary Reynolds, officially denied any knowledge of strike rumors, it was admitted that the labor situation was discussed from all angles and that workers at various studios had been sounded out in regard to a walk-out.

The policy of the motion-picture producers, Secretary Reynolds stated, will be for a continuance of the open-shop conditions prevailing at present at the studios without any discrimination against members of labor unions.

Four Asserted 'Wobblies' Held in Harbor Raid

The promise of the harbor police to keep Los Angeles Harbor free of radical disturbers was remembered last night when four asserted I.W.W., delegates and organizers were arrested and charged with suspicion of criminal syndicalism.

The four men are: John Olsen, alias Henry J. Miller, believed to be the port delegate of the Reds, Walter Parker, H. G. Bennett and J. Byers. They were arrested at the intersection of Fourth and Beacon streets by Officer Wykoff, who reported that each of them carried I.W.W. credentials.

This is the first arrest of radicals made since the wholesale raids of last month, when more than seventy-five were taken into custody. At that time, the police announced that the raids would continue until 'wobblies' and similar characters gave Los Angeles Harbor a wide berth.

PRISONERS RAZZ JAIL PREACHERS

A near-riot took place in the City Jail last night when an evangelist and a brother church member attempted to hold religious services for the benefit of 250 male prisoners.

Hisses, cat-calls, yells in chorus and uncomplimentary remarks drowned out Evangelist Frank Nixon and his aide, both said to be members of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church.

A row started when the churchmen entered the jail on their regular Friday night visit. When they mounted a stand, erected in a central location, two prisoners who had been selected by fellow-inmates to play and sing "jazz" songs at the piano, were forced to discontinue.

This evidently was displeasing to the inmates. A roar went up. As the evangelist attempted to deliver his sermon, 250 voices drowned his efforts.

"Where'd you come from?"

"This ain't Sunday."

"Throw 'em in the drunk tank."

These were a few of the remarks that greeted the evangelist. A number of I. W. W.'s in the upper tier of tanks were said to have been those most highly displeased at the thought of having their souls saved.

Finally the noise grew loud and was maintained so persistently that the jailors were forced to go among the prisoners fearing that a demonstration of force would be attempted. The churchmen finally desisted. The evangelist and his aide have been preaching and singing Friday nights for two months, according to jail attaches. Until last night, however, no such demonstration had greeted them. Officers about the jail expressed the opinion that a better arrangement would be to allow the evangelists a room separate from the jail where those prisoners who wished to attend service could be invited. It was suggested that one of the courtrooms upstairs could be utilized.

Music without a blur to mar its beauty

If you are accustomed to buying records of the selections you love and then, to enjoy them, shutting your ears, all you can, to the swish, swish of surface noise that blurs the music, you have a surprise waiting for you.

Go to any Columbia Dealer and ask him to play Columbia New Process Records for you. You will find yourself listening to greater musical beauty than you ever heard before from a phonograph. Voices of marvelous quality, instrumental masterpieces by great virtuosos, stunning orchestrations of the noblest creations—with all their original charm of delicate phrasing and magical color tones, clear as crystal, unmuddied, undimmed by the distracting sound of needle friction.

This is the wonder-result of the marvelous new surface on Columbia New Process Records—a surface so fine and smooth that the needle travels over it almost inaudibly.

Tear out this list of new Columbia Records and take it to a Columbia Dealer. All of them are made with this new and wonderfully quiet surface.

As an example, ask to hear "You Gave Me Your Heart," record A-3765. This is one of those fox-trots that happens only once in a while. Tune, tempo, syncopation, swing, instrumentalization—everything about it is simply gorgeous. It's the snake's hips. On the other side is its affinity, "Burning Sands."

Notice how clear and clean the recording is. Notice the absence of annoying surface sound.

The Profiteers

by E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

The inspector drew a little pamphlet from his pocket and passed it across. Wingate took it into his hands, opened it and stared at it in surprise.

"A list of Cunard sailings!" he exclaimed.

"One of the safest of lines," said Shields, with a nod. "The Agricola sails tomorrow morning. The boat train, I believe, leaves Euston at four."

Wingate glanced from the sailing list to his companion. The inspector was making movements as though about to depart. Wingate himself was speechless.

"The physician is able to certify," Shields went on, "that Lord Dredlinton's death is due to natural causes. There will therefore be no inquest. That being the case it is not my business to make inquiries—unless I choose."

A newsboy went shouting across the square. The two men heard distinctly his hoarse cry:

"Great fall of wheat in every market! Cheap bread next week!"

The eyes of the two men met. There was almost a smile upon Shields's thin lips as he turned toward the door.

"And I do not choose," he concluded.

Chapter XXIV

Peter Phipps and his nephew dined together on the last night of the year at a well-chosen table at Ciro's restaurant in Monte Carlo. There were long-necked and gold-foiled bottles upon the table and a menu which had commanded the respect of the maitre d'hotel whose province it was to supply their wants. Nevertheless, neither of the two men had the appearance of being entirely satisfied with life.

"Those figures from the Official Receiver," Phipps remarked, as he filled his glass with wine and passed the bottle across the table, "are scarcely what we had a right to expect, eh, Stanley?"

"They are simply scandalous," Rees declared gloomily. "One does not speculate with one's own money. I should have thought that anyone with the least knowledge of finance would understand that. This man seems to think he has a lien upon our private fortunes."

"Not only that," Peter Phipps groaned, "but he's attaching as much as he can get hold of. And to think of that old devil, Skinflint Martin, scenting the trouble and getting off to Buenos Aires! The best part of a half a million he got off with. Pig!—Stanley, this may be our last season at Monte Carlo. We shall have to draw in. Every year it gets more difficult to make money."

"One month more of the British and Imperial," Stanley Rees sighed, "and we should both have been millionaires."

"And as it is," his uncle groaned, "I am beginning to get a little nervous about our hotel bill."

With a benedictory wave of his hand, an all-welcoming smile, and a backward progress which suggested distinction bordering upon royalty, the chief maitre d'hotel ushered his distinguished patrons to the table which had been reserved for them. Josephine looked across the little sea of her favorite blue gentians and smiled at her husband.

"You remember always," she murmured.

Wingate, who was standing up until his guests were seated, flashed an answering smile. At his right hand was a French princess, who was Josephine's godmother; at his left Sarah, lately glorified to married estate, an English Cabinet Minister and an American diplomatist, with their wives, and Jimmy, completed the party. No one noticed the two men at the little table near the wall.

"You are a magician," the Princess whispered to Wingate. "Never could I have believed that my dear Josephine would become young again. They speak of her already as the most beautiful woman on the Riviera, and with reason. I am proud of my godchild. And they tell me that you," she went on, "have done great things in the world of finance, as well as in the underworld of politics. Those are worlds, alas!" she added, with a little sigh, "of which I know nothing."

"They are worlds," Wingate replied, "which exist more on paper than anywhere else."

"Is it true, Wingate," the Cabinet Minister asked him curiously, "that it was you who broke the British and Imperial Granaries?"

"If there is such a thing," Wingate answered with a smile, "as a world of underground politics—the princess herself coined the phrase—then I think I may claim that what passed between me and the directors of that company is secret history. As a matter of fact, though, I think I was to some extent responsible for smashing that horrible syndicate."

"It ought never to have been allowed to flourish," the Minister pronounced. "Its charter was cunningly devised to cheat our laws, and it succeeded. After all, though, it is good to think that the days when such an institution could live for a moment have passed. Labor and the reconstructionists have joined hands in sane legislation. It is my belief that for the next few decades, at any rate, the British Empire and America—for the two move now hand in hand—are entering upon a period of world supremacy."

The American diplomatist had something to say.

"For that," he declared, "we may be thankful to those responsible for the destruction of militarism. Industrial triumphs were never possible under its shadow. An era of prosperity will also be an era of peace."

"For how long, I wonder?" the Princess whispered. "Human nature has shown remarkably little change through all the ages. Don't you think that some day soon one person will have what another covets, and the world will rock again to the clash of arms?"

"We are all selfish," Josephine murmured. "Life closes in around us, and we are mostly concerned with what may happen in our own time. I think that for as long as we live, peace is assured."

"I am sure I hope so," Sarah declared. "I should hate Jimmy to have to go and fight again."

"What sort of a husband does he make?" Wingate inquired.

"Wonderful!" Sarah acknowledged. "He has developed gifts of which I had not the slightest apprehension. Of course, Josephine would scratch me if I ventured upon such a thing as comparison, so I'll be content with saying that I think we are both very happy women."

Josephine laughed gayly. The almost peachlike bloom of girlhood had come back to her cheeks. She wore a rope of pearls, her husband's wedding gift, which had belonged to an Empress, and her white gown was the chef d'oeuvre of a great French artiste's most wonderful season. She looked across the table. How was it, she wondered, with a little glad thrill, that the eyes for which she sought seemed always waiting for hers.

"We are very lucky women," she said simply.

Phipps bit the end off his cigar a little savagely. He had been casting longing glances toward the table in the center of the room, with its brilliant company.

"So that is the end of my duel with Wingate," he muttered. "I wonder whether it would be worth while."

"Whether what would be worth while?" his nephew asked.

Phipps made no direct reply. He rose instead to his feet.

"I am going back to my room at the hotel for a moment, Stanley, to fetch something," he confided. "Order some more of the Napoleon brandy. I shall perhaps need it when I come back."

The young man nodded, and Peter Phipps started on his way to the door. He had to pass the table at which Wingate was presiding, and it chanced that Josephine, looking up, met his eyes. There was a moment's hesitation in her mind. Women are always merciful when happy. Josephine was very happy, and Peter Phipps showed signs in his bearing and in the lines upon his face that he was not the man of six months ago. She smiled very slightly and bowed, a greeting which Phipps returned with a smile which was almost of gratitude. The Cabinet Minister, who had met Phipps and remembered little of his history, followed Josephine's lead; also the American, who had known him in New York. Phipps was holding his head a little higher as he went out.

In ten minutes he returned. He carried a small packet in his hand, which he laid down before his nephew.

"Try one," he invited.

Stanley Rees withdrew one of the long cigars from its paper covering.

"Did you go all the way back to the hotel to fetch these?" he asked incredulously.

Phipps shook his head.

"I went to fetch my revolver," he said. "I meant to shoot Wingate. But did you see her, Stanley? She nodded to me—actually smiled!"

"What of it?" the young man asked.

"You're a fool," his uncle replied. "Pass the brandy."

NOTAS LOCALES

Tal Vez se Repita el Escándalo en el Asunto Hargrave

Leonard Hargrave, agricultor de edad madura, del Valle de Pomona, el mismo que a principios de 1920 se armó de una filosa podadora y mutiló a su amigo, George M. Jewell, a quien acusaba de intimidades con la Sra. Hargrave, se ha casado de nuevo. Recabó su licencia y se casó con la Sra. Agnes Bergren en Las Vegas, Nevada, el 28 de enero próximo pasado, a los veintiséis días justos de que su primera esposa obtuvo un decreto preliminar de divorcio en los tribunales de aquí.

Hace más de un año, cuando el Valle de Pomona estaba todavía bajo la terrible impresión de la mutilación de Jewell por Hargrave, y del escándalo que le siguió, Hargrave tuvo una liquidación de bienes con su esposa, y se fué a Las Vegas. Más tarde se rumoró en el Valle que la Sra. Agnes Bergren, antigua patrona de las Viviendas de Palomares Calle Segunda, 508, Pomona, se había trasladado igualmente a Las Vegas.

Ayer se decía en la Fiscalía de ésta que, si Hargrave contrajo matrimonio antes de que él o su mujer hayan obtenido sentencia final de divorcio, será aprehendido por bigamia, en caso de entrar al Estado de California, y se abrirá un nuevo capítulo del viejo escándalo.

Los Farmacéuticos Amenazados con una Investigación

Ayer anunciaron los agentes de la Fiscalía que se iba a abrir una campaña contra las recetas ilegales y las droguerías que las surten. Esta actitud viene como resultado del citatorio expedido contra el Dr. George F. Colthard, a quien se acusa de haber dado ilegalmente una receta de licor intoxicante.

El Dr. Colthard arguye que no es culpable de violación de las leyes Volstead y Wright, y el Juez S. H. Underwood, de Long Beach, le ha fijado una fianza de $1000.

Dice el Teniente Fiscal Dennison que varios doctores de Long Beach y de otras partes del condado han estado dando recetas ilegales de licor. La ley dispone que ningún médico puede prescribir licores espirituosos como remedio, si no ha examinado antes personalmente al paciente y comprobado que realmente necesita el licor.

Se Divorcia una Pareja de la Buena Sociedad

También se dejó a la señora la custodia de sus dos hijos menores, habiendo recibido una gran porción de bienes, con aprobación del Juzgado.

Pugilato

Hay un gran programa para esta noche en el Lyceum Athletic. En el número principal, Young Datto, uno de los mejores combatientes del este, se las verá con Kid Layman, duro pégil de Los Angeles. Esta pelea será sensacional, pues los dos muchachos quieren llevarla a fondo, y ambos son resistentes para el castigo.

M. POINCARE DECIDES TO EXPLAIN POLICIES

FRENCH PREMIER TO APPEAR BEFORE COMMISSION OF DEPUTIES

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Premier Poincare has decided to comply with the request of the Foreign Relations Commission of the Chamber of Deputies to appear before it and explain the Near East and other situations. No date for the Premier's appearance has yet been fixed, but it probably will be after he receives a list of questions which the commission will draw up at a meeting Tuesday.

The Premier announces he will confine himself to setting forth the situation as it concerns the different points on which the commission asks information and will refuse any discussion. He reserves the right to refuse to answer questions if he judges them inopportune.

After M. Paincare leaves the commission his statements will be deliberated, but no doubt exists in the minds of parliamentarians that confidence in the government will be voted by an imposing majority.

The Premier suddenly changed his attitude toward the request of the commission, having all along flatly refused to appear before it. His contention was that as head of the government it was his privilege to select his own time for making explanations to Parliament.

VICTIMS TESTIFY IN HAYES LAND CASE

FRAUD IS ASSERTED IN LOT DEALS AT CITY OF CHOWCHILLA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Two witnesses testifying for the government against the twelve defendants in the Daniel Hayes land case on trial before Federal Judge Lindley declared today that they not only lost money, but that they also lost property which they had traded in for exchange for lots in Chowchilla.

Mary R. Lockhart, formerly of Fulton, Ill., and now of Rio Hondo, Tex., testified that she traded in 160 acres for $21,600, to invest in 150 acres in Chowchilla. She said she visited her holdings in May, 1919, and was told that the Daniel Hayes Company owned banks and hotels at Chowchilla. She said she was told there was no alkali on the land.

M. F. Houser, a brass worker of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, said that, in exchange for $1600 in Liberty Bonds and cash and a piece of property which he owned in Cedar Rapids, he received from the Daniel Hayes Company fifty-seven acres in Chowchilla, but never was given a deed for the land.

LEADER OF RESCUE PARTY DROPS DEAD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TONOPAH, Feb. 9.—W. R. Bozart, for sixteen years a master mechanic for the Tonopah Extension Mining Company, fell dead today while leading a party to a point between Tonopah and Millers, south of here, to rescue an automobile load of women and children who were marooned in a huge snowdrift. Bozart was working on a drift about four miles from here, when he fell into the snow. The marooned automobilists were rescued.

Bozart was prominent in lodge affairs here. He is survived by a widow.

The snowstorm was one of the most severe ever known in this section.

NO SUCCESSOR TO AMBASSADOR NAMED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Harding has not taken up in any way the question of selecting a successor to Ambassador Warren at Tokio, it was said officially today at the White House. The Ambassador is on his way here to tender his resignation. It was said that Mr. Harding did not expect to select a successor immediately and had given no consideration as yet to any name in that connection. Reports that Secretary Denby might possibly be tendered the post were said to be without foundation.

VOTERS FOR LINCOLN MEET IN NEW YORK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Ten men who cast their first votes for Abraham Lincoln for President met yesterday at a luncheon party in honor of Lincoln's memory. Six others who had planned to attend sent regrets.

Warren C. Crane, host at the unique gathering, said he traveled from Illinois to New York, at a cost of $100, to cast his ballot. Maj. George Haven Putnam, 79 years of age, said he was only 20 years old and a prisoner in Libby Prison, but that the officer in charge of the voting said that if he was old enough to be a prisoner of war he was old enough to vote.

Messages of congratulations were received from President Harding and Robert T. Lincoln, son of the former President.

Have you ever tasted "real" Spanish food? If not you will be not only pleasantly surprised but delighted to know that a remarkable course dinner consisting of true Mexican dishes is served in an environment unusually attractive at the Spanish Inn, 411 W. 4th, near Hill. Let me suggest that you go there soon.

Stuffed potatoes. Bake four potatoes. Cut in half lenghwise and, without breaking skins, scoop out insides and mash; add one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon chopped parsley, one tablespoon melted butter and mix with fork. Return to shells, put a few drops of milk on top; rough with fork; sprinkle with paprika. Place in oven until brown.

Even round steak can be tender, juicy and palatable if it comes from the right kind of beef, which as we all should know is steer beef, the only kind sold at Young's Markets. The flavor of steer beef is always detected; no one can fail to note the difference. Steers, you see, are raised just for food, the animals being fed from earliest days very carefully on the richest and best foods obtainable, and as Young's sell only steer beef you should buy your meats of them if desirous of procuring the very best.

Lobster Salad. Cut cold boiled lobster into small pieces. Marinate with French dressing; put on lettuce leaves; cover with mayonnaise and garnish with lobster claws, olive, hard-boiled eggs and capers.

Why not have the porch furniture white this coming summer. You can do it yourself at a great saving by using Frederick O'Brien "Wedgewood" White Enamel and Paints. They go on so easily and it's such fun making the transformation. Now any brand won't do, other kinds blister and peel off. Play safe by refusing to buy any brand but Frederick O'Brien's "Wedgewood."

Have you ever served French fried potatoes. Large Bermuda onions should be cut cross wise in quarter-inch thickness. Placed in ice water then fried in deep fat. You will find them most delicious.

Don't you think there is something about the very name "Dad's Favorite Cookies" which arouses your curiosity and compels you to try them? One taste makes you aware of their superior merit not only because they are crisp and taste so good but because a cookie made as Dad's are can't help being beneficial. Doesn't your grocer sell them? Tell him you want them but meantime phone West 4434 for the name of some one who does.

A pinch of salt put in the water in which fresh peas are being cooked helps retain the green color and makes them tender in much less time.

Winning friends by the thousands, that's what Glen Rosa Jams and Orange Marmalade is doing on its own merits. It's bound to be appreciated—especially in this day and age when women depend upon others for things of the sort. Glen Rosa is pure, contains real fruits and crystal sugar. Your family will adore it, that's certain. Buy it of any reliable grocer.

Before baking potatoes cut off a small portion of one end and then grease with lard. When cooked they will be soft and mealy.

Don't dread to do the dishes these cold mornings and evenings. Buy a quart bottle of Bobrick's Genuine Domestic CLOUDY Ammonia, use two or three tablespoonfuls in each panful of water, and see how much easier the dishes are washed clean. The trouble with many women is that they don't take advantage of labor-saving preparations made particularly for their benefit.

A ball of asbestos string for trussing fowls is desirable for it doesn't burn in the oven.

Have you ever tried a WHITE? Know how easily it runs and what a diversity of stitching can be done on one? They are the greatest little machine you have seen or used. Visit the White Sewing Machine show rooms, 917 South Broadway, and see the new style period cabinets in which your WHITE will be an addition to your home and ornamental as well.

Add a little lemon juice to the water you cook fowl in.

Your wish for a day-bed can be fulfilled at last — because W. S. Heaton, 1033 South Figueroa, has just received some beauties! They are upholstered in soft-toned tapestries and velours and only cost $45 and $54.

It is hard to change one's habits, don't you know, and yet when the change is going to be beneficial the effort should be less difficult.

For instance, just plain everyday ice has been used for years, "ice is ice," one woman told me a few weeks back but she doesn't think so today, for she uses "Frozen Steam"' in her refrigerator and goodness me, her enthusiasm would do anyone's heart good! You see, "Frozen Steam" is made exclusively by the Merchants' Ice and Cold Storage Company. The process has been a costly one but so gratifying have been the results to the homemakers that this company gladly shoulders the expense because they realize that they are doing their share to improve conditions in the houses of all Los Angeles women.

A club woman whose home is typical of the average American, shows her preference for White King Washing Machine Soap in granule form by conspicuously displaying the large size box in each bathroom's toilet cabinet, kitchen, butler's pantry and laundry. She says that in a family as large as hers, White King is constantly in demand for washing bits of fine lingerie which cannot be entrusted to other hands, for small woolen garments of the babies, in the laundry for the washing machine and last but far from least when washing dishes and woodwork. Your regard for White King Washing Machine Soap will increase with every box used when you realize its value for all cleaning purposes. Every dependabe grocer sells it.

Chicken steak: Round steak, salt, egg and cracker crumbs. Cut steak into pieces just large enough for individual servings. Salt them and dip each first into beaten egg and then into bread crumbs. Saute on both sides, then cover with water and simmer until tender, about three hours.

Just suppose you need a new coffee pot, or have grown dissatisfied with the coffee made in the pot you have been using. That being the case, what you need is a "Tricolator"; they are quite new, comparatively speaking, are made of china, strange to say, actually require half the coffee and make a beverage which is most delightful as long as it lasts, for in a "Tricolator" coffee does not become bitter. The Clee Kue Coffee Co., 316 West Fifth street, sell Tricolators complete for $3.50 which is much less than elsewhere. Why not get one right away?

When buying spinach, look for that with leaves fresh and dirty. If the leaves are clean the spinach has been wilted and soaked to revive them.

You cannot find anywhere in the city prices of fruit trees, plants or seeds, so low as those given at Winsel-Gibbs, 211 South Main street.

Vinegar is as satisfactory as lemon juice to rinse your hair in. Dilute it in the proportion of two tablespoonsful to a cup of water.

You show excellent taste in the choice of candy when you insist upon your "ownliest" husband bringing you home a box of Betty Bolton chocolates. Exceedingly delicious and individual"—is one expression which in part describes their appeal. Still the knowledge that pure cream, best butter and cane sugar are what they are made of, helps too.

Innumerable women have said they are overjoyed to know about Mr. L. N. Greenyard, 239½ So. Spring, (upstairs,) does replating and repairing of all kinds of silver, at such a small cost. You know so often your silverware grows frightfully dingy looking but associations dear to us make us loathe to part with it. Now you need have no fear of the sort for when returned by Mr. Greenyard it will look not only like new, but will actually be better because he replates them so heavily.

Use strong tea in polish instead of water.

Have you ever heard of Mora's Grill? Somewhat out of the beaten path, it is situated at 107 West Market St., only a half-block south of the postoffice. The food is perfectly wonderful—of a deliciousness which cannot be described, but to appreciate must be eaten! Personal attention given by Mr. Mora himself in the selection of the very best obtainable has given mora's Grill a reputation which is enviable.

Butter prevents a bruise from turning black—if applied as quickly as possible.

Butter plays a mighty important part in the "three-meals-a-day" most of us enjoy. Not only should we eat butter freely, but we should use it when cooking—though I think the majority of women do. Therefore don't you think it behooves all of us to use the best obtainable? Growing school children— as well as men and women—require the strengthening and nourishing elements only pure cow's butter contains. So that is why you are urged to become patrons of the "L. A." brand, so well known to old residents of the city. You will find it is well worked—churned from rich cream —and retains the same delicious taste the year around! Truly it deserving of highest praise.

BY CHEF A. L. WYMAN, M.C.A.

M. O., City, says that The Times is the best paper on the Coast, but wants to know why we do not tell how to eat avocados, loquats, persimmons, and pomegranates.

The notice published at the head of this column informs our readers that we will give, in this department, any information asked, for the preparation and serving of foods, and we very seldom give any recipes or instructions unless requested by our readers. The fruits mentioned grow to perfection in Southern California, but M. O. is the only one who has requested recipes for their serving since this department was started over two years ago.

THE AVOCADO

The avocado or, as it is commonly called, the alligator pear, is best used in the form of salad, although it is often used as sandwich paste or as a dessert.

For a salad select soft, but not mushy avocados and cut in half the long way, remove the stone, and prick the flesh with a fork until it is covered with little holes. Dust each half with a seasoning of salt and paprika and if liked add a little cinnamon. Now place each half on a lettuce leaf on a cold plate and place in each half half a teaspoon of French mustard, one tablespoon of lemon juice and two tablespoons of olive oil; mix the dressing well with a teaspoon and eat with a spoon as you would a melon.

Another way to serve the avocado is to serve the thoroughly chilled avocados whole, remove the stone at the table and scoop out the flesh into a saucer. To the flesh add one tablespoon of lemon juice, three tablespoons of olive oil, a seasoning of salt and paprika, and rub to a smooth paste. This paste is spread on thin slices of toasted bread and eaten as a green salad.

For a delicious salad cut the flesh of the avocado in even-sized cubes, mix with an equal amount of shredded lettuce, diced cucumbers, diced tender celery and a seasoning of garlic, salt, paprika and French dressing.

For a dessert prick the halves of thoroughly chilled, ripe avocados with a fork and place in each half two tablespoons of syrup from preserved kumquats, two tablespoons of orange juice, one teaspoon of lemon juice and two sliced preserved kumquats. Chill and serve garnished with chopped walnut meats.

THE LOQUAT

The loquat should not be served uncooked unless it has been well rubbed with a soft cloth to remove the fuzz. Loquats should be fully ripe to be served raw.

For punches or other cold drinks the loquat makes a delicious garnish and when used for this purpose they should be peeled, seeded and cut in quarters.

Stewed loquats are excellent with roast lamb, chicken or ham. To stew rub off the fuzz, remove stems and seeds, add a very little water to keep from burning and stew slowly until half done, then add sugar to taste and finish cooking.

A very tasty salad is made by washing, peeling and cutting in slices equal parts of ripe loquats, kumquats and cold boiled chestnuts and mixing with a lemon French dressing. This is served on nests of shredded lettuce and garnished with points of sliced orange.

For loquat jelly gather the fruit when full-sized, but still hard and only partly colored. Wash, remove blossom ends, place in preserving kettle, barely cover with cold water and cook slowly until the fruit is soft and the juice is free. Drain in a jelly bag, measure the juice, return the juice to the kettle, add slowly an equal amount of sugar and when the sugar is dissolved cook fifteen minutes or until a little will jell when dropped on a cold plate.

For loquat marmalade rub the pulp left from the jelly through a sieve, add an equal amount of sugar and cook slowly until thick.

THE PERSIMMON

The persimmon, when ripe, has the same food value as the ripe banana and the persimmon grown in Southern California, which is the Japanese variety, is one of the most delicious fruits grown.

Many of our eastern visitors are under the impression that the persimmon must be touched by frost to develop its sugar. This is wrong; pick the fruit when it is full colored, but firm, lay on clean, bright straw in a dry cool place until soft. To eat cut in half with a silver knife and scoop out the flesh with a silver spoon.

Use only the dark-meated varieties for cooking, as cooking will make the light varieties too bitter to eat.

THE POMEGRANATE

The pomegranate should have a wrinkled dry skin before eating. Roll on a table until thoroughly soft, make a small hole in the end and squeeze out the juice in a glass. Do not eat the seeds, as they will spoil the taste of the juice. For making water ices or syrups press the pulp through a sieve, being careful not to crush the seeds, and use as any other fruit juice.

SURPRISE PARTY BUFFET

Mrs. C., Glendale, asks that we furnish a menu for a buffet for a surprise party for young folks between 14 and 18, and recipes for fruit punch, a salad and a birthday cake. Young people have healthy appetites and we would suggest that she serve the following menu.

Chicken Salad
Whole-Wheat Bread Sandwiches
Pepper Sandwiches
Cottage Cheese Sandwiches
Brick Ice Cream
Birthday Cake Harved Punch

For the chicken salad for eighteen persons mix five cups of diced cold boiled chicken with five cups of diced peeled tender celery, the chopped whites of six hard-boiled eggs, one cup of chopped gherkins, three heads of lettuce shredded.

EAT LESS TO REMAIN YOUNG

Grandmother Fedwell Tells Friend How to Dine

Don't Sit So Much and Walk More, She Advises

Her Children Love Her for Spirit of Youth

BY WINIFRED STUART GIBBS,
Food Specialist

Grandmother Fedwell was beaming as she looked up from a letter.

"Whell,that is good news?" She remarked.

"Tell us, mother, and let us have some fun, too," father Fedwell's answering smile showed that he, at least, had not grown up too much to enjoy the society of his mother.

"Why, it's from Elaine Eatums, Tom's mother, you know, and she's coming to visit them and we can renew our college friendship. My goodness! Did we really graduate forty years ago? I know ours was one of the earliest classes, and I was only 17 when I left college. Girls did not take college as a matter of course in those days, and we were looked upon as 'highbrows.'"

"Fancy a grandmother named Elaine," said mother Fedwell. "No wonder she feels young."

"Oh, but she doesn't, that's just the point, mother," cut in young Tom. "Fatty Eatums says the kids have to pull a lot of soft-pedal stuff and act like sissies so's not to disturb her. You can just bet your sweet life she isn't like Granny."

"That will do, son, the fact that you appreciate your own granny is no reason for your discussing Fatty."

"Aw, shucks," muttered Tom under his breath, but he brightened as his grandmother made him a mock serious bow.

"Tom is right," she announced calmly. "I'm going to teach Elaine Eatums a lesson she won't forget in a hurry."

"Teach her to be as full of the spirit of youth as you are, mother," was father Fedwell's last word, as he ran for his train, "and the Eatums family will decorate you."

Now, Grandmother Fedwell knew whereof she spoke. Grandmother Eatums was aging before her time. At 60 years of age she was settling down to a life of coddling and scarcely ate a meal that was not the subject of much conference and wondering as to whether she would have "indigestion" as a result.

Grandmother Fedwell proposed to change all this and to show her friend that her food might help to keep her young. Instead of making her a bunch of negatives or "don'ts," she taught Grandmother Eatums that she was only changing from one set of food habits to another and that properly used her menus would present as stimulating and attractive a food program as any reasonable person could desire.

"You know, Elaine, you are not old; your chief reason for making any diet changes should be that you are not as active as you once were. In other words, you don't frisk up and down hill just for the fun of it, and you sit down when you can, instead of keeping long hours on your feet. Then you are very aut to drive instead of walk whenever it is practicable. Now this means simply that you do not need quite so much fuel as you used to and your muscles are not being exercised and sometimes strained, so as to require extra or even normal quantities of food. You are perfectly healthy and need not begin making real changes in your diet for some years to come.

"So, the first rule is, eat slightly smaller portions of food. Second, chew everything very thoroughly, so as to satisfy your appetite without eating too much. Third, drink water freely, but not at meal times. Fourth, forget all about your digestion.

"This may sound unsympathetic, Elaine, but I have worked it all out for myself, with the help of Miss Wellby, the dietitian, and I know that it is not only unnecessary but actually wrong to grow old before my time by letting myself get fussy about my digestion and my little aches and pains."

"Well, I'll try it," said Grandmother Eatums, resignedly. "I'd certainly like to have the children be as glad to see me as your children are to see you. Mine seldom say anything, but I can feel that they dread my coming."

"That's fine, Elaine, I know you won't be sorry and I'll ask Miss Wellby to talk with you and help you plan just how you could better make out your own dietary. Now, let's get ready for that bridge party."

Answers to readers' questions regarding diet will be given by Winifred Stuart Gibbs, food specialist, writer and lecturer on nutrition. Questions should be accompanied by a self-addressed envelope, as only those of general interest will be answered in this column; others will be answered through the mail.

"Will you tell me just what milk does for children?"—Mrs. A. D.

Here is what the United States Department of Agriculture says about it.

MILK GIVES US BODY FUEL

It supplies energy for the needs of the infant's body, and adds to the fuel food of the child and the adult. Milk fat and milk sugar (typical fuel foods) are both found in milk. A quart of whole milk contains about four and one-fourth ounces of fat. The milk sugar in a quart of either skim milk or whole milk would fill three tablespoons. Milk proteins also add to the fuel supply.

A dollar spent for different kinds of food does not yield a like quantity of fuel in all cases, any more than does a dollar spent for wood, coal, gas or electricity. Milk is a reasonably cheap body fuel.

Use clean milk. For health's sake it is important that milk should be fresh, clean and wholesome. If you produce your own milk, see that the cows are healthy and clean. Keep the milk clean, cold and covered.

If you buy milk, be sure that it is clean. Your board of health can help you in this. If you are uncertain of your milk supply, it is safest to use pasteurized milk.

Milk is a good food for all. A baby will double and often treble its weight in six months with no other food. Almost everyone likes to drink milk; but it is more than a beverage—it is an efficient food.

Use milk for building bones, teeth and muscles. Use milk to supply body and fuel and energy, to promote growth and to maintain health.

Every child should have at least a pint of milk a day.

There's a Difference in Bread

May be you have never thought of it before, but there is actually so much difference in bread that the extra food value in one loaf may make it a bargain, even though it costs a cent or two more than another.

Bread may be either a perfectly balanced food, containing all the elements of nutrition, or it may be mere chaff or filler.

To specify HOLSUM is to be sure that your bread is a perfectly balanced food. HOLSUM is wholesome, satisfying, and it's baked amid surroundings that are above reproach.

Tell your grocer that you want HOLSUM —and if he sends you any other bread, let him know you want HOLSUM always. Don't say bread—say HOLSUM.

SALADS FOR CHILD'S DIET

Green Leaf Vegetables Made Palatable in This Way And Are Beneficial to Growing Children

Simple salads may be introduced into the child's diet as he grows older. It is important that the child eat some green leaf vegetables and the salad makes a palatable way of serving lettuce.

Salads should not combine too many different fruits or vegetables. They should be served with a simple dressing, such as the French dressing given below:

ORANGE SALAD

Two oranges. French dressing. Lettuce or watercress.

Pare oranges, cut in very thin slices and slice in quarters. Marinate with French dressing and serve on a bed of watercress or lettuce.

ORANGE COMBINATION SALADS

Three oranges. Three bananas. French dressing.

Slice oranges and cut up. Slice bananas and mix with oranges. Cover with French dressing. Serve with or without lettuce.

To this recipe may be added one of the following:

Three apples pared and cubed.
Four pears halved or cubed.
Four slices of pineapple cut up.
Three-fourths cup shredded dates.
Three-fourths cup raisins.

FRENCH DRESSING

One-half teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon pepper.
Four tablespoons oil.
Two tablespoons lemon juice.

Mix ingredients in order given, and stir or shake thoroughly just before serving. A half-pint glass jar, with screw top, or a French dressing bottle, is best for mixing.

VEGETABLE SOUP

1 cup carrots. 1 cup turnips. Handful of spinach. (Other vegetables may be substituted.) One teaspoon salt. Water to cover. One soup bone (or one-half cup scraped beef if desired.)

Chop vegetables until fine or put through a meat grinder. Cover with water, using as little as possible, and boil slowly until very soft. For young infants, strain, pressing the vegetables with the back of a large spoon. The liquid will be cloudy. For older infants press the vegetables through a sieve, adding one or more teaspoons of pulp to small cup of liquid.

Water drained from rice makes a more nourishing soup than plain water.

The soup will keep from three to four days, except in hot weather, if the entire quantity is heated to the boiling point every day before using.

Let stand one hour then strain over a block of ice in a punch bowl. Add six cups of ice water and two quarts of ginger ale. Garnish with cubes of pineapple and slices of orange.

SPECIAL BAKED POTATO

C. N., Covina, requests that we tell how to prepare a special baked potato as served in a cafe in San Francisco. Select even-sized starchy potatoes, scrub clean, brush with olive oil and bake until soft in a medium hot oven. Cut a slice from the top lengthwise. Remove the inside and press through a potato ricer. Beat into the mashed potato a seasoning of salt, butter, sweet cream and paprika. Stuff the shells with the mashed potato, put on the slice removed from the top and bake in a slow oven ten minutes.

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI

M. E. C., City, asks if we will give the real recipe of chili con carne and Italian spaghetti. The recipe for chili con carne was published in this department three or four weeks ago.

For the spaghetti boil in salted water until tender half a pound of spaghetti, drain in a colander and then spread on a towel until wanted. Soak half a cup of dried mushrooms in two cups of hot water for forty-five minutes. Drain and keep the water. Chop fine the mushrooms. Place in a saute pan half a cup of olive oil, two finely chopped onions, one finely shopped clove of garlic, two sprigs of parsley, and cook until the onion is clear. Add four tablespoons of tomato conserve, the chopped mushrooms, the mushroom water, two cups of beef stock, and a seasoning of pepper, salt and finely chopped parsley. Let simmer for forty-five minutes. Add the cooked spaghetti and heat well. Place on a large platter and sprinkle over grated Parmesan cheese.

ROQUEFORT CHEESE DRESSING

T. K. L., Pasadena, asks that we give directions for making Roquefort dressing for hearts of lettuce. Mash fine two tablespoons of Roquefort cheese and work to a smooth paste with three tablespoons of olive oil and add slowly one tablespoon of tarragon vinegar. Season with salt and paprika.

SWISS MEAT PANCAKE

R. S. M., San Pedro, wants to know if we can supply a recipe for Swiss meat pancakes. We can. Put through the fine knife of a meat chopper one cup of cooked lamb, mutton or beef. Season with salt, paprika, a grating of nutmeg and half a teaspoon of grated lemon rind. Place in a saucepan and heat. Beat three eggs and beat into them two cups of milk and enough sifted flour to make a thin batter. Drop the batter in large mixing spoonfuls onto a well-greased hot saute pan, and when browned on one side drop on each pancake two tablespoons of the meat mixture. Fold over the pancake and remove to a hot platter.

TURKISH PILAF

D. L., city, would like to know how to make a mutton stew with rice, as served in the Turkish restaurants in New York.

Cut one pound of raw mutton into two-inch square pieces and saute it with four tablespoons of butter and one chopped onion until the meat is half cooked. Add one cup of washed rice and two and a half cups of hot stewed tomatoes. Season with salt, paprika or cayenne pepper, and one teaspoon of sugar. Cover closely and let simmer until the rice has absorbed all of the liquid. Uncover and set in the oven for a few minutes to dry. Place on a platter and serve with melted butter, seasoned with lemon juice and paprika.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

CHECK ARTIST SEARCH ENDED

Youth Arrested While He is Visiting Pretty Wife

Trail Through Los Angeles and Orange Counties

Charged With Victimizing Many Merchants

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Feb. 9.—A search of nearly two weeks, extending through various Los Angeles and Orange county cities, with officers just a step behind their prey at each turn, reached its climax here last night when Frank I. Dedic, asserted spurious check artist, was placed under arrest by Los Angeles authorities, virtually in the embrace of his youthful wife, whom he came to visit.

Starting at Los Angeles, where the youth is said to have victimized several merchants, the bad check trail led through Whittier, Fullerton, Anaheim and various intermediate points, ending, it seemed, in this city, where Dedic had rented an apartment in which he and his pretty wife lived.

He had been living here for nearly three months, making this city his rendezvous after asserted operations in various Southland cities, local police say. He had faced arrest once, but upon making good a bad check, the charge was dropped.

Los Angeles authorities, headed by Detective H. A. Hanfley, of the Los Angeles Police Department, had been trailing Dedic for more than a week.

Yesterday Hanfley and a fellow-officer trailed the suspect to Anaheim, where the scent was apparently lost. Intent on warning local officers to be on the alert for him, Hanfley casually sought out City Marshal M. E. Jemison, giving him a description and the name of the hunted man. Recognizing the name as the same which had appeared on a worthless check passed on the Mueller drug store, the local officer and Hanfley got in touch with the drug-store proprietor, learning Dedic's apartment address. When the officers appeared at the apartment Dedic's wife stated that her husband was in Los Angeles, but would return early in the afternoon.

Officers lay in wait nearly twelve hours before the youth put in his appearance. He was returned to Los Angeles last night, where he is wanted on a bad check warrant as well as on an embezzlement charge, growing out of the asserted disappearance of a rent car from a garage there about eight days ago.

PROVIDENCE CARING FOR OIL WORKER

Foot Crushed, He Falls From Derrick, Auto Turns Turtle, but He Lives

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Feb. 9.—Facing death twice within less than an hour, George Atwood, 28 years of age, an employee of the Amalgamated Oil Company at Huntington Beach, was at the Community Hospital in Santa Ana today where injuries sustained when two drilling blocks crushed his left foot, caused amputation of the member just below the instep.

Bleeding profusely, Atwood was rushed by automobile from the beach oil fields to the Santa Ana Hospital. The driver, whose name was unknown here, lost control of the car as it speeded over the rain-drenched highway, the auto overturning in a ditch near Santa Ana, hurling out its occupants. Luckily, Atwood escaped unscathed as did the other occupants, save for bruises and cuts. The mad dash to the hospital was continued in a roadster which was following the speeding car.

The first accident occurred at 3 a.m. today while Atwood was working atop a derrick. Stung with pain, the injured man fell from the derrick, but was saved from possible fatal injuries, it is said, when a fellow worker broke the fall.

"GHOST CITY" FAKER IS TAKEN TO PRISON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANAHEIM, Feb. 9.—J. K. Wood, convicted of fraud in connection with the selling of "Ghost City" property to several Anaheim women, was taken to San Quentin penitentiary today to serve an indeterminate sentence of from one to ten years following his capture in Los Angeles last Wednesday after he had jumped his bail of $1500. The salesman had appealed from the Appellate Court ruling in which the verdict of a jury in the local Superior Court had been sustained.

Several Anaheim women purchased land from Wood in a mythical "Aqueduct City" in the desert.

NOMINATION DELAYED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 9.—Citizens of Ward No. 2 who met last night at the Washington School Auditorium for the purpose of naming a candidate to run for council from that ward failed to agree upon anyone for the place and after a session marked by hot debates adjourned to meet again next Monday night.

THEFT REPORTED

VISALIA, Feb. 9.—Local officers have been advised by wire from Sacramento police headquarters that Walter Stanley, William Crowell and Frank Baker, three youths picked up in that city, had confessed the theft of 125 pounds of copper wire from Dinuba.

FLAMES SINGE SLEEPER'S HAIR

Family Driven from Blazing Home, Landmark of Porterville

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 9.—Fred Gessler of North Fourth street, roused by smoke and the sound of crackling timbers at 5 a.m., sprang out of bed with a blanket about him, his hair being singed as he barely escaped from his burning home. Other members of the family got out in their night clothes.

The house, known as the Mark Burgess place, is one of Porterville's landmarks and, with household belongings and personal property, was a total loss. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

NEW ANGLE IN ARREST OF DRIVERS

Redlands Truckmen Taken on City Charge, but Slips for Breaking State Law

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Feb. 9.—A new angle was projected in the arrest of drivers of trucks transporting Redlands oranges to the docks at Los Angeles Harbor today when a telegram was received from the State Railroad Commission denying responsibility. The commission telegram says that an investigation made by commission officials shows arrests were at the order of the Mayor of Los Angeles for violation of city ordinances. The slips given truck drivers say that they were arrested on a State charge.

Local fruit shippers now believe that private interests are at work to eliminate or embarrass local trucking concerns and A. E. Isham, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has gone to Los Angeles to investigate. The telegram also states truck men may obtain temporary permits to move perishable products by application at the Los Angeles office of the commission.

Phonographs to be Product of Santa Monica

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 9.—Announcement was made by Arne Norstog last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Retail Mercnants' Association in the Masonic Temple, that this city will soon have a phonograph factory covering 4000 feet of floor space. In addition a pressing factory is to be erected which will contain six hydraulic presses.

During the course of the meeting demonstrations were made by Mr. Norstog and members were entertained with records manufactured in Santa Monica. This will be the first factory of this kind on the Pacific Coast.

An interesting feature of the evening was an address by U. S. Dist.-Atty. Joseph Burke, in which he said the narcotic evil is one of the greatest menaces the nation has ever faced, and that 60 per cent of the time of two grand juries in this district is taken up with the investigation of narcotic cases. The Mexican border is a hotbed for this traffic, the speaker declared.

VICTIM MAY DIE

Long Beach Jeweler's Asserted Assailant Held

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Feb. 9. — The condition of H. C. Taylor, 62 years of age, who was brutally assaulted by a bandit in his jewelry store at 123 West First street January 30, last, took a turn for the worse today and his death is expected momentarily.

Jesse Taylor, who has been identified by the victim as his assailant and is being held under $10,000 bond on a charge of robbery, will be charged with murder also if the aged jeweler succumbs. The asserted bandit will have his preliminary hearing on the 28th inst.

Mr. Taylor was suffering from stomach trouble for some time before the assault. The savage beating he received has greatly aggravated his condition and attending physicians fear he will die.

OCEAN PARK PLANS STREET IMPROVEMENT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

OCEAN PARK, Feb. 9.—Pier avenue which is known as the gateway to the Ocean Park amusement center, is to be widened from Ocean Front promenade to Main street. Petitions nearly complete and ready for presentation to the Council will ask that three feet be cut from the sidewalks on either side of the street and added to the right-of-way for auto traffic.

Ornamental light posts are to be removed and the entire street to be lighted by overhead illumination. Signs from over the pavement will also be removed and both pedestrian and automobile traffic given the full benefit of all the room possible.

UNIVERSITY OF REDLANDS EXPANSION

City Itself Expects to Break Former Building Records

Upper, one of the new dormitories and, below, a new building of the Fine Arts Group

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Feb. 9.—Redlands started well on her way to breaking all building records in 1923 and an important expansion of the University of Redlands yesterday when ground was turned for two new buildings for the University of Redlands. These buildings, a boys' dormitory, which will cost in the neighborhood of $65,000, exclusive of the furnishings, and the second wing of the Fine Arts group, will be completed in plenty of time for the opening of school next year. The two building permits call for a total expenditure of $100,000.

A determined drive is being made for needed buildings at the university and with these two the school will have in buildings alone more than $750,000. Effort is to be made to get two other buildings started this year, one a much-needed library building and the other a girls' gymnasium.

Work on the final building of the Fine Arts group, the chapel and auditorium building, it is hoped will be started soon. This will almost complete the first row of buildings about the "quad." On the hill now are three buildings, the administration building, the science building and Knoll Hall, although this will probably some day be the president's home.

On the east and west side of the "quad" are dormitories, two on the west side for women, two on the east side for men and space for one more on each side. Facing the administration group, but at the other end of the "quad," will be the Fine Arts group. This consists of the two wings, one of which is now completed and another being built, for the music students. These will be connected by Spanish archways with the big auditorium, which will be furnished with a pipe organ and will have a seating capacity of 2000 or more and other attractive features.

It is likely that all records for Redlands building will be broken this year for elementary school buildings may be started as well as other public buildings.

MAN'S SOBS WIN CHILD PART TIME

Judge Awards Girl to Father for One Month Each Year

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Feb. 9.—Dry eyes began to disappear in Department One of the Superior Court here this morning as John Weidner broke down and sobbed out the story of the alienation of his little girl's affections, after his wife had been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce in November, 1922. The child is 8 years of age.

This week Bessie Weidner, the divorced wife, and William Kingsley, were married in El Centro after a previous marriage in Yuma. John Weidner learned of it and petitioned Judge M. W. Conkling to award him the custody of his daughter, who, he stated, ran from him now and did not recognize him as her father.

Moved by the man's sincerity and tears, Judge Conkling ruled that Weidner should have the sole custody of his daughter during the month of August of each year and also on the last Saturday of every month throughout the year.

Unable to marry in California, after the interlocutory decree of divorce before the lapse of a year and the securing of a final decree, Bessie Weidner had married William Kingsley in Yuma.

Commander Millington laid plans for an address to be delivered to Imperial Valley exservice men at a banquet to be tendered him at the Barbara Worth Hotel here this evening to be followed by a ball to which all ex-service men and their ladies are invited.

BUILDING PERMITS TO SHATTER ALL RECORDS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Feb. 9.—Building operations here are expected to shatter all previous records this month. Vern D. Hedden, City Building Inspector, predicts that the total for the month will reach in excess of $2,750,000.

The record month thus far was April, last, when building permits for structures valued at $2,400,000 were issued. The huge total this month is due in great part to the fact that permits are soon to be issued for the construction of the new Cooper Arms Apartments, which will be erected at a cost of approximately $1,130,000, and the addition to the Buffum Department Store, which will cost about $567,000.

TEACHERS OF IMPERIAL ON EDUCATION TOUR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BRAWLEY, Feb. 9.—Nearly 200 schoolteachers and visitors will leave Imperial Valley tomorrow for an educational tour of inspection of the Imperial Irrigation District headquarters at Cantu, Mex. The how and why of bringing water from the Colorado River into Imperial Valley will be explained and investigated.

One Man Killed, One Hurt, When Car Overturns

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 9.—V. Vincent, 40 years of age, of Huntington Park, is at the Riverside Community Hospital today with serious injuries suffered in an automobile accident on Box Springs grade, four miles east of this city last night in which N. C. Mundy, 54, also of Huntington Park, was instantly killed.

The two men, who formerly worked in the oil field at Santa Fe Springs had gone to Elsinore on an oil prospecting trip and were en route to Los Angeles. Mundy was piloting the automobile, and as they approached the railroad track a short distance beyond the crest of the grade, the automobile skidded and went into the ditch. Although it was traveling not more than twenty-five miles an hour, it overturned twice, according to officers. Mundy was pinned underneath and Vincent was cut by glass from the windshield.

Mundy was conscious and was able to give his name and address but died soon after he was taken to the hospital. Vincent will recover.

Mundy has no relatives, as far as could be learned by the officers last evening. The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of Stutz, Glenn and Preston. Coroner C. S. Dickson will hold an inquest today, it was announced.

Traffic Officer Lyle Sanard and Wesley Walrath investigated the accident.

MR. SKUNK PRE-EMPTS AUTO COMPARTMENT

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 9.—A new roadster from the country district pulled up at a local filling station for gas. An employee opened the compartment to get at the tank and was confronted with two fiery eyes. He thought it to be a squirrel but on closer examination it was found to be a skunk. After much discussion as to "ways and means" the skunk was lassoed and imprisoned in a wire basket where he went into action.

Neighbors sent in complaints and Mr. Skunk was soon released. As twilight fell the little skunk slunk off down an alley, probably returning to his native haunts under cover of darkness.

Child Badly Hurt by Fall Into Manhole

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Feb. 9.—Clarence Borchard, 4 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Borchard of this city, fell eight feet down an open manhole and lay unconscious at the bottom for many minutes before he could revive sufficiently to scream for assistance.

The lad was crossing the street to a neighbor's home when he was attracted to an open manhole. Pausing, it is presumed, to peer, he lost his balance, toppled in and was rendered senseless by the fall. When he revived, his muffled cries went unanswered.

Pluckily the little lad sought to gain the top, climbing to within two feet of the street by means of iron rungs stuck into the cement. Unable to proceed further, his strength waning, the lad screamed then toppled back into the hole.

Walter Duker, a neighbor, was attracted to the scene and rescued the youngster. The lad is being treated for a fractured skull and numerous cuts about the head and face. He will recover.

PLAN MOOSE FROLIC

One of Order Chiefs Now at Venice Making Arrangements

BUDGET PRAISED BY MRS. PIERCE

Control Board Member Says Figures Are "Net"

Richardson's Plan to Save More Than Represented

Governor Lauded for Foresight in Fixing Estimate

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Feb. 9.—"The State budget submitted to the Legislature by Gov. Richardson is the most comprehensive document of its kind ever given to the Legislature." This was the statement here today by Mrs. Nellie Brewer Pierce, holding the most important administrative office ever offered a woman in California, on the eve of her departure after visiting the home of Miss Margaret Gardner, a friend.

"The budget, itemized in accordance with terms of the new budget law, is something that no previous budget has ever been. It accounts for every dollar the State proposes to spend in its activities.

"Previous budgets have made appropriations for institutions without showing what the entire cost of the institution would be. A hospital carrying pay patients produced a revenue which was spent in support of the institution in addition to the budget appropriation. The budget appropriation, therefore, did not represent the entire cost of the institution.

"Under the Richardson budget, any revenue produced by an institution is turned into the general fund of the State. The budget appropriation, therefore, represents the net cost of running the institution. In simple words, all cards are on the table.

"Because the present one is a net budget, the saving the State is making is greater than appears by comparison with former budgets, which do not show the entire cost of operation. Instead, therefore, of the Richardson budget being $12,000,000 less than the preceding budget, as is popularly believed, it represents a saving greatly in excess of that figure, because the 1921 budget did not represent the entire cost of running the State. It was not a net budget."

Mrs. Pierce is an attorney as well as a financial expert. She was appointed to the State Board of Control by Gov. Richardson, being the first woman to hold such a position.

ORANGE COUNTY PIONEER DIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Feb. 7.—Judge Richard Egan, 81 years of age, prominent resident of San Juan Capistrano and for more than half a century the outstanding personality of the quaint mission town twenty miles south of Santa Ana, died this afternoon. The aged man failed to appear for the noon meal yesterday at the home of Henry Vanderleck of Capistrano, where he had been boarding in recent years, and was found lying unconscious on the floor of his own home across the road.

Mr. Egan was taken to the County Hospital, where death came. The body will be taken to Los Angeles. Judge Egan had long been a picturesque figure in Southern California and his genial hospitality and his activity in public affairs gave him a wide acquaintanceship. He was for years, by common consent, the village alcalde and became justice of the peace when he settled disputes of all kinds among the natives, who had implicit confidence in him.

Deceased organized the Capistrano school and was for forty years clerk of the board, and he was a Supervisor of Los Angeles county in 1880, before Orange county was formed.

Later he served on the board to settle disputes following the withdrawal of the Orange county district from Los Angeles county.

He obtained most of the right of way for the Santa Fe line between San Diego and Los Angeles and for years was a director for the company operating that section of railroad.

Tradition says Mr. Egan took part in the famous battle between the Monitor and Merrimac. It was shortly after the close of the Civil War when Mr. Egan and his companion, Maj. McCowen, came to Capistrano. Later, McCowen tired of pioneering and departed, but Mr. Egan stayed, buying McCowen's interests. He still retained 500 acres of walnut groves about the mission town and had accumulated other interests which made him a wealthy man.

PROTEST BY WOMEN ON BEACH PARADES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 9.—Much to the surprise of members of the City Council, resolutions have been presented by the Santa Monica Bay Woman's Club, protesting against bathing beauties' parades, hosiery parade and Easter Sunday children's parades.

Inasmuch as commissioners have steadfastly refused to grant permission for bathing-suit or hosiery parades in Santa Monica, they were at a loss to understand the resolution. All commissioners declared themselves against parades of that kind, but declared they could see nothing objectionable in the children's May Day parade, which comes on the Sunday nearest the first of May instead of Easter Sunday.

BANDITS ESCAPE BY LEAVING CAR

Board Freight Train After Running Fight with Town Constable

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 9.—Two unidentified bandits surprised as they attempted to rob the postoffice at East Highlands shortly before dawn this morning, escaped arrest by abandoning their car and boarding a freight train, after fighting a running gun battle with Constable A. J. Garner.

The bandits boarded the train and jumped off on the opposite side, eluding the officer and fleeing through an orange grove. For nearly a mile the bandits returned the fire of the officer as they raced along the highway to the railway to catch the freight train. One of the bullets fired by the bandits as they leaped on the freight train kicked up the dust around the officer's feet.

Rialto Man Has Too Many Wives, First Charges

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 9.—The courts were asked today to straighten a queer tangle of the marriage vows which late last night led to the arrest of Frank C. Davis, prominent young man of Rialto, on a charge of bigamy preferred by Iva Anna Davis of Riverside, his first wife.

Mrs. Davis No. 1, today filed suit for divorce in Riverside, accusing her husband of marrying Priscilla McManis at Rialto two years ago. Mrs. Davis said she discovered her husband's asserted bigamous marriage yesterday when she recognized his handwriting on a marriage license record, ending a year's search for her missing mate.

Mrs. Davis No. 2, in tears today, was contemplating a suit for annulment of her marriage, while Davis was released from jail on $1000 bail.

Davis explained that he believed wife No. 1 had been granted a divorce in Riverside two years ago and that he believed himself free from marital tangles when he led Miss McManis to the altar. Davis is a World War veteran.

MIDWICK QUINTET FOUR WINS BY RALLY

Cardinals Team Breaks Tie in Seventh Chucker

Midwick Corners Drop Contest by 8 to 5 Score

Game Make Best Exhibition of Polo Season

Saturday afternoon saw the fastest and fastest polo game of the season played out at Midwick between the Cardinals and the local team. Up to the sixth inning the scoring kept very close and the game was a tie with two runs each, but in the last couple of innings the Midwick four proved to be too strong for the visitors and scored an extra three tallies, bringing their final score up to five, the Cardinals' 5.

The Cardinals were the only team that ever defeated Midwick on the latter was going strong and was regarded as invincible. It is the first time that they have ever been beaten here.

Midwick four played their game so far this season, both as a team-work and as individual. Perkins's back-handers, the level-headed leadership and the combination dashes of Fred Wigmore all going to make a mighty difficult team to beat. It was a sharp, close game, at times, then very gradually the longer team creeping up and finally outplaying the other.

California Factory Costs Compete in East

Best Prices of Chicago and Atlantic Seaboard

Made Possible by Water Route Shipping

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Feb. 9.—That the establishment of the fact that articles manufactured by the Ontario Point division plant of the Electric Appliance Company in this district can be laid down on the Atlantic seaboard at less cost than the identical articles can be manufactured and shipped to the eastern coast from Chicago, means unlimited possibilities for the extension of Southern California manufacturing concerns, was the declaration today of E. H. Richardson, head of the big Ontario plant, in an address before the members of the Ontario Business Men's association at Oma Tea Garden.

The delivery in New York and other ports on the Atlantic at the lowest cost is made possible by water shipment from Los Angeles Harbor and through the Panama Canal, and through better labor conditions here, according to Mr. Richardson.

The head of the Ontario factory declared that the business of any concern could well be taken as a barometer of business conditions throughout the country, since the articles produced by the Ontario concern are in the semi-luxurious class and that when money was tight they were not purchased.

The local plant now is providing employment to 407 men and women, which is more than double the number employed a year ago. The output of the company is at present limited to lamp-socket appliances, the manufacture of electric ranges being one of the important recent branches of the business. More than $500,000 has already been spent in development work and special tools and equipment for the manufacture of electric ranges, according to Mr. Richardson.

BUILDING AT SAN DIEGO AUTHORIZED

Naval Training Station to be Enlarged to Double Present Capacity

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 9.—The Navy Department has authorized the construction of additional buildings at the San Diego Naval Training Station that will double the capacity of the institution, according to Commander Edwin R. Swinnerth, executive officer of the station, today.

Instead of the original complement of 1650 officers and men the station will be enlarged to accommodate 3300 recruits, 600 officers attached to the various training schools and 225 men on duty as instructors in addition to the present six commissioned officers, officials of the Eleventh Naval District believe that within a year or half the personnel of the station will be increased to 3000.

Plans and specifications for several new buildings at the station have been forwarded to the Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, by Commander Chapman Smith, public works officer.

The sum of $350,000 was appropriated under the 1921-22 budget to cover the cost of two new tracks and a mess hall estimated at $150,000. Funds for a seawall several hundred feet long and a boat landing also are available, it was announced.

Permanent construction work involving the expenditure of more than $1,000,000 is expected to get under way here for several establishments within the next three months. This work includes the additions to the training station, two barracks at the marine brigade post and sewer, water and gas systems.

Rocky Kansas Hands White Stiff Lacing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Charley White's lightweight championship aspirations suffered a severe setback tonight before a crowd of 13,000 people when the Chicago lightweight went down in defeat before Rocky Kansas, sturdy little Buffalo Italian, in a spectacular fifteen-round battle. Kansas won the decision of the judges and Referee Patsy Haley by a margin so wide that not a dissenting voice was heard in the huge crowd which jammed the arena when the verdict was announced.

The result furnished a startling upset for the followers of pugilistic form. White entered the ring a 3-to-2½ favorite over his Italian rival and the money in support of the Chicagoan went begging before the battle.

Through the fifteen rounds, however, Kansas handled his rival like a toy. The Italian administered one of the most severe beatings it has ever been the misfortune of White to experience in his seventeen years of ring service. Forcing the action from start to finish, Kansas carried off eleven of the fifteen rounds. White earned the second, twelfth and thirteenth. The other session, the ninth, was even.

The unrelenting offensive of Kansas and White's lack of initiative, produced a result surprising to the major part of the crowd. Kansas swarmed all over the Chicago boy from the time when the opening gong sent the men on their way.

Never, save for the infrequent occasions when a sporadic left hook or right cross from White brought him up short, did Kansas cease in his aggressiveness. The Italian showered White with a volley, battering rights and lefts to the face and jaw at long range, and at close quarters the Italian subjected White to a severe body battering.

It was not until the thirteenth round that White showed any signs of life. In that round he sent Kansas reeling with a series of left-hand smashes to the chin. He also cut Rocky's left eye with a sweeping right-hand swing. But meantime Rocky had opened a cut over White's right eye and before the end of the round, was holding his own with the fast-tiring Chicago boxer.

MISS HOLLINS MEDALIST

Doreen Kavanagh Finishes Fourth Among Fair Golfers in Del Monte Tourney

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DEL MONTE, Feb. 9.—Miss Marion Hollins and Mrs. Fred C. Letts, Jr., eastern golfing queens, made auspicious bows to California competitive golf today in the qualifying round of the first annual Pebble Beach women's championship. Miss Hollins carried off the medal honors from a small but most select field with the creditable score of 88 over the difficult seaside course and Mrs. Letts landed in third place with 91. The day was ideal with warm sunshine and no wind.

Mrs. William C. Van Antwerp, who was many times California champion when she was Miss Edith Chesebrough, furnished keen competition to the eastern visitors, landing second with 90. Miss Doreen Kavanagh, present State title holder, played brilliantly at times, but on other occasions she was severely penalized and had to be content with 95.

FANS GASP

Miss Margaret Cameron, another of the southern deelgation, who holds the northern championship, suffered more and she finished with 109.

The gallery showed greatest interest in the appearance of Miss Hollins who won great fame in 1921 by winning the national title and who is figuring on making her home at Pebble Beach. Miss Hollins was paired with Miss Kavanagh and the spectators were not disappointed. The powerful driving of Miss Hollins made the fair fans gasp with awe and admiration. Perhaps the feature was her second shot across the chasm, the green on the famous eighth. Miss Hollins almost reached the dog-legged fourteenth with her second and Miss Kavanagh was not far behind. The played from the long tee and the best of the man stars are satisfied to get home on this exacting hole. Both got fours on the fifteenth, too.

Save for a couple of bad "breaks" and a lapse or two, Miss Hollins might have cut off five or six strokes. On the fourth, for instance, the former champion had the misfortune to have her drive roll just over the bank. It could have been judged an unplayable lie, but Miss Hollins elected to play.

She drove into another bad spot and then had to lift with the penalty of stroke and distance, the hole costing an eventual seven.

FINALS TOMORROW

There are two flights of the ladies for two rounds of match play tomorrow, with the finals on Sunday morning. Mrs. Charles W. Clark has set up some trophies for a mixed doubles on Sunday afternoon and the ladies are now selecting their men partners. On Monday Miss Hollins and Mrs. Letts will team up against the best two-some California an produce in a best-ball medal competition of 18 holes over the Pebble Beach course.

ASHMORE IS WINNER

Sailor Ashmore proved conclusively to the wide, wide world that he is a better man than Phil Salvadore by trimming the latter in one of the most gripping bouts ever staged at the Hollywood American Legion stadium. The largest crowd ever in the stadium witnessed the bout.

Salvadore started out nicely in the opening round and took the edge. A left to the chin staggered Ashmore just before the opening stanza ended. The second round was fiercely fought. Ashmore staggered Salvadore with a terrific right to the jaw, but Phil came right back and landed a hard right on the Sailor's chin that wobbled Ashmore. Salvadore drew blood with a right to Ashmore's mouth in the third, but Ashmore evened the round by chasing Salvadore all around the ring during the final part of the round.

The fourth found Ashmore going his best and Salvadore was forced to cover up to escape the fury of Sailor's charges. Ashmore landed with rights and lefts and easily cinched the verdict.

Willie O'Brien knocked out Kid Mende in the third round of the semi-wind-up. A terrific right to the stomach, followed by a left to the chin dropped Mende. Blake stopped the bout as Mende was badly hurt. Pickles Martin easily defeated Kid Moha. Martin was too clever for Moha. Tim Kelly, middleweight champ of the Irish Free State, stopped Jack Inman in the third. Red Hulan gave Sailor Willie Williams a terrific beating. Young Herrera beat Sailor Stiers and Soldier Gardner defeated Bud Omar.

CARDS NOSE OUT TROJAN BASKETEERS

Stanford Five Makes It Three Straight From the Southern Team

Stanford's speedy basketball quintet made it three straight wins for the season over the University of Southern California casaba crew by defeating the Trojans, 17 to 12, after a hard-fought battle last night in the U.S.C. pavilion.

The ability of "Nip" McHose, midget Cardinal forward, to toss in free throws, along with the splendid team work of the visitors, was responsible for Coach Turner's squad's fifth conference defeat of the season. McHose rang up seven free throws and hooped in a field goal for good measure, making a total of nine points to his credit.

U.S.C. was leading, 8 to 7, at the termination of the initial half. The Trojans' defense in the first canto halted the Cards in their rush down the court for points, while Capt. Gordon White was in fine form at collecting points for the locals. In the final period, however, Stanford started in to use steam-roller tactics and shoved into the lead after several near-fights. The same teams will meet in the final game of their series tonight at the U.S.C. pavilion. The line-ups.

Oxy Freshmen Defeated by Fresno State

The Occidental College Freshman basketball five suffered its first defeat of the season last night in the Franklin High gym when it lost a fast game to the speedy Fresno State College quintet, 33 to 25. The contest was exciting and well-played all the way, neither side being guilty of many fouls.

Baxter and Emerzian, the former a forward and the latter a guard, featured for the visitors at point making, each hooping the casaba for an even ten digits. Parks, the sensational Oxy forward, accounted for five field goals, all from different angles. The score at half-time was 14 to 11, with the Fresno squad on top. In the second half the visitors put on a little more steam and cruised through to an eight-point victory. The line-ups:

JEWTRAW SMASHES COUPLE OF RECORDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LAKE PLACID (N. Y.) Feb. 9. Two world records fell in the Adirondack gold cup ice skating championship races here today when Charles Jewtraw, Lake Placid, clipped one and two-fifths seconds from the half-mile record set by Joe Moore, New York, and Moore, in turn lowered by three-fifths second the record for the three-quarter-mile race established by Jewtraw. Jewtraw skated the half-mile in 1m. 16 1-5s.; while Moore's record in the three-quarters is 2m. 2 1-5s.

Jewtraw's victory today gains for him a 200-point total in the quest for the Adirondack gold cup and a score of 250 for the Maxwell 300-point trophy.

ROD MURPHY TO SHOW

Rod Murphy, Vernon's new firstsacker and Bob McGraw, Minneapolis pitcher, will make their first appearance on the major and Coast League All-Stars line-up against the Colored White Sox nine today and tomorrow at the White Sox Park.

Both games start at 2:30 o'clock.

Poly Midgets Annex Fifth Straight Contest

The fifth round of City League basketball brought out some of the best games, along with an unusual number of upsets, since the start of the season. Polytechnic and Pasadena, two squads way down the list, upset the two leaders, Manual and Hollywood, after close battles. Jeff also pulled a surprise by trimming Lincoln by a one-point margin. L. A. High defeated Long Beach in the only game, according to the dope and moved up into second place.

MECHANICS SURPRISE

Upsetting all the dope, Coach Voyle Brennen's Poly quintet defeated Hollywood, 23 to 22, after a snappy basketball tilt played yesterday afternoon in the Foothill gym. The addition of Running Guard Maury Parker to the Mechanics' squad was the principal reason for the Poly squad's victory. Parker's passing and shooting made a new team of the Mechanics.

Yesterday's defeat practically put the Hollywood five out of the running for the championship. Sollie Miahkin starred for the losers in the first half, but in the second period the Hollywood forward did not look so good as Ray McMahon was on his trail all the way. Poly led at half-time, 13 to 7.

In the preliminary struggle, Coach Mahoney's Poly midgets handed the Hollywood whispers a 11-to-4 licking. Claude Simpson, lanky Poly center, scored all eleven points for the league-leading Mechanic bantams. The line-ups:

Pasadena High's basketball crew surprised the world yesterday afternoon in the Manual Arts gymnasium by trimming the Toilers, 27 to 25, after a game checkfull of excitement. Redfern and Riley starred for the losers and Collins and Birlenlach featured for the winners.

As an eye-opener to the big affair, the Bulldog lightweights slipped a 25 to 19 defeat to the Manual babes. At the close of the first chapter the score read 17 to 17. In the second half the Crown City crew outstepped the Manual team and won easily. The line-ups:

PIONEERS ON TOP

Coach Whittle's fast traveling L. A. High quintet snagged the third straight victory yesterday afternoon in the U.S.C. pavilion by downing the Long Beach quintet, 14 to 9. Inability to hit the basket lost what chance of victory the Seasiders had. Beck, Rothrock and Fallis featured.

The lightweight struggle went to the Long Beach five, 14 to 12.

Seraphs to Work in Rhythm of Jazz Strains

High-Minded Theory Will be Given Test

Stage Musical Training Bill at Catalina

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

Martial and other stirring music will be used to put a speedy rhythm on the Los Angeles ball club this spring.

There is nothing like a few snatches of jazz to quicken the pulse of the sluggish athlete. At least such would seem to be the artistic conviction of William Wrigley, Jr., and Joe Patrick. And they are going to put this high-minded theory to a test, according to an announcement made yesterday by Business Manager Lockhard.

VISIT MAGIC ISLE

Following their sojourn at Elsinore, the Angels will be taken to Catalina for ten days as a means of increasing their speed on the grass field there. Accompanying every workout will be a concert by Prof. Porter's Catalina Band. Practically every selection will be a victory march. In this way the ball team will be properly tuned up and prepared to make a syncopated race for the pennant. Our Angels should be able to steal bases in a cake walk, and fox trot bunts into home runs. At last the piccolo is to be accorded a deserved place in our great national pastime.

Officials of the club were considerably jarred by a total stranger who appeared at headquarters yesterday and wanted to lay his money on the table. Tim O'Hara, it seems, has been in China for two years with the Standard Oil Company, playing a bit of baseball on off days. He is now an amateur shortstop, and aspires to become one in a professional sense. But money is no item with him, at least in the spring, when the average ball player is as flat as a paper napkin.

ASKS FOR TRIAL

"Just give me a tryout to show what I can do," O'Hara told Killefer. "It won't cost you anything to look me over. I'll pay my own training expenses, pay them in advance."

Percy Jones sent in his contract from Texas yesterday, the contract being duly signed in quaint southpaw chirography. Percy adhered neatly to the dotted line, indicating good control and complete satisfaction with the returns.

On the other side of Paradise Alley Vernon headquarters were honored by the presence of Truck Hannah. Mr. Hannah has a good crop of oranges coming on, and seems to be at peace with the world.

Bill Essick likewise was present. Bill is a man of affairs these days. He is having a bunch of flats built, and when they are completed he will move in and begin paying rent to himself. He will have four flats in all, and expects to add to them from time to time. Thus when he retires from baseball it will be as a bloated landlord.

to hold its own and prevent further scoring, but it succeeded. Perkins made a grand shot for goal, but it went outside. Miller got it and broke away ridden hard by Bryan. The shooting went backward and forward, then Miller got his chance and followed up though ridden by Moore, but he outrode him and scored, bringing Midwick ahead. Score: Cardinals, 5; Midwick, 6.

Eighth Chukker—Wigmore, determined to make some more goals or die, got it and sent it out to the side, where Miller picked it up. But the Cardinals got it and sent it back, but Perkins was on the spot and batshot it up field before they knew they had lost it. Burke cried "Turn Teddy," and on the instant Teddy turned but in time to shoot it out to Wigmore, who carried it on and scored. A most exciting piece of play. The Cardinals now gave the whole of their attention to defense. But Midwick was playing brilliantly and proved too strong for the others. Perkins scored another before the final whistle blew.

Final score: Cardinals, 5; Midwick, 8.

BECKETT NOT TO FIGHT DEMPSEY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Reports from London that Joe Beckett, English heavyweight, had made the announcement that he had signed articles to meet Jack Dempsey in New York in next July or August for the world's title evoked little more than guffaws in local fight circles today. According to the dispatches a condition of the match was that Beckett beat Dick Smith in their bout February 19.

Tom O'Rourke, Tex Rickard and others likely to promote any bout involving Dempsey in New York next summer promptly denied knowledge of the signing of articles for a Dempsey-Beckett battle. Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager declared it was all news to him.

M'GRAW CROSSES RUTH

Bambino Helpless in World's Series—Choke-Off Play Works Well—Weak Spots Discovered

"MY THIRTY YEARS IN BASEBALL" Article XXXII
BY JOHN J. McGRAW,
Manager of the New York Giants, world's baseball champions, 1921-22.

[Copyright, 1923, U. S. and Canada, by the Christy Walsh Syndicate.]

The science of managing a ball team, according to my way of thinking, is in picking the spots for attack. The idea that any field manager can outline a plan of attack against an entire team is erroneous. That would be impossible.

Like the captain of a football team the baseball manager quickly discovers the weak spots in the enemy's line-up. If he doesn't then he is not much of a manager. Being aware of these spots the trick is in waiting for the exact moment to spring something that will double-cross the particular player and throw the opposition off its balance. It is not at all necessary to cross the whole opposing team. That would be out of the question, anyway.

All you need is to fool just one player—or maybe two. One such move will often throw a monkey wrench into the whole machinery of the opposition.

Take, for instance, the elaborate and concentrated efforts we made during the 1922 series to cross Babe Ruth. We knew that he had a weakness, because we had watched him for a long time. We also knew that he was in a slump and a little down-spirited as a result of being unable to hit during the last few games of the regular season.

Our purpose was to cross Ruth—to center on that—and thereby affect the morale of the whole Yank team. By succeeding in this their whole plan was disrupted. If they were not disrupted the Yanks were at least disturbed so much mentally that they were off balance. An important cog had broken.

WORK ON RUTH

Can you imagine what would have happened if Ruth had hit a home run his first time at bat? Can you realize what an effect that would have had on the morale of our team—also of the Yanks? I thought I understood. I was determined that it should not happen. We worked on that point hard.

A manager must take into consideration those psychological possibilities. Believe me, psychology plays an important part in baseball.

To illustrate the thoroughness of our efforts, aiming at that particular spot, Ruth did not get more than three balls during the entire series that he expected. Every one of our pitchers opposed him. If he looked for a slow one, invariably he would get something else. When he expected a fast one he would get a curve or a slow one. We had him completely at sea.

CATCH THREE

Another thing: Having observed the Yanks very closely, I had a pretty good idea of the runners who were headstrong and those who might be overcareful. We didn't miss it far. Of five players that I figured we might catch on that choke-off throw from the outfield to Bancroft, we caught three—Meusel, Pipp and Schang.

All of these plays came at critical stages. The choke-off play, as I have explained before, is a trick of throwing the ball to the shortstop instead of to the plate when a single is made off the outfield with a runner on second and there is no chance to catch him. Ordinarily the batter, seeing this throw to go to the plate or third, will keep right on past first and make second. Our play was designed to choke these off. Bancroft catches the ball and, instead of throwing to the plate, tosses it to second. You all saw the play, very likely.

AIM ACCURATE

The point I make is that we expected to catch Schang, Meusel or Pipp on that play sometime during the series, as well as two others. The result shows that our aim at a certain spot had been accurate. On an overcareful player we would not have made the play. If, in that last game, for instance, Schang had held first instead of running on to second, the final result might have been entirely different.

To give you another illustration: When Bugs Raymond, pitching for the Cubs, was at the top of his form, he used to cause the Giants all kinds of trouble. That spitter of his was most difficult to hit. Don't make any mistake about Bugs being a great pitcher. He knew all the tricks.

We knew, though, that he did not keep in condition. When a man gets fat as a result of dissipation he quickly loses his wind—does not like to stoop for ground balls.

In the 1905 season, by the way, we used a base-running play successfully that was aimed to double-cross the other fellow who thought they had solved our system.

I refer to the delayed steal which Sammy Strang, especially worked nearly every time he tried it. Of late that play has gone into disuse, but I believe it could be revived now if it were not for the lively ball. With this lively ball in play there is really little need to work out base-running plays. There is as much chance of someone slamming the ball to the daisies as there is of getting away with a risky base-running play. That is why base running seems to be falling into decay.

I am sorry that base-running has fallen off as a result of this lively ball. To me that was always one of the most fascinating features of baseball. The study of it really gave me my start in Baltimore. The perfection of base-running plays is what first made the Orioles famous.

While that 1905 team was a smart base-running outfit, I have had faster ones. The club of 1912 was fast as lightning.

JEFF WINS FIRST

Jefferson High's basketball crew won its first game of the season yesterday in the Lincoln gym by trimming the Railsplitters, 19 to 18, in a roughly played, exciting struggle. George Dyer and Gulick starred for the losers, while Rice and Neal were the big guns for the Jefferson quintet.

In the opener, the Lincoln High bantams hung a 14-to-2 defeat on the Jefferson whispers. The only points of the losers were made with free throws. Singer, La Barba, Dyer, Thomas and Briggs all played sensational ball for the Lincolnites. The standings follow:

TO SOUTH SEAS

FAY AND COMPANY TO MAKE FILMS IN TROPICS

By Grace Kingsley

One of the biggest and most important expeditions ever undertaken for the making of pictures in the little-known South Sea islands, is that being launched by Murry N. Fay, who, in company with a number of distinguished members of the Army and Navy and accompanied by scientists, will journey from San Francisco on the 17th inst., in the whaler, Narwhale, with Capt. Charles Aery in command.

The expedition will be gone a year, and the first stop will be at the Marquesas Islands, made famous by Frederick O'Brien in his books of travel. Spots mentioned by O'Brien, as well as islands so far unvisited, will be photographed in a travelogue. Portions of New Guinea, where fierce cannibals abound, and which so far have not been visited by white men, will be invaded by the company of picture seekers.

The remains of some forgotten city, reminiscent of a lost civilization, in the form of a marble temple, were discovered on a former trip by Capt. Aery, on one of the South Sea islands, and the company will further investigate this spot.

The Solomon Islands will likewise be among the places visited. In all the spots visited by the expedition, not only will the beauty of the places be shown, but every human angle possible will be sought, in regard to the inhabitants of the out-of-the-way places, in order that the films may have story value as well as educational value.

The company making the expedition has incorporated under the name of the Incorporated Mutual Trading Company. Its president is J. Richardson of Chicago. Richardson was formerly a lieutenant-commander in the United States Navy. Fay is vice-president. Capt. Charles Aery is also treasurer of the company.

Several other ex-army officers will be in the expedition. Among these are Tom Watson, who was formerly an aviator in the British army; Lieut. Henry Lyons, son of Rear-Admiral Lyons, and an Annapolis graduate; Capt. Haskell K. Billings, who got his discharge from the Army in order to take the trip, and A. Avazaglu, who was formerly a colonel in the Russian army under the Czar.

Mr. Fay is president of the Murry Fay Productions of San Francisco. He was formerly a cameraman, and will go back to his old job in connection with directing on the present trip. He is noted as an expert artist in the use of the slow-motion camera, and indeed himself invented some of the effects and apparatus used in this branch of camera work. He photographed the slow motion pictures of Annette Kellerman.

He has just completed some pictures showing Capt. Scheffield, champion swimmer, in various swimming and life-saving stunts.

EVE UNSELL TURNS PICTURE PRODUCER

Eve Unsell, head of the scenario department at the Mayer studios, is to turn picture producer. She will be one of the first women experienced in picture making to produce her own film plays.

Miss Unsell says it is merely an experiment, her first picture, but that if all goes well, and she likes the business, she will keep on.

Joseph Schildkraut of "Orphans of the Storm," and his father, Rudolph Schildkraut, veteran actor and stage director, will be the stars of the production. The story is called "The Dance of Life." It was rewritten by Miss Unsell from an original story purchased by her some time ago.

Roland Lee will assist in the production, and a director has yet to be chosen. The picture may be made in the West, but will probably be filmed in New York, as both Schildkrauts are at present busy on the stage there.

Blanche Sweet Back

Blanche Sweet has returned from her vacation on a dairy farm, having gained fifteen pounds. A large production company is soliciting her services to appear in a well-known story before she appears in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" under the direction of her husband, Marshall Neilan.

Dierker to Produce

Another independent producer has entered the field. He is Hugh Dierker, well-known film man. The pictures he will make will be known as the Hugh Dierker Productions. He is planning to make four features.

Work on the first of these has already been commenced. The story is called "The Other Side," and was written by Thelma Lanier. Dorothy Yost provided the adaptation. An Astec dance, performed by dancers from Ruth St. Denis's school, is a feature of the picture. In the cast are David Butler, Fritzi Brunette, Helen Lynch, Charles Clary, Herbert Standing, E. M. Kimball, Pat O'Malley, Peter Burke, Harmon MacGregor and Cleve Moore, a brother of Colleen Moore.

The stories which the Dierker Productions will make will all be originals, according to the announcement of Dierker himself, who will direct all productions.

Baby Peggy Flits

Baby Peggy, with her fond parents, has gone to Coronado for a week's visit, while getting ready for next comedy, which is to be a burlesque on "The Shiek."

ROACH KID COMEDY AN ADDED FEATURE

In addition to Pola Negri's latest film production, "Mad Love," in its world premier at the California Theater tomorrow, Fred Miller will also present the second of Hal Roach's "Our Gang" comedies which he calls "One Terrible Day."

The cut and dried methods of comedy production with children and animals in the featured roles have been ditched by Mr. Roach in this new series of two reelers. With a cast of children, not child actors, but real kids, headed by "Sunshine Sammy," "Freckles" Daniels, Farina, a year and a half old pikkaninny, Jackie Condon, Peggy Cartwright and a host of other funny kidlets he began work and, judging from the applause that greeted the first one at the California, the whole series is going to make just as big a hit as this same producer's comedies featuring Harold Lloyd.

him. This will be Miss Wilson's first trip to the metropolis, although her name has often been seen in electrics there, and her celluloid double is a familiar figure on Broadway.

NOTED TENOR SOON AT LOEW'S STATE

Definite announcement was made last night that Guido Ciecolini will open at Loew's State Theater Sunday the 25th inst.

Marcus Loew has engaged this opera tenor for a tour of his Coast theaters, and his appearance in Los Angeles will mark his motion-picture theater debut.

On New Play Program.

Pola Negri in "Mad Love," California; Ruth Clifford in "Dangerous Age" at Tally's, and Lola Williams, brightening Orpheum bill.

Josef Hofmann Reveals How to Become Pianist

"If one is going to be a fine pianist, he should begin very early," said Josef Hofmann yesterday evening in his suite at the Alexandria. "If one starts a thing early enough it becomes second nature, and one can do that thing and do it well when he cannot do anything else. I can play the piano when I am too weak to even write—once I had exactly that experience. This was in New York, and I had a high fever and was really ill, but I was nevertheless able to fill my engagements. It all depends on the right start and on getting it in time."

Mr. Hofmann had arrived in Los Angeles less than two hours earlier. As I stepped in the elevator to see him, Mr. Behymer stepped out. After greeting Mr. Hofmann he told me that he was to play in Pasadena in a joint recital with Ephram Zimbalist, this evening. He had not known it more than a few minutes, and this arrangement was made on account of the illness of Challapin. He was making out his program and included on it was the Beethoven "Appasionata."

"I have not played it for two years," he explained, "but it will go all right." Mr. Hofmann said that the many arduous hours of practice necessary for so many pianists are not necessary for him due to the early age at which he began playing the piano. Practice bores him, in a way, and the work of several days' practice is sufficient to last him for several weeks.

His hands are naturally flexible and strong. His handshake was warm and firm. It is not necessary for him to spend much time in gaining technique, for he has it naturally, because as he grew, his hands, due to youth and practice, gained the requisite dexterity, control, and muscle. Possessed of a keen intellect and a remarkable memory he was thus able to acquire at an early age the physical and mental facility which an older beginner would have to work years to attain.

"It is the local musician that prepares the public for the visiting artist," he said: "Everywhere publics are different, and this is largely because of the gospel of music that has been spread before, and the resident teacher and home-town musician deserve a great deal more credit than they generally get. One of the finest conductors anywhere is Walter Henry Rothwell. Twenty years ago I played a concerto with him in St. Paul, and then I recognized in him an artist of the finest inate sensibilities."

Mr. Hofmann said that he knew Chaliapin in Russia in 1896. His real greatness lies in his acting, he continued, and that he was the sensation of the year in New York at the Metropolitan. Till Challapin played it, Boris Goudonov was "Bore us good enough," he punned, remarking that all musicians like puns and jokes because they tickle the ear, and musicians' ears are particularly sensitive. Mr. Hofmann is much besides a pianist, he is a splendid player, he is fond of most outdoor games and sports, and he is keenly interested in the affairs of the day.

CONCERT NUMBERS LIGHT IN SPIRIT

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Not all music is written with an eye on forsaken gradens and forlorn romance. Some of it bubbles with the sunshine of life, and some aghin scketches the intangible pastels of dawn and the night and the day. It is not weighty as the world mayhap, but what matter. It takes much of music to make a symphony season, and so we accept the Philharmonic Orchestra program played yesterday along with the rest for its light spirit, and the fact above all that it offers us the pleasure of again hearing the Ravel Phapsodie Espagnole.

The audience gave the Ravel Rhapsodie an enthusiastic reception; they respectfully listened to the Beethoven Symphony No. 2 and otherwise afforded evidence to their pleasure in the concert at Philharmonic Auditorium. That the applause was as a whole not as long and loud as usual was not to be reckoned materially against the content of the program. Nor the fact that the percentage of those leaving was perhaps slightly larger. This might be attributed rather to the fact that outside of the Symphony No. 2 nothing that was new was given by the orchestra, nor was the soloist, although capable, quite of the prominence of those usually offered with the orchestra.

There was one distinct disappointment, of course, for the regular subscribers, and that was the postponement of Rachmaninoff's "Isle of the Dead" symphonic poem. Walter Henry Rothwell, however, is probably amply justified in withholding a work until it is properly prepared, and the "Rhapsodie Espagnole" was a satisfying substitute even for those who heard it before. It is a beautiful and glistening composition and, though its Prelude to the Night was somewhat foggy, the final movements were played with fine gusto and at times striking color.

Most commendable effects were attained, as regards vigor, in the opening section of the Beethoven Symphony. The scherzo, too, had considerable life. The work was greeted conventially, however, as befitted the rather formal character of the interpretation.

Betsy Lane Shepherd, the soloist, gave the Air de Lia from "L'Enfant Prodigue" and the "Il est Doux, il est bon" aria from "Herodiade," achieving a very favorable impression by her closing vibrant tones in the latter as the applause, indicated. She has poise and style in her singing, although she occasionally evidences an overuse of portamento. Her enunciation and other general attributes are very commendable, but on the whole these concerts demand somewhat greater attainments than she evidenced.

The "Oberon" overture was played as the closing number on the program.

"THIRD ALARM" TO CLOSE TOMORROW

Tomorrow will see the last showing of "The Third Alarm" the drama of the fire-fighter, and on Monday, Jack Holt in "Nobody's Money," will be the attraction at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater.

Jack Holt will be seen in an entirely different role than he has ever before essayed, that of light comedian. As a book agent, an author, and the suitor of a charming girl, he encounters many situations that afford the audience many laughs.

Louise Fazenda has returned to short comedies again and will be seen in "Pest of the Storm Country."

Leiber Plays Marc Antony in "Caesar"

For a week Fritz Leiber has taken canvasses, some musty and mildewed, each one faded, at times almost beyond recognition, and to them has imparted a new luster and life. Where shadings have been dimmed, he has instilled brighter, more vigorous colors. His work from Monday to last evening being considered, the realization has arisen that there is nothing wrong with Shakespeare, that, contrary to custom and belief, the public is not greatly at fault, but that, fundamentally, the artists are responsible for the recent apparent disbelief in the bard.

Last night, to many, was a world premiere. The thousands—more correctly, millions—of performances of "Julius Caesar" were forgotten as Leiber painted a new Marc Anthony with a new brush dipped in the deepest, richest colorings of his art. As a rule Shakespeare stars play Brutus. Mantell did, and I believe, Hampden as well. But Leiber chose as his role the orator. Perhaps this was because he is a younger man than the others. Perhaps it was because it is a greater part.

The character of Anthony has, to a certain extent, fallen into disrepute through the efforts of inferior supporting artists. It was redeemed and placed on a new pedestal by Leiber and the other roles were raised to a new standard by his splendid company. A great deal of this was done by one woman, Olive Oliver, as Portia.

As the wife of Brutus, Miss Oliver achieved superb tragedy. Virginia Bronson as Calpunira, while she probably had the same deep appreciation of her part, was hampered somewhat by what, with all respect, was a "Kansas City accent." There was a note in her voice that was disconcerting.

To do each member of the cast entire justice is a difficult thing. Louis Leon Hall as Brutus and Anthony Andre as Caesar were, of course, excellent. Andre painted Caesar as a warrior unafraid, and a bit boastful beside. At that Hall's Brutus was a volume of depth and sincerity and Cassius, by John Burke, proved an excellent balance.

Joseph Singer as Casca provided a most needed relief and his acting was a stroke of color well appreciated.

Anthony's speech before the mob at Caesar's bier, his brief sketch as he learned of his ruler's death, were, of course, the big moments of the play. One could not help but contemplate that with Leiber in our own Senate the soldiers would get their bonus, or anything else might happen.

After viewing Leiber's productions it would be well to start a movement to prevent high schools and colleges from murdering Shakespeare. Court action to restrain them could easily be invoked. For there is no question but that these well-meaning but cinema-inclined calves have been responsible for Shakespeare being regarded very much in the light of a bore.

Trio Plays Works Chosen by Audiences

A request program is very often more than usually interesting in that it is an index to public taste, and as such the selections given last evening by the Los Angeles Trio at the Ebell Clubhouse were exceedingly flattering to those who requested the numbers given. The enthusiastic audience stamped them with approval.

The program was well balanced in several ways in that it embraced composition in various styles—classic Beethoven, romantic Franck and ultramodern Goosens. The first number was the Eugene Goosens Trio Op. 7, for Flute, Violincello and Piano, the second the "Kreutzer" Sonata for violin and piano by Beethoven, and lastly trio in F sharp major for violin, 'cello and piano, by Caesar Franck. These gave sufficient diversity of tone color, each number calling for a different combination of instruments

The modern English "Five Impressions of a Holiday" was interesting indeed, and yet one wishes that comment might be withheld for further familiarity. It was impressionistic, it was bright in spots and dull in others; it sounded "muggy" and unnecessarily discordant in places. The writer begs to explain that he is extremely fond of ultramodern music, and at the same time suggest that all that is modern is not attractive nor of any possible value musically or otherwise. The pictures in tone, such as the "Water Wheel" and "At the Fair" were nevertheless full of color, and it might be that with future hearings one would reverse his opinion.

In the "Kreutzer" Sonata Mrs. Hope, pianist, and Mr. Lubovisky, violinist, gave a wonderful rendition. There was much feeling and poetry in the Andante con Variazoni. The last Presto was played with mastery in every note. Mr. Lubovisky has a warm apd expressive tone; in fact, this is one of the most pleasing qualities of his artistry.

LITTLE JACKIE AND PAL WORK TOGETHER

Edouard Trebaol plays the role of the Artful Dodger in Charles Dickens's "Oliver Twist," which opens at the Kinema today.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

Prosperous Year Reported by Bean Growers

Live-Stock Producers Share in Improved Market

Gasoline Exports Grow; War Savings; Stocks, Bonds

Confirmatory evidence of the general proposition that the year 1922 was a period of substantial recovery in agricultural enterprises in in part supplied by the twelve-months' statement of operations in the bean industry released by the California Bean Growers. The bean report is one of the first to appear, and indicates material improvement in acreage planted, average yield, and return to the grower.

California planted a total acreage to beans in 1922 of 935,000, an increase of 73,000 acres over 1921, and an amount sufficient to place the State second to Michigan among the bean-growing territories. Michigan reported the greatest amount of land planted, amounting to 458,000 acres, and New York was third with 93,000 acres. The California acreage yielded 2,866,800 hundred-pound bags, which was second to Michigan with 2,925,460 bags. In California, limas were the most important individual crop, totalling 1,275,000 bags, and were followed by pinks with 650,000 bags. Other varieties planted were small whites, large whites, black eyes, red kidneys, cranberries, Mexican reds, bayous and pintos.

The total production of the United States is given as 7,185,000 bags, valued at $44,429,000, and representing an increase of over 120,000,000 from 1921. The total acreage amounted to 1,043,000 having a yield per acre of 6.84 bags.

The 1922 returns from both the production and price standpoints are the best that the California bean growers have experienced since 1919. The price trend has been an advancing one, and all growers who held their crops have been able to sell on a more favorable market than prevailed earlier in the season.

LIVE-STOCK RETURNS

Live-stock producers marketed more meat animals and marketed them at materially higher prices during 1922 than in 1921, says the Department of Agriculture in reviewing another successful enterprise in which the primary producer has benefited.

The combined receipts of cattle, calves, hogs, sheep and lambs at public stock-yards last year amounted to 59,649,002 head, compared with 55,055,815 in 1921. The increase was represented, however, in cattle, calves and hogs, the receipts of sheep and lambs in 1922 having been the lightest since 1917.

The recovery in prices from 1921 was noticeable all during the year, and with the exception of cattle during the first five months, only in rare instances did any class of stock drop to the 1921 level. Because of the relatively light supply, lambs led in the upward movement of prices, the 1922 average being $3.54 higher per 100 pounds than for 1921. Ewes advanced $1.69, hogs 71 cents and good and medium beef steers 26 cents per 100 pounds.

Compared with 1920 prices, the year in which quotations were generally at their highest, the 1922 prices followed substantially lower levels, hogs being $4.69 under the 1922 level, cattle $4.57, ewes $2.17 and lambs $1.92.

According to the Department of Agriculture's market report, one of the outstanding features of the live-stock market during 1922 was the relatively heavy movement of stockers and feeders. The increase in receipts was impressive but the movement was largely neutralized by the increase over 1921 in shipments of animals back to the country for further feeding.

GASOLINE EXPORTS

Foreign sales of petroleum products by the Union Oil Company are continuing at a satisfactory rate, the latest shipment amounting to 3,000,000 gallons of gasoline on Thursday, consigned to the British Mexican Petroleum Company. The cargo is being carried by the Andrew Weir vessel "Symeric," and is the fifth shipment made by the Union Oil Company to the British company in the last twelve months.

On March 10, the "Spirita" will sail for London with a cargo of approximately 3,000,000 gallons of kerosene consigned to the Asiatic Petroleum Company of London. The March shipment will be the second this year, the total for the past twelve months amounting to 18,000,000 gallons.

AUTOMOTIVE STOCK

To consummate the purchase of the Weinstock-Nichols Company's Los Angeles business, the Banta Company is offering 2000 shares of 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock at $100 per share. The stock is being sold in units of two shares of preferred with one share of common, the price per unit being $200. The Banta Company was organized for the purpose of acquiring the Southern California and Arizona wholesale business established and controlled by the late Col. Harris Weinstock, the company specializing in automotive equipment, supplies, storage batteries and tires.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Exchange of 1918 War Savings Certificates for the new Treasury Savings Certificates is proceeding rapidly, according to an estimate released by the Treasury Department. The new certificates issued on the basis of the exchange proposal amount to over $65,000,000, representing about $30,000,000 in maturity value. Exchanges are still coming in steadily, says the Treasury statement, and should reach a considerably larger figure when the returns are all in from postoffices and banks.

Out of the $686,400,000 of War Savings Certificates of the series of 1918 outstanding when the present operations began, the total redemptions, including the $65,000,000 exchanged for Treasury Savings Certificates, had reached $500,000,000 in maturity value by January 31, 1923. On this basis, there are matured War Savings Certificates outstanding with a maturity value of about $136,000,000.

UNION OIL PROFITS

A profit-sharing distribution involving the sum of $809,000 was made yesterday by the Union Oil Company of California to 4400 of the company's employees stationed from Vancouver, B. C., to Tocopilla, Chile. Checks representing each employee's share were mailed from the head office here.

This year's employees' profits, according to a report issued by E. W. Clark, executive vice-president, are based upon 10 per cent of the company's earnings. Those having five years of service or over receive 12 per cent of their year's salary; four years, 11 per cent; three years, 10 per cent; two year, 7 1-2 per cent and one year, 5 per cent.

Since inaugurating the plan, over $2,500,000 has been disbursed to the employees of the company.

Following is a statement showing the share of profits paid to employees since the inception of the plan:

Year.	Amt. Disbursed.	Approximate No. of Employees.	Basis.

CORN-FED STOCK

The first corn-fed steers to arrive at the Los Angeles Union Stockyards from Arizona sold on Friday's market at $8.25 a hundred pounds, the highest price paid at the yards this week and a record price at Los Angeles for steers of Arizona origin.

The cattle were raised and fed by J. Stanley Howard & Son in the Salt River Valley of Arizona. There were twenty-six head in the shipment, averaging 1020 pounds, and they sold to R. L. Bliss of the California Dress Beef Company of Los Angeles, after spirited bidding from several local packers.

"This sale is of great importance to feeders in the Salt River Valley," said Mr. Howard, "as my shipment was in the form of a trial of the new Los Angeles Stockyards. Needless to say, my report to my neighbors will be a very favorable one for the cattle sold considerably higher than I could have netted for them by selling at home and the 'shrink' was much smaller than I had anticipated, being only thirty-four pounds per head."

PREFERRED DIVIDEND

Dividends on the preferred stock of the San Joaquin Light & Power Corporation have been paid regularly since June, 1917, amounting to $1.50 per quarter, according to A. E. Peat, comptroller of the company. Dividend payments were deferred until April, 1914 to 1917, and not until 1921 as stated yesterday.

SELLING DEPRESSES ALL COTTON OPTIONS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9. — After overnight accumulation of buying orders, which carried prices in the local cotton market some 9 to 20 points above last night's close, had run its course, heavy selling of all crop months was again in evidence. Quotations were under considerable pressure throughout the forenoon and shortly before midday they were making new lows for the day some 3 to 16 points under last night's close and 14 to 34 points under their early highs. Heavy selling was reported from the South, and from brokers with western and commission-house connections. Scattered buying was traced to the trade and spot houses.

The market continued steady at the low level for the day until about the middle of the afternoon when increased demand from the trade caused prices to advance rather sharply for a time. Although the reaction continued to the close prices were 11 to 13 points net higher.

Spot was steady, 2 points advance, 27.90 for middling upland.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Spot dried fruit prices are too low judging by the comments of various operators and brokers in the New York trade. Prices here are under a parity with the coast figures and they are also cheaper than in any other market. The prolonged liquidation here brought on by accumulation of heavy supplies at the end of 1922 as a result of shipping congestion is slowing trade in all parts of the country.

Interior buyers are not disposed to take hold of the Coast market while stocks can be bought in New York cheaper. Still this sentiment is largely a state of mind. If the jobbers who point to the New York price basis as a reason why lower prices should be named by California would once enter the New York market for stocks they would find that all of the cheap stocks would clean up very quickly and then not only they, but the New York trade as well would have to turn to the Coast for supplies and higher prices would prevail.

Prices remained unchanged on all lines today.

CANNED GOODS

Next Monday's nonday has put a damper on trading in canned foods.

Futures markets continue to display exceptional firmness. Peas have held on a firm basis since the opening and leading canners have booked a satisfactory volume on all grades and sizes. Tomato futures have not broken despite the quiet buying. Corn is holding steady at the opening levels on futures.

Spot tomatoes continued steady, particularly on No. 10s which are in limited supply.

Canned fruit movement is still sluggish on spot, but the buyers are sounding out coast sentiment and it is believed an active spring trade will develop shortly. Buyers have been able to pick up a few really excellent bargains from California canners closing out small unsold stocks, but Coast packers in general are firm in their views and refuse to do business at prices lower than their list in the majority of cases.

CITRUS FRUITS

Florida oranges were quoted 15 to 25 cents per box lower on the general market.

California oranges were higher on 126s and larger; steady on 150s and smaller; sales totaling eight cars of navels. Prices were: Californias, 60s $2.70 to $3.40; 100s $2.00 to $4.20; 126s $2.40 to 4.50; 150s, $3.50 to $5.20; 176s 3.35 to $5.30; 200s $3.15 to 5.00; 216s, 3.10 to 4.20; 250s, 2.35 to $4.20.

Grapefruit remained unchanged, 7370 boxes selling at $1.50 to $6.75.

RAW SUGAR

A new high for the year of 4 1-4 cents cost and freight was established for Cuban raw sugars today, which is the equivalent of 5.09 cents c.i.f. New York. Sales were estimated at between 30,000 and 50,000 bags for February and early March shipment.

Thursday's sales to refiners were estimated at 250,000 bags Cubas at 4 cents cost and freight. Early today a quantity was sold at 4 cents cost and freight. Later operators paid 4 cents cost and freight for Cubas for February shipment south side of the island equivalent to 4.16 cents cost and freight New York. Sales were made later at 4 1-4 cents cost and freight.

Two cargoes Cubas were reported sold to Europe at 17s, 7½d and 17s 9d, respectively, for prompt shipment.

REFINED SUGAR

There was a further general increase in refined sugar. Limited orders were accepted at 7.15 cents. The following quotations were current at the close of business: Federal, Arbuckle, National and American, 7.25 cents; Wagner and McCann, 7.30 cents.

There was a net jump of 20 to 25 points in raw-sugar futures. Aggregate sales made at 92,000 tons were the biggest since last summer. The market opened up 5 to 8 points and by noon had jumped 12 to 23 points. Around noon there was heavy liquidation from interests with Cuban connections. On profit-taking May dropped from 4.26 to 4.16. Shortly after noon the whole list started on the up trend again. Exchanges were heavy, including July to September at 7 points, March to May, 4 and 5 points, and then at even rates; May to July, 10 points; March to September, 9 points, and March to July, 10 points.

COFFEE AND TEA

First prices of coffee futures were unchanged to 5 points higher. Gains of 10 points in March and 33 points in May were established shortly after noon. July started off at 10.50, but was bid up to 10.62 by the close.

Moderate buying orders at the close served to stiffen the list further, May going to 11.30, July, 10.62, and December, 10.37. The list closed 8 to 12 points higher on sales estimated at 44,000 bags.

The continued advance, which has featured the India, Ceylon and Java tea markets since the first of the year, has established replacements costs at such a high basis that consumers here have been wary about buying to the full extent of their needs. The news from abroad seems to bear out assertions that no lower prices can be expected this side of a new crop, for there has been extensive buying for delivery over 1923 on the part of the large London packing houses. This has given the trade here confidence in the current level of the market. All signs point to a record-breaking tea consumption over the next few months.

Sellers report a continuance of quiet conditions in the market for rice with the south showing no special change. Foreigns are steady under fair buying.

BUTTER, EGGS

The upward tendency of the butter market, which has been of almost daily occurrence this week, was finally checked, much to the relief of buyers forced to seek fresh supplies. The arrival of delayed shipments relieved the market and orders were filled more readily.

Call sales for spot delivery were fifty, twenty-five and ninety tubs creamery extras at 49 3-4 cents, and twenty-five tubs 93-score 50 cents. In futures, 200 tube extras sold, seller February, 49 cents.

The egg market occupies about the same position as earlier in the week. Trade has been active enough to sustain prices.

Cali sales were 100 cases f.g. firsts at 35 cents and fifty at 35½ cents a dozen spot delivery.

Pacific Coast white extras, 43 to 44 cents; white extra firsts, 41½ to 42½ cents; firsts, 40 to 41 cents.

COPPER AND ZINC

London cables reported standard copper as advanced 2s 6d to £65, 12s 6d for spot and £66 7s 6d for futures, while electrolytic was up to £72 10s for spot and £73 for futures.

Copper advanced a full eighth of a cent and electrolytic is now quotable at 15 1-8 cents a pound, delivered, over the next four or five months.

Zinc was firm at 7.05 cents for February shipment from St. Louis, while the later months were available at 5 points concession each.

GASOLINE AND OIL

Refinery gasoline prices in the midcontinent territory have increased about 2 cents during the past six weeks, the new Navy product being quoted at 13 cents a gallon, as against 11 cents the first of the year.

Kerosene is weak; there has been a reduction of ½ cent a gallon in the Jersey territory and shippers think export prices will come down shortly.

Fuel oil supplies are plentiful to buyers willing to pay the listed quotation of $1.60 per barrel at the terminal, but bids below this level are not receiving much consideration.

BONDS

The climb in sugar bonds, led by East Cuba Sugar 7½s, was the feature of a successful day in bonds. Prices in all departments of the list averaged higher, aided the gains in stocks, foreign exchange and commodity markets. Even Liberties took heart and moved up 12 to 18 points on the active issues, only the Victories remaining unchanged.

The strong demand for sugar issues was due in part to the new high in raw sugar prices. East Cuba 7½s closed 2½ points over the opening and the Cuba Cane issues scored substantial gains. Next in importance in the industrial list was the attention paid to the coppers.

Only moderate trading was experienced in rail bonds, but prices were steady at the last, with the average up for the day.

French bonds were active and generally higher, with the United Kingdom 6½s unchanged to up a fraction on the news of the breakdown of Turkey in the Near East situation. Mexican bonds were up slightly, but the South Americans as a whole finished a bit unsettled. Scandinavians were quiet and little unchanged.

Week-end Trade Review From Great Britain

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Forecasts of British trade for 1923 dwell on the necessity for enlarging the South American and colonial markets. India's increasing prosperity is expected to mitigate Lancashire's cotton depression. Italy's proposal to sweep away tariff barriers, and new commercial agreements with some Baltic states, are helpful steps toward resumption of normal trade relations.

The brightest spot in British trade during the week has been heavy continental and South American demand for coal. The European situation and uncertainty as to future costs are the causes of hesitation in the iron and steel markets. Continental demand virtually has ceased, but American orders continue. Several large orders for railway rolling stock for home consumption are to be placed here, and South Africa has given a large order for steel in Leeds. The freight markets are dull and many ships are laid up in foreign ports awaiting return cargoes.

In the textile industries jute reports are good, with factories working at 90 per cent of capacity under increasing foreign consumption. Wool values are hesitant under decreasing continental demand, but America is an active buyer and crossbreds are firm. Cotton shows relief from the prevailing depression. The economist index number of wholesale prices rose 3 points in January due mainly to the advance in coal iron and textiles.

Old railway corporations now merged into groups have surprised shareholders by increased dividends.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Rising commodity prices furnished the impetus for another advance in prices in today's stock market, the fourth consecutive 1,000,000-share session. The customary week-end profit taking, together with the short selling of industrial shares whose market position had been weakened by the rapidity of the recent advance, caused some irregularity in the late dealings, but speculators for the advance found little difficulty in bringing forward new pacemakers to replace those which had temporarily fallen by the wayside.

Domestic trade conditions continued to be the predominant influence in the determination of quoted values, fresh encouragement being found in the weekly Federal statement showing a combined reserve ratio of 77 per cent, the highest since October 25 last, which was interpreted as an indication of the strength of the country's banking position, and announcements of higher prices for Cuban raw and refined sugar. While foreign news developments were largely ignored by the stock market, the cable reports of an agreement between Turkish authorities in Smyrna and the Allied naval commanders, under which the status quo would be maintained pending diplomatic negotiations, was reflected in higher foreign exchange rates.

Baldwin was in free supply toward the close and dropped to 135⅝ for a net loss of 1¼. The other usual market leaders, Studebaker and United States Steel, showed only minor net changes. Local gas shares turned heavy in the late dealings, Brooklyn Union dropping 2¾ and Consolidated 1½. President Harding's renewed appeal for action on the ship subsidy bill caused further buying of the shippings, Marine common and preferred gaining about a point each and Atlantic Gulf and West Indies common and preferred 1¾ and 3¾, respectively.

Call money opened at 4½ per cent and advanced in the last hour to 4½, where it closed. Brokers are bidding 4¾ for call money, but finding only meager offerings at this rate, bankers demanding 5 per cent for all maturities. Commercial paper is moving in moderate volume at 4½ per cent for the best names.

Foreign exchanges were firmer. Demand sterling sold just below $4.68, the year's high, and the French francs hovered around 6.25 cents. German marks showed further improvement, advancing from .0030¼ to .0032¼ cents. Trading was relatively quiet.

Day's totals: sales, 1,251,000 shares. Twenty industrials averaged 100.82. Net loss, .23. High, 1923, 101.05. Low, 96.96.

Twenty railroads averaged 89.17. Net gain, .26. High, 1923, 89.17. Low, 84.53.

BUSINESS IS ACTIVE, SAYS DUN'S REPORT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Dun's tomorrow will say: "Comparatively few of the current reports reflect other than an active condition of business. Diminution of demand has appeared in certain quarters, but only after buyers' present needs have been liberally covered, and there are instances where purchasing is restricted simply by the inability of manufacturers to make early deliveries. Such a phase is sharply defined in the steel industry, where requests for quick shipments are increasingly importunate, but other mills are confronted with difficulties in maintaining operations. Complaints of labor scarcity grow more common and the fuel shortage continues an obstacle to full production. While 90 per cent rate of output has been reached in some cases, despite the different handicaps, the problem of meeting all requirements has not diminished and a number of commitments are of necessity being held in abeyance. Weekly bank clearings, $6,919,467,000."

RAW SUGAR PRICE NEAR 1921 RECORD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Cuba raw sugar jumped quarter of a cent to 4¾ cents a pound cost and freight or within a half-cent of the high level of 1921.

The total price increase during the week exceeded half-cent a pound. The demand was unchecked. A good inquiry was also noted for refined sugar.

Granulated at the close was quoted at 7.25 to 7.30 cents per pound.

NEW YORK CURB

Glen Alden Moves

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Prices moved up rapidly at the opening of today's stock market, but trading slackened when the high levels were reached. Profit-taking sales then made their appearance, but these were generally well absorbed and the market closed firm, today's total sales being well under those of yesterday.

Talk of early dividend action sent Glen Alden soaring up to 73¾, the highest in two years, but it fell back later to 73½, where it was up fractionally on the day. New high records for the year were established by Mutual Oil at 14⅝, Ford Motor of Canada at 412 and Fleischmann at 38¾. Sugar stocks were strong in sympathy with higher commodity prices.

Galena Oil touched 70 and then fell back to 68 for a net gain of 3 points, and Continental Oil gained 1¾, each company announcing the usual dividends. Standard Oil of Ohio improved 2 points on 4% increase in the old dividend rate. Most of the other oils moved within narrow limits. Motors showed little change.

Mining shares changed hands in large volume, the principal activity centering in the Goldfield issues.

LONDON MARKET

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A strong tone prevailed on the stock exchange today, the general outlook being regarded more confidently, and prices were marked up in many directions, but the demand was not large. British funds ruled steady, but were inactive. Dollar rails were without much change. Rubbers were neglected on the weakening of the raw commodity to 1s 5½d a pound. Oils held good, with Mexican Eagle bid for at 2 3-16, Shells, 4 3-32; Royal Dutch, 53. American mines were quiet.

The pressure for money was not so severe, overnight loans were 2½ in the earlier hours, but dropped to 1¾. Pictures were 1¾. Foreign exchanges: New York, 4.67⅛; Paris, 73.00.

RAILROAD TROUBLES TOLD TO COMMISSION

FORMER PRESIDENT OF RIO GRANDE WITNESS IN HEARING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—E. T. Jeffrey, former president of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, was the only witness examined today in the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on financial practices and relations between the Denver and Rio Grande, Western Pacific and the Missouri Pacific railroads as the result of a Denver and Rio Grande stockholders' suit against twenty defendants for $200,000,000 damages. Commissioner Henry C. Hall and Examiner J. Carterfort represented the commission. The Denver and Rio Grande is at present in the hands of receivers.

Mr. Jeffrey said that the building of the Western Pacific Railroad by the Denver and Rio Grande had been one cause of the downfall of the road. The engineers and bankers underestimated the cost of construction when it was begun in 1906, he asserted, and the San Francisco disaster in that year brought about an increased cost of labor and materials. The panic of 1907 also gave the road a setback, he said, and difficulties arose in financing the obligations assumed for the construction of the Western Pacific until finally the Denver and Rio Grande defaulted on payment of interest on $50,000,000 bonds of the Western Pacific.

Attempts were made, Mr. Jeffrey said, to arrange so the burden of paying interest on the Western Pacific bonds could be eased for the Denver and Rio Grande. Several readjustment plans were proposed and discussed in 1914 and early in 1915, he said, before interest payments were defaulted. Mr. Jeffrey said he never knew why payments were defaulted, because the Denver and Rio Grande was financially able to pay them. He had hoped that the Rio Grande would fulfill its financial obligations to the Western Pacific, he said.

Light rain fell at some stations in the Lower Mississippi Valley, but fair weather has prevailed generally elsewhere. The temperatures rose on the Gulf and Atlantic coasts and in Arizona and Southeastern California, but it was colder yesterday morning in the lake region and the Lower Missouri and Upper Mississippi valleys. In Southern California unsettled weather was experienced Thursday, with light to moderate showers during the night. It was cool and cloudy or partly cloudy at all stations yesterday morning. Partly cloudy weather may be expected in this vicinity today, with possibly showers tonight.

PLAN LIVE-STOCK COMMISSION-HOUSE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Farmers will start another co-operative live-stock commission house in Kansas City soon, it was announced today. This is the seventh of the chain of producers' co-operative commission companies opened on the principal live-stock markets of the United States by the National Live-Stock Producers' Association. Seven farmer organizations in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas will back the new co-operative, according to John G. Brown, president of the national body. The new company at Kansas City will be the farthest one west of the farmer-controlled co-operatives. It will sell live stock at cost for the producers by returning the profits to the farmer patrons.

BRITAIN'S BEST KISSER HERE

"Temperamental" Kind Her Specialty

Miss Ruby Miller

Celebrated English actress now at Beverly Hills.

"WHEN they want anybody to do an impassioned kiss in England, they always send for me!"

With this confession, Miss Ruby Miller, celebrated English comedienne, who arrived in this city on the Lark yesterday, made her bow to the American public.

Miss Miller, it may be said, is on her first trip to this country, but has come fully prepared to conquer it with twenty-seven trunks and nine suit cases full of the latest Paris creations. A bungalow attached to the Beverly Hills Hotel has been obtained as a background.

Last May she left her native England to make a tour of Africa with her own company. Many interesting things occurred to her there, she says, but the high point of the trip was a night at Victoria Falls, when the company played in a little picture house, where no stage play had ever been presented before.

On her way to America Miss Miller stopped in Australia and signed a contract to appear with her company there at a future date. In company with her manager, she then sailed on the Australian steamer Sonoma for Hawaii and California, arriving in San Francisco on Wednesday.

Although she has her own theater, the Garrick, in London, and has made pictures for Lasky in England, Miss Miller says that she has no desire to return there immediately.

"I am mad about this California," she exclaims to the questioner. "As soon as I made my first appearance in pictures, I knew that I must see it some time. You know wherever people make pictures they always talk of California."

A number of American actors, actresses and producers are well known to Miss Miller. With David Powell she played on the stage and in a picture called the "Mystery Road." Ann Forest she met in London, also David Wark Griffith and Donald Crisp.

In the spring, when the temperature in New York is not low enough or high enough to frighten her, she wants to go East and revive two English successes, "Polly with a Past" and "The Little Damozel."

PLANS CHARITIES CAMPAIGN

Bishop Cantwell at Workers' Roll Call Outlines Purpose of Effort Opening 26th Inst.

With Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, D.D., presiding, an enthusiastic roll-call meeting was held at Knights of Columbus Hall last evening by a great gathering of Catholic Charities Campaign workers from throughout the diocese.

The bishop was presented by John G. Mott, chairman of the campaign executive committee, and speakers on the evening's program included Rev. Robert E. Lucey, D.D., director of the Bureau of Catholic Charities, and John T. McBean, who is directing the campaign scheduled to open February 26.

BISHOP SPEAKS

In his address, Bishop Cantwell said:

"The Bureau of Catholic Charities is so well and favorably known in Los Angeles that it is not necessary to explain the scope of its activities. This year, as in the past, it comes before the community to appeal for consideration and assistance in its constructive work among the orphans, the poor and afflicted. Its appeal, of course, is made in the first instance very directly to the Catholic community, but the obligations of charity are larger than any religious body. No one who realizes the dignity of man can exempt himself from the obligation of assisting his less fortunate brethern. The non-Catholic community of Los Angeles, year after year, has testified to the good work being accomplished by the organized Catholic societies. While the di-

OSBORNE RITES TO BE SIMPLE

Congressman's Last Wishes Observed to Letter

Body to Lie in State Sunday and Part of Monday

His Final Message Dwells on Spiritual Things

In accordance with his expressed wishes, funeral services for Congressman H. Z. Osborne will be simple. The body will lie in state at the mortuary of Bresee Brothers, 855 South Figueroa street, all day tomorrow and Monday forenoon. The ceremonies at the First Congregational Church will practically complete the public service. Committal to and prayer at the grave will be private. Interment will be in the family plot at Rosedale Cemetery.

Church services will be at 2 p.m. Monday. Complete funeral arrangements will not be announced until tomorrow. The honorary pallbearers are being selected from among the various organizations of which he was a member, and personal friends. The list will include 200 or more names. Los Angeles Commandery, No. 9, of the Masonic order, assisted by Stanton Post, G.A.R., will pronounce service, and prayer will be delivered by Dr. Patton, pastor of the First Congregational Church.

At the church a brief eulogy will be pronounced upon the accomplishments in life of the departed by some former friend yet to be selected. The selection of the person to deliver the prayer at the grave is yet to be made. Singing at the church services will be by a mixed quartet.

MIND ACTIVE TO END

With his mind clearly active almost until the peaceful ending, among the last utterances of Congressman Osborne was this request to his son Sherrill:

"Sherrill, don't feel badly. We should accept God's decrees as right. Remember always there is a God, a just God. And if I have any regrets for my shortcomings in bringing up my family, it is that perhaps I did not urge greater attention to spiritual understanding. You understand, Sherrill, that this is not said critically. My greatest pride in life has been in my family. But I wish you would say to the others for me, and say to the dear grandchildren, that for their own good among their fellows they should devote some time to spiritual education. It is worth time and study. The time will come when they will need a comforter and if they have spiritual understanding it will help them. You will remember to tell them, won't you?"

Out of respect to the memory of Congressman Osborne numerous organizations of which he was a member passed resolutions yesterday. The City Council adjourned as a further mark of respect, first passing the following resolutions, presented by Councilman Sparks and seconded by Councilman Mushet:

COUNCIL'S RESOLUTION

Whereas the Council of the city of Los Angeles, in session assembled this ninth day of February, 1923, has learned with deep regret of the death of our distinguished citizen, H. Z. Osborne, and

EXPENSES OF ELECTION HIGH

Jones of Glendale Expended $12,072.08 in Race

Total for All in Primary Was $139,552.65

Hearings on Expenditures to Open Last of Month

The largest sum spent by any State or Congressional candidate in the campaign preceding the primary election Aug. 29, 1922, was $12,072.08, which was expended by Mattison B. Jones of Glendale, Democratic candidate for Governor, according to figures made public at Sacramento yesterday by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

The total spent by all candidates at the primary election was $139,552.65, while $14,785.37 was spent at the general election. The figures were compiled for the Assembly committee named to investigate campaign expenditures, whose hearings will start in San Francisco on the 23rd inst.

The returns show that Gov. Richardson spent $6086.14 at the primaries and $431.15 at the final election; Congressman Lineberger spent $1740.28 at the primaries and $2481.70 at the general.

The State election law does not limit expenditures at the primary, but at the final election allows candidates for States offices to expend $2000, Congressional candidates, $750; State Senators, $200, and Assemblymen, $100.

While Congressman Lineberger's expenditures at the general election exceeded the limit allowed by the State law, Secretary Jordan explained that the Federal statutes allow Congressmen to spend $5000.

Among the expenditures of local candidates listed were those of Edward Winterer, who, in opposing Senator Charles W. Lyon at the primaries, spent $2240.25, and Judge Frederick W. Houser of the District Court of Appeals, who spent $9967.78 in the primary.

Senator Johnson expended $3750 in the primaries and $271.53 at the finals.

Actress Upheld in Refusal to Pay Commission

Support to the contentions of Pauline Frederick, motion-picture actress, that she never agreed to pay George Josephs, New York attorney, a commission for landing her a contract with the Robertson-Cole Company, was obtained yesterday in a deposition made in Superior Court by R. S. Cole of that company.

In his deposition, Mr. Cole asserted that his company had paid Josephs $2500 to come West for the purpose of making the contract with Miss Frederick, with the agreement of an additional $2500 to be paid in case the contract was signed. At the same time, he said, the company had offered a similar sum for completion of a contract will Nazimova, another motion-picture actress.

Josephs has brought suit against Miss Frederick, averring that the actress promised him a commission for completion of her contract with the Robertson-Cole Company. This Miss Frederick denies, and has filed a countersuit to compel Josephs to pay back money which she charges was not due him.

UNAPPALLED BY MARITAL WRECKS

Bride on Third Venture; Groom Second

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Balston

Undaunted by previous marital misadventures, Mrs. Ethel Naomi Lyons, whose marriage to Lieut. Leonard LeBaron Lyons, Jr., of the United States Navy, was annulled Thursday, late yesterday afternoon embarked on her third matrimonial voyage with Frank W. Balston.

John L. Richardson and his wife were witnesses of the affair. Mr. Balston is the same person to whom a license was issued to wed Mrs. Lyons on January 11 last. The fact that this license had never been returned led detectives to undertake an investigation after Lieut. Lyon's suit for annulment had been brought.

A shadow was cast over the ceremony yesterday by the fact that an indictment has been returned against Mrs. Lyons on a charge of extortion in connection with one of her previous affairs.

This marriage is the third for Mrs. Lyons, and the second for Balston. She is 24 years of age and he is 30.

The annulment of Lieut. Lyons's marriage was made on the ground that Mrs. Lyons had falsely represented to him that she was a native of Louisville, Ky., a member of the Roman Catholic Church and a widow of a lieutenant-commander in the Navy, none of which statements was true, according to the court's finding.

May File Counter-Suit Against Star; Says Story Would Startle Film World

"A story that will astound the cinema fans of America will be unfolded if I decide to start a counter-suit for divorce," said Allen Burton Hawley of Albany, N. Y., in an interview there yesterday.

This was the first reaction of Hawley when news of the divorce action started in this city by his wife, the beautiful Wanda Hawley, film star, first reached him. Hawley is the son of an old Albany family, and a graduate of the Albany Boys Academy, one of the oldest and most exclusive military institutions in New York State.

"I am certainly surprised she has the nerve to start anything," asserted Hawley. "None of our friends would have been surprised had I started a suit against her

CHINATOWN MOURNS FRIEND

Christian Services Mark Passing of Quan Man Foo; Victim of Crazed Murderer

Quan Man Foo, the Chinese storekeeper, philanthropist and arbiter of tong wars, shot to death last Tuesday, was a Christian, and so the funeral services yesterday were conducted by Rev. J. Y. Lee, a Chinese Presbyterian minister. The Broadway Christian Church was almost filled with members of the Four Families, the dead man's relations and his friends in plenty.

The ceremonies were a curious mixture of the American and the Chinese. In the setting of the American church were placards of Chinese writing, and in the pews sat young Chinese in European clothes and old ones in their native dress. A brass band headed the funeral procession through Chinatown after the services. The body was placed in a vault to await shipment to China, and this morning the funeral feasts, which will be quite pagan Chinese in their color, will begin in Chinatown and last several days. Quan Man Foo was California born, a Christian, but still in everything a Chinese.

Quan Man Foo was the local head of the Four Families, which is not one of the warring tongs. He was perhaps the most influential Chinese in this city, and he used his power for the welfare of his people. He was generous to a fault, say his friends, and the police found him their ever-ready ally. Many times Quan Man Foo used his influence to stop tong wars, and he seldom failed. Lieut. James Lyons of the Chinatown police detail, attended the services, and deeply mourned the passing of his Chinese ally.

Quan Man Foo left a widow and three children, one a lad 6 years of age. The bereaved ones wore white mourning gowns, after the Chinese fashion, the women with white veils hiding their faces. The widow was preceded into the church by a grown daughter. The younger woman stooped almost double and chanted a Chinese funeral dirge as she walked, and the widow behind her wept bitterly but not exceeding in grief the 6-year-old trotting behind. Quan Man Foo, unlike so many other public benefactors, never forgot the welfare of his own.

Wreaths and flowers in great number were banked back of the casket and about the pulpit, and one of the largest of them bore a ribbon with "Chinatown Police" on it.

There was singing in English by an American man and woman, which the older Chinese did not understand, and prayers and preaching in the Cantonese dialect by the Chinese minister, which everyone understood except the Americans present, who included some friends of the murdered man.

WHERE SCHOOL FAILS IS TOLD

Dr. Von KleinSmid Speaks to Methodist Churchmen

Education Which Neglects Soul Called Lacking

San Francisco Area Council in Meeting Here

Education that develops only the mind, neglecting the soul and disregarding those finer attributes that make for Christian citizenship, is a sad failure, defeating its own ends, according to an opinion voiced by Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid in an address given yesterday morning at the University Methodist Church before the delegates to the Council of the San Francisco Area of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Dr. Von KleinSmid spoke at length of the educational purposes of the University of Southern California, saying, among other things, that that institution has become an incubator for American ideals and not merely a home for vocational and technical training.

The principal aim of the university, said the speaker, is to turn out broad-gauged, cultured men and women who shall be a credit to society because they are useful, not only from the so-called practical standpoint, but from the standpoint of true culture which includes character as well as knowledge.

Pointing to the fact that the university includes in its enrollment ambitious students from thirty-eight States of the Union and from twenty foreign countries, Dr. Von KleinSmid said that the opening of the college of medicine next September will doubtless be the means of drawing to Los Angeles hundreds of other students from various parts of the world.

The general theme of the morning session was "Educational Opportunities of the San Francisco Area" and among the speakers were Rev. John F. Fisher, dean of the Maclay School of Religion and Rev. Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific. President Knoles, who was graduated from the University of Southern California in 1906, spoke briefly of the value to America of the smaller colleges and of the importance of those institutions in the development of American citizens.

Rev. Mr. Fisher spoke on the necessity for training for ministers of the Gospel, saying that for effective preaching something more than inspiration is needed and that "that something" is education and a knowledge of thebest methods of service.

After a luncheon given to the delegates at noon, at the University Cafe, the department institutes were conducted, with Bishop Adna Wright Leonard in general charge.

CHRISTIANITY INDICTED

A sweeping indictment of organized Christianity was contained in an address given at the University Church in the morning by Dr. L. E. Lovejoy of Chicago who said that church contributions have not kept pace with the advancing spirit of the times in the United States.

"Many rich farmers and merchant princes are contributing little more to the starving world than their pioneer forefathers gave in the days of struggle and poverty," said Dr. Lovejoy. "Less than a postage stamp a day is the average Methodist contribution to the redemption of the world."

Among other prominent speakers yesterday morning were Dr. M. W. Ehnes, Rev. Allan MacRossie and D. C. O. Colegrove. The conference closed last night with a devotional service and addresses by Bishops A. W. Leonard and W. O. Shepard.

Bishop Sheperd and Dr. Guthrie were the principal speakers at the last session of the two-day meeting of the Council of the San Francisco Area of the Methodist Episcopal Church last night at the Bovard Auditorium, University of Southern California.

Dr. Guthrie, who is the general secretary of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church, told of the need of religious work among the young people of Europe. In his recent trip to the continent he says he found the spirit of hostility every where and no nation trusts another. Only among the young people may the real desire for peace be found and they are not united by any bonds which enable them to make their influence felt. The greatest need of the day, he said, are young people of this country to go as evangelists to the European countries.

In the closing address, Bishop Sheperd of the Portland Area spoke of the greatness of life through its investments and on to the life eternal. Bishop Leonard said a few words in closing and the report of the Committee on Findings was read.

UNFORGIVABLE SIN CHARGED BY WIFE

The unforgivable sin for a husband, according to Mrs. Bertha M. Berg's way of thinking, is that committed when the husband refuses to buy flowers for the funeral of his wife's relative.

This failure was made the subject of a divorce complaint filed by Mrs. Berg against Thomas Berg yesterday. She declares that when her husband came home intoxicated every Saturday night and slept out in front of the house through Sunday it was bad enough, but when he refused to buy flowers for the funeral of her sister it was entirely too much.

MAYOR SPEAKER AT STUDY CLUB

Women Honor Memory of H. Z. Osborne

Reapportionment is Topic of Gathering

San Franciscan at Meeting for Fair Play

BY MYRA NYE

The memory of Representative Osborne, who died Thursday after an illness of several months, was honored yesterday at the regular meeting of the Republican Study Club at the Angelus Hotel.

The large group of representative women rose to their feet and stood while the president, Mrs Florence Collison Porter, read resolutions attesting to the deep gratitude of the club for the encouragement and aid Mr. Osborne had always extended to the members, his loyalty to the same cause for which the club was organized, his unfailing good citizenship, and the sterling worth of his character.

The after-luncheon session was given over entirely to the question of State reapportionment, with Mayor Cryer as the chief speaker. Nearly half of those present joined in the discussion that followed.

The Mayor presented reasons for reapportionment, all of which he said came under two main heads —that it was legal and that it was just. To fail to do it was illegal as far as State ideas were concerned, and unfair and in opposition to American principles of representative government.

SEES BUT ONE WAY

"No member of the Legislature should draw his per diem or expenses if the explicit provision of the constitution is not complied with in March," he said. "Every member has given his oath to sustain the State constitution, and in view of this I cannot see how any member, either of the North or of the South, can so violate his sworn word as to vote against the strict mandate as laid down in Article IV, Section VI."

The Mayor then read that portion of the constitution wherein it sets forth that there shall be forty Senatorial districts and eighty Assembly districts, with a division as equal in population as may be, and the further provision that if, after a census, there is an inequality there shall be reapportionment.

"Clearly this was the duty of the last Legislature after the census of 1920. Since they failed, it is incumbent upon the present one to comply with the constitution. In case they fail to act the matter should be referred to the people, and failing that, an initiative petition should be presented by the people," the Mayor stated. This was his answer to questions from the floor.

The Mayor said he had heard only two arguments against the proposition: One that since the United States had not reapportioned California for Congress, it should not be for its own Legislature. This, he said, could be easily answered with the old "two wrongs never made a right," and the other made by State Senator McDonald of the North, who was quoted as saying he would not vote for reapportionment because his district would lose thereby.

"This is manifestly absurd," said the Mayor. "The constitution distinctly states that the reason for reapportionment is because of a loss of population in one part of the State and an increase in another." And for the Senator's statement that he would never vote for any measure that did not "give San Francisco the best of it," Mayor Cryer said that such a man had no place in making the laws for the whole State.

The discussion of the jealousy of the North for the South which this awakened was cut short with considerable consternation when it was discovered that one of the guests of honor, Mrs. M. S. Bullard, a prominent Republican, was from San Francisco. She was warmly applauded when she broke in upon the discussion and said:

"I am a native daughter. I was born in San Francisco and I live there now. But I love the whole State; I love Los Angeles. As a native daughter I share with you a pride in it. But now my fear is that all this agitation about reapportionment will prove a boomerang and cause the division of our beautiful State. In fact I have been informed in the North that there the politicians are working for this very thing under cover of reapportionment talk.

"This would be a great calamity. For my part I am for reapportionment, and all of those whom I know are also. I believe in all fairness that Los Angeles county should have a great representation, and such I am sure would not harm San Francisco. But in bringing this about we must not allow the division of California.

"California is great in proportion to her length. Both the North and South must become broader," said Mrs. Cora Deal Lewis. "We must not be divided, but we must have reapportionment."

Letters were read by the secretary, Mrs. Ida Koveman, from Frank C. Weller of the Sixty-first district in which he said he had received the resolutions from the club indorsing reapportionment and read them with great satisfaction. He promised to do all in his power to aid in what he said would be a stiff fight. A letter from Frank C. Merriam of the Seventieth district was to the same effect, and one from Mrs. Nellie Brewer Pierce, recently appointed by the Governor as a member of the State Board of Control in charge of the budget. She wrote of her great interest in reapportionment.

Ms. Frank A. Kelly in her current politics lauded the record of Warren G. Harding as President, and called the attention of the club to the fact that at last all rumor that he would not run for a second term was disquieted. He is, she said, a candidate to succeed himmself.

POET'S SON GIVEN DIVORCE

Hardin Masters Wins Action Brought in Chicago on Grounds of Desertion; "Good News," Says Wife

The last chapter of the romance of Mrs. Thelma Kenyon Masters of 1550 Salamanda street, Los Angeles, who married Hardin W. Masters, son of Edgar Lee Masters, the famous poet, after a six weeks acquaintanceship and left him on the wedding day, was written today when Masters was granted a divorce in Chicago on the grounds of desertion.

"That's news to me" said Mrs. Masters when told her husband had been granted a divorce, "but it is good news because the whole affair was a mistake and I don't think either of us realized the seriousness of the step we took. Mr. Masters has always been very kind and the marriage was more of an escapade, the seriousness of which I realized as soon as the ceremony was performed and I learned my husband had no way to take care of a wife. We have not seen each other since."

The young couple met at a summer cottage at Spring Lake, Mich., in 1920 when Masters was 21 years of age and his bride was 18. They were married on October 4 the same year and according to Mrs. Masters her husband had no plans for the future and no place to take her, so she left with her mother the same day for Los Angeles until other arrangements could be made.

Masters testified that his wife deserted him without cause and he had always treated her kindly. There was no disagreement of any kind, according to Mrs. Masters, except that her husband never came for her as was expected after he got settled and they have never been reunited since their wedding day.

Mrs. Masters is a direct descendant of Georgianna, Duchess of Devonshire, a famous beauty in her day. Masters is at present connected with a broker's office in Chicago.

BRITAIN'S BEST KISSER IS HERE

under the tutelage of Sir Herbert and Lady Beerbohm Tree, has prepared Miss Miller for the position she occupies now on the English stage. Her first appearance, at the age of 16, came not so long after she had left a French convent, and took place at Berlin, where the Trees were appearing in Shakespeare.

At this time the Kaiser ordered a command performance of the company at Potsdam and Miss Miller appeared in the cast. She then played for several years at Her Majesty's Theater in London before becoming an actress-manager and securing the Garrick as her own house.

In addition to Sir Herbert Tree, she has played opposite Sir Gerald du Maurier, Sir Charles Hawtrey and the late Sir George Alexander.

And in spite of this, Miss Miller is apparently very young. She is slight, has red hair and dresses, by virtue of the magic radio and fast steamships, in the latest Paris styles.

"My dressmaker," she says, "always sends them at least six months before they are released in the stores."

VICE-PRINCIPAL RESIGNS

Resignation of Louis Foley as the boys' vice-principal at Hollywood High School after six years in the Hollywood mathematics department, was announced at assembly yesterday by Dr. William H. Snyder, principal. Mr. Foley will become vice-principal at Le Conte Junior High School.

WANDA'S MATE IS INCENSED

but her action is a great piece of affrontery."

Hawley revealed yesterday that he had left his wife at Hollywood Oct. 12, 1922, after a dramatic scene during which the blonde, blue-eyed motion-picture star told him that her love for him had "grown cold."

When it was explained to Hawley that his wife asserted in her suit that he did not support her and refused to work, he replied:

"We lived for some months on my salary as an employee of the New York Telephone Company, and I had every reason to believe my prospects with that company were excellent. Wanda, however, soon after our marriage began to get the motion-picture actress idea in her head and in the spring of 1917 went with the Fox Corporation.

"That summer she received an offer to go to California to make pictures and after some discussion I agreed to give up my position and prospects to accompany her. Shortly after our arrival in Hollywood I was drafted for the Army and served ten or eleven months. Upon my return to civil life, I started a garage in Hollywood and also entered the real estate business.

"I continued both these businesses up to the time of my departure from Hollywood last fall, and with every motion-picture magazine in the country carrying pictures of my garage in Hollywood as they have at some time or another, Wanda's charges of nonsupport and my asserted failure to work seem rather absurd."

Hawley also entered an emphatic denial of all the other charges his wife has brought in her suit.

Wanda Hawley's romance with her husband began eight years ago in Troy, N. Y., when she first met her husband, through his sister, Selma Pittack, as she was known at that time, arrived in Troy to pursue studies in voice culture. She met Hawley through an introduction by his sister, who also was studying voice culture in the summer of 1915. Mutual admiration blossomed into love and they were married in New York City the following year, Sept. 16, 1916.

Mrs. Hawley is a native of Scranton, Pa. Hawley is now visiting his sister in Albany. He would not say how soon it would be before he determined whether to start a counter suit against his wife, who is now in Europe.

CHARITIES DRIVE PURPOSE TOLD

rection of the bureau is Catholic, it knows in the scope of its charity no difference in creed or nationality. The outcast Samaritan, as well as the Gentile and the Jew, is the object of its solicitous care.

ORPHANS CARED FOR

"The annual report, now in the hands of the public, shows a very large amount of money spent on the care of orphans and abandoned children. Thanks to a number of generous workers, the overhead expense has been very small. The appeal, therefore, is in the interests of the fatherless and motherless, and those who have never known the sweet name of home. The care of the less fortunate members of the community is characteristic of the highest civilization. The poor are always with us. The most blessed task of church or city is to be solicitous in the care of those who totter from old age or helpless youth. A community that takes no heed of its poor cannot expect to be blessed of Almighty God. He promises, on the other hand, that not a cup of cold water given in charity will pass unrewarded. He wishes that the just man see in the poor who gather at his gates the very person of Christ.

TASK IS GREAT

"Our glorious city, the mecca of so many thousands, has a big task to provide the necessities and the comforts for those within its gates. Its very growth intensifies, too, the labors of charitable organizations. While we grow apace and put up buildings of trade and commerce, we must not close our eyes to the cry that comes to us from the needy. Los Angeles would not be a pleasant community in which to live in the hearts of our citizens in prosperity should grow hard and callous. As should learn the joy of giving, and the consolation that the just man feels in sharing with the poor the bountiful things that come to us from the hands of the creator.

IDEAL HELD UP

"We are interested in the material growth and the beautification of our city and its environs. We rejoice in the growing crops and in the full harvests. We are interested in the care of the dumb animals. Of much more value than all these, are the little children who strive to see, in those who pass by, the woman's tender care and the man's strong solicitude. While we should not leave the former things undone and cease to develop, we should take heed that the latter engross our attention. Los Angeles does not desire to perpetuate in generous California the indifference, the selfishness, and the vices of other great communities, which, while building up great monuments of industry and finance, leave the poor hungry and naked and friendless.

BISHOP APPEALS

"At the opening, therefore, of this drive, I respectfully appeal to our fellow-citizens, irrespective of creed, to help the noble band of men and women who, in working for the poor and for the orphan, are doing a real constructive work in the community. They teach the poor that the possession of wealth is a trusteeship, and that the well-to-do have consideration for those who are in distress. In these charity drives that come to us from time to time there is a unifying principle that is well for us to intensify. We may differ in many things: in taste, in politics, in beliefs, but in the loving care of the children and in the reconstruction of the poor there is found a unity of thought, unity of sympathy and unity of love."

CASE IS CONTINUED

When it appeared likely that an agreement may be reached between the contesting parties, the case of Louise Fraley against Thomas Bouchard was continued until the 23rd inst. when it came up for trial in Justice Benjamin C. Strand's court yesterday afternoon. Bouchard is charged with non-support of an illegitimate child.

Clear weather after midforenoon yesterday was the order in Los Angeles, with prediction of more of the same for today. Rain in varying quantities was general Thursday night in Southern California, though the Weather Bureau last night reported clearing weather in eastern districts.

Los Angeles woke to clouds and light showers yesterday morning, with the temperature at the shivering point, but early in the forenoon a welcome sun broke through, though the mercury stubbornly refused all day to go higher than 54.

Snow fell at many points in the San Joaquin Valley yesterday. Sanger, fourteen miles from Fresno, reported two inches. There was an inch at Orange Cove. Many Dinuba children played in the white mantle for the first time in their lives. There was a half-inch fall at Parlier, an inch at Del Rey, and a trace at Reedley.

Fresno reported clearing weather late yesterday, and the Weather Bureau stated that a storm headed that way from the south had swung off into Nevada. The forecast was for a cold night with heavy frost.

The Weather Bureau at San Francisco predicted fair weather for that city today. Rain, hail, and snow fell there Thursday night and yesterday morning, with snow in the higher places of the Berkeley hills and on Mt. Tamalpais.

Vallejo and San Jose also reported snow. Heavy snowfall was reported at Summit, Redding, Red Bluff, and in the Yosemite Valley.

For the second time within a week the San Bernardino Mountains were yesterday covered with heavy snows, extending far down to the foothills. In the mountains the snow again blocked all roads to winter resorts.

Frost warnings were sounded in numerous places last night. San Bernardino reported clear, cold weather in mid-evening, and there was smudging in exposed places. Pomona had a prediction of 28 as a minimum temperature for the night. Ranchers there were not worried, though there was some smudging in lemon groves in exposed places.

a loyal citizen and the municipality which he dearly loved, a staunch citizen and an advocate of all that was good for the upbuilding of the community and the family a devoted husband and father.

Now therefore—be it resolved that out of respect to the memory of said H. Z. Osborne that this memorial be spread upon the Council minutes of this session, a copy of same forwarded to the family of the deceased, and as a further tribute that the Council of the city of Los Angeles do now adjourn out of respect to his memory.

Attesting to the high esteem in which Congressman Osborne was held at home and abroad letters of sympathy and telegrams continue to come into the Osborne home in seemingly endless numbers. These letters and communications come from peoples in all walks of life.

Men and women of every class, civic and fraternal organizations and politicians of every party in California have completed all arrangements to pay tribute the memory of the distinguished dead.

To the very last and until he lapsed into peaceful final slumber, Congressman Osborne's mind was clear. Members of the immediate family testify that uppermost in his thoughts was his legislative duties to his district. Almost until the end came he expressed concern for every piece of legislation in Congress in which Southern California is interested.

the dancing master who remonstrated with her. "These funny stockings make my legs look so fat!"

It took the combined efforts of the dancing master, Mr. Belcher, the photographer and the rest of the club members to achieve her presence on the stage and to reassure her that her scruples were based upon wholly imaginary grounds.

Miss MacAvoy explained that the purpose of the club is purely a social one. "The dancing lessons are merely a part of our 'keeping-fit' program and to help us achieve dignity and poise in our work and also to obviate the necessity of using a double in pictures which demand a dancing part.

"Our Club was originally destined to be a pretentious affair with a club house n'everything. It now has simmered down to the group of faithfuls which comprise its present membership and with which the club is quite content.

"We have no high aims or objectives," said Miss Mac Avoy, "we simply meet once a week to help each other and because we enjoy each other's society and believe that thorough discussion of our common problems we can be of mutual help."

That the road to grace and poise is not a bed of roses was apparent, as Miss Mac Avoy, panting from the strenuous efforts of the dancing lesson, outlined the plan of the club. This is but one of the many more or less arduous roads that these stars and budding stars must travel to achieve fame in their chosen profession, from all the signs and presages.

ASKS RELEASE OF DRY AGENTS

Federal Attorney Moves in Behalf of Accused

Justice Refuses Plea Made for Officers

Another Arrest Promised in D'Aiuto Case

The request for dismissal made by U. S. Attorney Mark Herron, defending F. C. Neal and C. H. Wheeler, Federal prohibition agents, accused of assault on Mrs. Margarita D'Aiuto, was held up by Justice Scott until today in order to allow the prosecution to present another witness.

Indicating that he was prepared to fight the case to a finish in the justice court, Attorney Herron placed on the stand Clarence A. Parker, the third of the Federal agents participating in the raid at which the assault is said to have taken place.

Parker, who, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClelland, will be made a defendant in the same action on a warrant to be issued this morning, told of the happenings during the raid. He said that D'Aiuto was hit only once, when he retaliated to D'Auito's blows in order to place his hands on him, and accomplish the arrest. He refuted the testimony given by witnesses for the prosecution, saying that Mrs. D'Aiuto was handled as gently as possible and only the force necessary to separate her from her husband was used.

POLICEMAN TO TESTIFY

The final witness for the prosecution, Patrolman Harry Wilde, who was attracted to the scene by the noise, could not be found yesterday. He will go on the stand this morning and the decision of the court as to the dismissal will probably follow. In case the charge is dismissed, it will be at once refiled, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Thomas McClelland.

Other witnesses for the prosecution were Stella Mortorana, sister-in-law of Mrs. D'Aiuto, Marie Celiano and several other neighbors and eyewitnesses of the asserted assault. Their testimony was, in nearly every case, the same. Each told of having heard loud voices, cries and in some cases curses. They all told of having seen Joseph D'Aiuto dragged into the yard, where a scuffle occurred following which Mrs. D'Aiuto was kicked in the stomach.

U. S. Attorney Herron gave the witnesses a severe cross-examination, but was unable to shake the testimony. He contended, however, in spite of the authorities presented this morning by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClelland and Burton following a request for them by Justice Scott, that the establishment of a case of assault had not been made.

MINISTERS ATTEND

Witnesses for the defense will take the stand this morning. It is understood that the defendants themselves will testify as to their freedom of all malice during the arrest. They say that the force used was necessary to overcome the resistance offered by D'Aiuto to arrest.

Among the spectators this morning were several members of the ministerial corps of the city. No opinion was offered by any one of the group, nor did the members make known their purpose in being present at the hearing. It was not learned whether or not they came as individuals or whether they came as the accredited representatives of one of the church organizations, which has been cooperating with authorities in enforcement of the dry laws.

Frequent verbal exchanges took place between Defense Attorney Herron and Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClelland. In one case Attorney McClelland called the attention of the court to an instance of contempt that took place at the closing of the morning session, when F. C. Neal, one of the defendants, demanded that Attorney McClelland file perjury charges against a witness who at that moment was within hearing.

Neal was reproved by the court and told that any further indiscretion of the sort would result in a fine.

of sterling worth and both these meanings fitted last night's regular de luxe radio concert. Looking at the program as a whole, it was evenly balanced and carried appeal to fastidious listeners.

For the most part, the artists participating appeared through the courtesy of Leah Morgan Brown, mezzo-soprano, and soloist at the Mesa Congregational Church. Though educated in the East, Mrs. Brown's voice was discovered in Los Angeles while on a long visit to the Southland several years ago. Since that time she has studied in Texas and Boston and has appeared successfully in various parts of the United States, recently coming to Los Angeles to make this city her home. Clearly intoned and of charming quality, Mrs. Brown's voice was heard in four solos, all to the accompaniment of Mrs. F. J. Schwankosky, formerly of the faculty of the University of Michigan school of music, and accompanist to the Choral Union, with the exception of one number in which Stewart Beatty accompanied Mrs. Brown at the piano, and Emil Sasina played a violin obligato.

Questions and Answers

Q. May subscriptions be paid to agents or carriers?
A. No. All subscription payments must be sent direct to the Play-Goers Revue, Los Angeles Times, in order to count.
Q. Do the pictures represent scenes from plays, or do they have any bearing on the plot?
A. No. The pictures are drawn to represent only TITLES of stage plays.
Q. Must three titles be given for each picture?
A. It is to the participants' advantage to do so, as the prizes will be given for the HIGHEST number of BEST titles.
Q. Is it too late to enter now
A. Anyone may enter up to the last day. It is best, however, to allow yourself ample time to pick titles by starting NOW.

With a copy of the "Book of Plays" anybody can select their best titles each day. Just scan the list, pick out the titles you think are most suitable and write them on the daily title coupons. That's all you have to do.

Nearly 1500 titles are listed. The book contains 40 pages. All the titles that can win you a prize are in it.

The "Book of Plays" may be purchased at The Times, Main Office, Circulation Counter, or Branch Office, 521 South Spring Street, or it will be sent postpaid anywhere immediately upon receipt of 10 cents (coin or stamps.) Send for YOUR copy—TODAY—this very minute—and follow the Play-Goers Revue to a big cash prize. Use the coupon below.

How to Pick Your Titles

Participants are urged to give THREE titles for each picture. At the close of the Revue, the committee of judges will examine the titles submitted. When two or more persons have the same number of best titles in the FIRST choice, the SECOND choices will be judged. Hence it is obvious that participants who give THREE choices for each picture have an advantage over those who give only one or two choices. The sets with three choices will take precedence, as it is the HIGHEST number of best titles that will decide the winners.

If you are unable to think of more than one title for a picture, get a copy of the "Book of Plays" (see right side of this advertisement.) This book contains nearly 1500 titles and ALL the winning titles are listed therein.

In sending your subscription, either now or at the close of the Revue, to qualify for the prizes, be sure to send it direct to the Play-Goers' Revue. Do not pay Times agents or carriers. Every set of title coupons submitted at the close of the Revue must be accompanied either by a 3-months' or 12-months' subscription, paid in advance, or by the "auxiliary receipt" showing the subscription was sent in during the Revue.

2. The Revue comprises a series of thirty pictures—one to appear in The Times each day, January 31 to February 19, 1923, inclusive—representing the titles of plays that have appeared on the stage. CONQUESTS

A man boasting of a feminine conquest—a species not altogether rare in Los Angeles—is a good deal like a fish boasting of the hook it has captured.

ARCHIBALD LIKE HIRAM

Archibald M. Johnson, son of Senator Hiram, has issued a statement denying the assertion of an Assemblyman that he failed to render sufficient service as a legal adviser to the State oil and gas department during his six weeks' honeymoon to justify his salary during that time. Despite the nomenclatural gulf between "Archibald" and "Hiram" young Johnson appears to be a true son of his father, who never yet has been excelled as either a claimer or a denier.

GIRLISH GIRLS

Pomona high-school girls have declared war on cosmetics. Rouge and lipsticks are to be taboo, they say, and they have solemnly agreed to no longer pick on their poor, defenseless eyebrows.

It is hard to conceive of such puritanical notions in these advanced times. One can but wonder if the girls are really going to take such drastic steps. Can it be that the girls are no longer going to overawe their objecting parents with assurances that they are years behind the times and "all the best people are doing it now," when they doll up as, to speak more accurately, all the worst people are doing?

Can it be, in short, that Pomona girls are going to act like girls again, instead of like faded old women who still are striving to affect youth and must resort to artificial means to do it? For, after all, the one reason why those who set the fads for painting resort to it is to try to bring back by art the semblance of lost youth and bloom.

If this be so, the high-school girls of Pomona seem to be learning a good deal more than some other high-school girls are.

MAN OF THE HOUR

Gov. Richardson has listened to some of the roars that arise from politicians who are being pushed away from the trough. He has heard wails from many of those to whom his economic budget brought tragedy. It was pitiful and harrowing. But now another cry comes to his ears. It carries a different note. It is largely made up of the cheers of his fellow-man. Faithful old Taxpayer is calling him up on the phone or using his fountain pen to congratulate the Governor on his courage in keeping his word to make a substantial cut in State expenses. It should not create a sensation when a man does what he says he will do, but in politics it becomes wonderful. The ear of the people becomes attuned to promises, but the masses are not always expectant of performance. The situation is, indeed, so unusual that the voters cannot refrain from telling the Governor about it. Mostly it is an incoherent tale of dumb admiration. They are not used to it. They are afraid the alarm clock will wake them up and prove it a dream. In the meantime the new Governor is receiving heartfelt applause from the voters and there is hope that his courage will endure.

GOOD AND FAITHFUL SERVANT

Henry Z. Osborne, California's veteran Congressman, has passed away from the scenes of manifold and untiring labors on behalf of his country, his State and his city to receive that higher reward for work well done and service loyally rendered.

He leaves behind him a gap in the circle of friends, in the business life of this city and in the council chambers of the nation it will be difficult to fill.

Fresh in the memory of his constituents are the unflagging efforts he put forth, as chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, to secure for the port of Los Angeles adequate support from the Federal government.

Bright in the war records of the nation shine the patriotic assistance he gave, ungrudgingly and without stint, to a Democratic administration, when the country's need called for a sinking of party spirit.

High in the annals of Republican achievement his friends and colleagues will ever rank his stalwart championship of the bedrock principles, on which grounded the structure of the Grand Old Party cannot be shaken.

Gratefully in the hearts of his family and his close associates will he be remembered as one who was always ready and willing to offer advice and assistance.

Henry Osborne had the unique distinction of being the last Civil War veteran to sit in the national Congress, serving with honor through the last campaign in the Shenandoah Valley as private in the gallant One Hundred and Ninety-second Volunteer Infantry.

Soldier, journalist, statesman, his name stands high among those of the unforgettable dead connected by the ties of service with the growth and glory of the State of California.

With the thousands who today are lamenting our common loss The Times lays its tribute of laurel leaves on the coffin of one who in life this journal delighted to honor and support—adding simply the greater tribute:

"Well done, good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

DOLLARS AND MEN

While the last thousand of the American expeditionary forces have returned from Europe, the first billion of our American dollars have yet to find their way back.

Perhaps it would have been wiser if we had kept our dollars, like our troops, under American commanders.

Great Britain alone of our foreign debtors is so adjusting its budget that it will be able to meet payments on the loan as they fall due. We are not inclined to wax effusive over this, because it is only what we expected. The money which was loaned to the British government did not come primarily from the Federal treasury. The funds were those of the American people, loaned to their government for a specific purpose.

Anglo-Saxons have always been mindful of their business obligations. They regard it only a shade less dishonorable to welch than to steal. They distinguish between a gift and a loan. They regard one who dishonors his signature as lacking in character. And, in their eyes, honor is like virtue; once tarnished it can never be cleansed.

England is hard pressed financially. Her economic system was badly shattered by the World War. Her people are heavier taxed than those of any other country. The proportion of taxation to earnings is about three times that of France.

But English credit, like that of America, has sustained the shock of the war. The English pound is again approaching par. The world has confidence in England—because England pays. In the light of her example the new generation sees that "honesty is the best policy."

Some concessions have been made by our government in relation to extension of time and rates of interest. It is generous and it is just. A humane creditor has some regard for the financial condition of the debtor. We are not a nation of Shylocks.

No good purpose would be served by blinding ourselves to the fact that, while the pound is going up, the franc is going down. The confidence felt in British credit does not extend across the channel. The shrinkage in exchange value of French currency since the French troops entered the Ruhr is something like $1,000,000,000.

But a little more than a year ago ten francs would buy an American dollar. That same dollar will now purchase about seventeen francs. France is spending more money on her army than any other nation in Europe. They are much more concerned about keeping it supreme than about meeting their foreign obligations; and France is our second largest debtor.

There is a considerable group in the French Chamber of Deputies that openly counsels repudiation of national debts. Somehow that policy does not seem to square with the French attitude in regard to German reparations.

No French commission has arrived in Washington to discuss ways and means for the repayment of the American loan. There has not even been a discussion in the French Chamber of a budget provision for meeting foreign collections. France is a diligent, imperious creditor, but a dilatory debtor.

Americans believe that Germany should pay, and they have no sympathy with her persistent efforts at evasion. But, if it is just that Germany should pay, it is equally just that France and Italy should pay. We do not take kindly to the ultimatum, "We will give you back your dollars when Germany gives us back our sons."

If France desired a gift and not a loan she should have made her position clear in 1917. Americans do not consider it honorable for one who has received a sum of money in exchange for a promissory note to say when the note is presented for payment, "I considered that as a gift, not as a loan."

French securities have struck a low point. French national credit has weakened almost perilously, from an economic standpoint, during the last year. Perhaps there is a lesson in England's attitude toward her foreign obligations that the French could study to their profit.

PRESIDENT FIRM ON SUBSIDY

President Harding has placed the ship subsidy bill squarely before the Senate for acceptance or rejection; he has made his determined support of the bill clear and unmistakable; there can be no escape of responsibility—those who are not for the bill are against the administration.

In connection with the matter of refunding the British debt the President brought up the losses that the nation is incurring through the present paralysis of our merchant marine service and demanded decisive action on this issue. He said:

> On the other hand, the executive branch of the government, charged with the operation of government-owned shipping, is losing the Federal Treasury $50,000,000 a year. It is as important to avoid losses as it is to secure funds on debts.
> I have detailed the discouraging situation with our shipping to Congress and have suggested what I believed to be a remedy, not only to put an end to the losses, but to upbuild an American merchant marine to meet our cherished aspirations and further our commerce abroad. Congress owes to itself, to the executive branch of the government and to the American public to take some decisive action.

The President's demand for speedy affirmative action on a bill designed to cut the nation's losses and to promote the nation's foreign commerce will receive the indorsement of all Americans who place country before party and the good of the whole above the needs of one section.

Every word of the President is backed by the opinion of Admiral Eberle as mouthpiece for the navy. America hasn't coaling stations on every ocean as has Great Britain. Our navy must depend on our merchant marine for fuel and supplies in case of war. If we have no ship subsidy we shall never have an adequate merchant marine. And if we have no merchant marine of what use having a navy?

LUST FOR BATTLE

Sometimes when one thinks how long Jack Dempsey has held the pugilistic championship without having to fight for it one is likely to conclude that there are no longer any men of nerve and daring who love a fight for its own sake. But such is not the case. Even now a Los Angeles woman suing for divorce asserts that nearly every evening her husband came home boasting of some new feminine conquest.

Bootleg!

CROSS AGAINST CRESCENT

Affairs in the Near East have reached a stage where a further avoidance of actual hostilities is hardly possible. There comes a time in international disputes when military solutions are unavoidable.

The Turks of Angora insist upon repossessing themselves of the territory in Europe once occupied by their ancestors. They are fired by the belief that, if they will take the initiative, Allah will crown their efforts with success. No people in the world hold stronger to their religious convictions. They see the sepulchers and the holy places of their illustrious dead in the possession of foreigners; and they believe that this is due to the fact that the last generation was too weak in the faith to defend them.

Kemal became greatest among them because he promised that, under his command, they could win back all that has been lost to them. They will follow him blindly only against the Christians. The troops will march under his orders against the enemy; but, if he falters, the Angora Assembly will depose him and place another at the head.

Ismet Pasha did, perhaps, at Lausanne all that was possible. He was but the agent of his government; and it was one thing to convince Ismet that it would be folly for the Turks to move against the combined western powers and quite another to persuade Angora to exercise discretion.

England and France exhausted the resources of diplomacy without inducing the Turks to abandon their imperialist aspirations. The differences between the two parties were not to be composed. The Turks demanded the whole of Thrace, they insisted upon the expulsion of foreigners from Moslem territory; they announced their intention to occupy and fortify the Dardanelles; they would give no guarantee for the protection of religious minorities.

To these terms the western powers would not agree; and it now appears that the solution will be adjourned from the council chamber to the battlefield. No one familiar with the conditions in the Near East has any doubt about the ultimate outcome. The Turks will be decisively beaten, but not without the expenditure of much ammunition and many lives. For the Turks, when fired by fanaticism, are desperate fighters. Their religious fatalism makes them fearless. Their army will be defeated only when it is destroyed.

But the Turks will be confronted by forces as resolute as their own; for three or four Balkan peoples know that they will be fighting not only for their national existence, but for the right to live. The Greeks, Jugo-Slave and Rumanians have their forces in a state of partial mobilization. The Kemalites are numerically weak. Their opponents are strong. Kemal has an army of not more than 100,000 men. The total population of Turkey in Asia is not more than 9,000,000. The three Balkan states have more than 500,000 men under arms.

It will be necessary for England and France to send few land troops; for the Balkan peoples, when united, can easily defend themselves against the Turks.

German intrigue of the war period is responsible in a large measure for the present defiant attitude of the Angora Turks. Kemal and his followers fought on the German side during the war. After the Treaty of Sevres they continued their opposition to the Allied powers. They awakened the fanaticism of the Young Turks by promising them victory; and when fanaticism is once lighted it cannot be extinguished by conversation.

It is reported that Mrs. Annie Urquhart Stillman is going into the millinery business. Them that has, gets.

WOMAN THE FIGHTER

BY HARRY BOWLING

Are not the peace advocates who rely on the influence of woman to end the reign of war reckoning without one of the oldest biological facts?

In which sex did nature implant the stronger fighting instinct—the male or the female? Which is the fiercer, father-love or mother-love?

Look into the pages of history. Remember Catherine de Medici; how, when the Austrians threatened to kill her captive children unless she surrendered the castle, she replied scornfully, defiantly, she could bring forth more children to go on fighting them.

What group so terrible as the Paris viragos of '89, seated at the foot of the guillotine, making a knot in their knitting for every head that fell into the blood-stained basket?

In the gladitorial shows of the Colosseum ask Juvenal who were always the first to point their thumbs downward? Not the men—it was the fair young daughters of Rome who set the fatal signal.

Let the Allied prisoners taken through German cities—when the war hatred had been fanned to the fiercest—tell you from whom they received the harshest evidence of that hatred. Not from the men, but from the women.

So among the Irish irregulars today the spirit of rebellion is fostered and the passion of revenge inflamed more by the daughters than by the sons of Erin. It is the women of Ireland who swear they will never forget, never forgive.

But it isn't necessary to go back into history to find out which is the fighting sex. Any man can prove it in his own city, his own neighborhood, possibly in his own home.

Who start 90 per cent of the neighborhood rows that from back-yard sarcasm finish at spite fences, slaughtered poultry, slapped children, masculine fisticuffs and actions for damages?

After the scrap is once on, it is true, man does the active part of the fighting; but who, as a rule, does the starting? Is it dad?

This being so, why look so confidently to the influence of woman to end war?

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE BACK NUMBER

I marvel much at Beeswax Jones; the thought of autos makes him sour; he drives a pair of swaybacked roans and goes about three miles an hour. He sees his neighbors whiz along in chugging vans that split the breeze, and Beeswax prods his team along, his whiskers falling to his knees.
"These cars," he says, "are evil snares, they cost so much they do not pay; my father drove two swaybacked mares; I follow where he led the way." Old Beeswax Jones is always late, he misses everything worth while; he drives his crowbaits to the gate when other men have scooped the pile. He drives along the road all day to see the circus and the clown, but all the tents are hauled away when he comes yawning into town. Time has no value in his eyes and he has all the time there is;
and men who do the moments prize in busy busses past him whiz. He sees them pass, with futile jeers, and says, "Such haste is all in vain; my grandsire drove two brindled steers and he was strictly safe and sane." Our fathers' deeds were doubtless wise, when life was calm and deadly slow, but they are dead and modern guys who wish to win must up and go.

MEN IN THE NEWS

BY RANDOLPH LEIGH

A Man Who Traded In Laughter; Also A Good Don Juan.

Among the bedraggled rabble of Spanish troops assembled in Madrid after the disastrous Spanish-American War one of the most unpromising-looking was a sallow stripling, Jacinto Benavente by name, from somewhere in the back country.

Pretty girls, moving in and out among the soldiers, somehow overlooked him, despite the fact that he made strenuous efforts to be pleasant. He observed that others around him, who assumed a haughty attitude and treated the girls with disdain, received more attention than they appeared to desire. Turning to a provincial alongside him he said: "I can make none of them notice me."

Then this reply by the now forgotten peasant: "Madrid only loves those who lash her."

Benavente took that suggestion seriously, so seriously, indeed, that it finally brought him the 1922 Nobel prize and established his reputation as one of the greatest dramatis. in the history of the Spanish people.

For the method of Benavente has been to lash out mercilessly in his plays and writings. Beginning by attacking the corrupt political regime which had brought his nation to such a low ebb, he soon found that only one instrument served his purpose—satire.

In those days he worked in obscurity, writing for the impoverished newspapers of that time for a livelihood. On each wall of his dingy room he placed a motto, the same motto in each case, by the way. It read: "Everything dies; only laughter survives."

Fame, however, did not come overnight to Benavente. He was long ignored and later hated, only in recent years becoming widely popular.

One thing that worked against his advancement was the very talent which eventually set him apart. He could summarize a point of view in a phrase and do it so neatly that it would pass out into the common talk of the street. Thus men often failed to give him credit for an epigram which he had so adroitly chiseled that the general public regarded it as part of the common heritage of ironical sayings.

In many instances his plays, which fairly bristle with unforgettable phrases, are cast in such a mold of psychoanalysis that the audience is given the impression that the dramatist is analyzing expressions already well-known, instead of creating gems of thought.

In some cases his [illegible] completely outrage[illegible] and the general [illegible] plays that he, the [illegible] handler of phrases [illegible] often charged with [illegible] had, you see, [illegible] the common thoroughfare [illegible] and when these who [illegible] their source) had made them at dinner parties [illegible] them at the theater or [illegible] under his name in the [illegible] they denounced him as a [illegible]

HENRY Z. OSBORNE

BY ARTHUR W. KINNEY,
Former President Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce

With the passing of Congressman Henry Z. Osborne Los Angeles has lost one of its foremost citizens and the nation one of its most efficient and valuable representatives.

Let the hundreds of thousands who live in our wonderful city and who have witnessed year after year its marvelous upbuilding take heed of the departure of this genial and lovable fellow-worker—this doer of big things for Los Angeles. Let them pause for a moment in the great activities that engross them on every hand and pay some tribute of honor and regard to this man among men.

While but a mere boy Capt. Osborne served his country gloriously in the long-drawn struggle between the North and the South. His later years have been rich in service to his country in various capacities, notably in the halls of Congress, where, during the recent great war of the nations and the peace period following, his counsel and efforts were those of the highest type of a patriotic American. At the time of his passing he was the only Union soldier holding a seat in the national lawmaking body.

Capt. Osborne's years have been filled with many constructive labors and high honors worthily bestowed. By profession a journalist, he edited for many years the oldest newspaper in Los Angeles, one of the pioneer journals of the Pacific Southwest. Its policy was always one of dignity, patriotism and progress.

As the representative here from time to time of our government in various executive offices he always served with fidelity and credit. Time and again encomiums were heaped upon him by the heads of the departments at Washington.

While Capt. Osborne was always a staunch Republican, he at all times commanded the confidence and respect of the opposition party. It will be remembered that more than once his candidacy for Congress was practically unopposed, he having received the nomination of both the great political parties.

During a large part of the time that he served as Congressman the administration was in the hands of the Democratic party. So conscientious, however, were his efforts and so pleasing his personality that he never failed to gain sympathy for the needs of this growing region and he was enabled thereby to secure favorable action for his measures at all times. During the war period the writer spent some little time working with him in Washington and he found that our representative had the friendship of every man there who occupied a position of influence.

His accomplishments for the development of Los Angeles Harbor will ever be remembered with gratitude by our people and stamp him as one of the most influential and effective legislators ever sent by Southern California to the national capital.

Not only did Capt. Osborne make a name for himself as a soldier, [illegible] miner, editor and [illegible] he achieved distinction [illegible] munity builder as well. [illegible] a charter member of the [illegible] geles Chamber of Commerce [illegible] one of its directors for [illegible] During the past year [illegible] with signal ability as [illegible] Throughout his long [illegible] worked unceasingly [illegible] pansion and development [illegible] harbor, for the reclamation [illegible] areas of land tributary [illegible] for the upbuilding of [illegible] merchant marine and [illegible] things which would [illegible] the development of [illegible] cial and industrial [illegible] this great region. ACCUSES MAN OF 'BUNKO' CHARGE

Fred Z. Stone Declares He Was Sharpers' Victim

N. McCormick Accused of Larceny of $1500

Asserts He Gave "Bail" for Fake Arrest

N. McCormick, accused of larceny of $1500 by trick and device from Fred Z. Stone of 4909 First avenue, was held yesterday by Justice Hanby in $3000 bail. His hearing was set for the 20th inst.

Stone asserts McCormick is one of two fake detectives who "arrested" him recently, together with a young man he met in the Security Trust and Savings Bank, and released him when he gave them $1500 for "bail." The other, and the young man, are being sought in connection with the case.

Stone told his casual acquaintance he wanted to buy a bond and was informed the young man's uncle was a broker and would get it for him. The acquaintance took him to an office in the Grosse Building, he asserts, and while they were waiting for the uncle the "detectives" came in, and told both they were in custody.

On the street, one of the "detectives," noting the pin of a fraternal order in Stone's coat, told him they must have made a mistake and he could not be the man wanted.

"You don't have to go to the station," he said, according to Stone. "If you will give me $1500 for bail I will have the charge quashed."

Stone said he went to the bank, drew the money and gave it to the "detective," who took his name and address. The next day a telephone message said the charge against him had been dropped, but in order to get his bail money back he would have to put up $1500 bail for his casual acquaintance, and if he would do this the $3000 would be returned all at once.

Stone said he met the two "detectives" again and went to the bank, but became suspicious of the transaction and told the cashier about it. When the bank's special officer went to look outside for the "detectives" they had gone.

Detectives Hunter and Ousby of the District Attorney's staff traced McCormick, they say, from an automobile rental place to the Griffith Park golf links and back again before they succeeded in making the arrest.

PAY DEMANDS FLOOD COUNCIL

Recent Salary Increases Are Signal for Petitions

Janitors and Elevator Men Want More Money

Engineering Department Employees Ask Rise

A veritable flood of petitions for increases in pay has deluged the City Council since it boosted the salaries of policemen, firemen and technical employees in the building and engineering departments, it became known yesterday afternoon.

The City Hall janitors have filed a demand with the Council for an increase, asserting that they are receiving less pay than common laborers and are unable to subsist on what is contained in their pay enevelopes. Similar demands have also been made by the City Hall elevator operators, who advanced the same reasons for their request.

Employees in the engineering department also are dissatisfied with the increase granted them, stating that it is so small that its benefit is practically negligible. They are again clamoring for an increase.

The Wampus Club, composed of employees in the engineering department, has appointed a special committee to confer with the Council over the matter of a further pay increase. They are being supported by City Engineer Griffin and the Los Angeles Traffic Commission. Mr. Griffin pointed out that he has lost 187 trained employees in the last three years and that good men who apply for positions in his department refuse these positions when informed of the rates of pay.

The Traffic Commission is anxious to bloster up the department so that the many improvement projects scheduled for this year may go through without any hitch traceable to lack of trained men.

VALUABLE FURS ARE STOLEN BY BURGLARS

Burglars entered the room occupied by N. L. Cohen at 143 East Seventh street early yesterday morning and stole two Hudson seal coats valued at $1000 each, a beaver cape worth $1000 and a fur scarf valued at $500, it was reported to police late yesterday.

The thieves gained entrance into his room by removing the grating to a ventilator in a room above that occupied by Mr. Cohen.

KHJ AND KFI IN RADIO RACE

Former's Program Brings Gifted Artists to Air Fans in Two-Hour Relay

To the many thousands who listened-in last night to the joint concert of KHJ and KFI, this story will be much like hearing one end of a telephone conversation, because it details only half of what actually took place. Promptly at 10 o'clock KHJ and KFI began their two-hour relay marathon into the home of the radio family. KHJ's part of the concert brought to radioland the work of a generous number of gifted artists, each highly proficient in his or her chosen profession.

Josef Koneeny, violin virtuoso, headed the special concert bill. This son of a humble Bohemian blacksmith, through years of unremitting study, work and struggle, sustained by unshakeable confidence, has gained for himself the generous recognition of both the public and the press.

Esther Luella Lash, soprano, a native American artist, with a voice which has been proclaimed both lyric and dramatic, participated in last night's feature bill. There is a remarkable flexibility to her voice at no time flexibility to feel that technical difficulties stand in the way of full freedom of expression.

MARGARET GARY PLAYS

Margaret Gary, a pupil of Albert Ross Parsons, who is a former pupil of Liszt and Tausig, is a pianist of especial merit. Being endowed with a splendid technique, a big tone, mature interpretative understanding and poetic instinct, she is a brilliant artist. She gave a group of piano solos last night and also accompanied Mr. Koneeny and Miss Lash.

Carl L. Buratti, cornet soloist, added to laurels already won in radioland and gave generously of his art which ranks among the best of those who make a profession of the cornet.

Kathryn Thompson and Lillian Althouse, whom radioland has adopted if one can judge by the voluminous reports coming to The Times' radio department, lent their artistry to last night's special broadcast program, giving both solo numbers and duets.

Samuel S. Hines came over from Pasadena where, when he isn't practicing law, he appears with Community Players and told radioland again about Mrs. Dugan and how she made six dozen lamp chimneys out of twelve champagne bottles, and other humorous readings.

BARITONE ON PROGRAM

Henry Uhl, baritone, gave listeners a group of songs last night which were distinctly appealing. His rich baritone registers well for radio and when he sings listeners are insistent with their demands for encores.

Raymond Couch, baritone, accompanied by Robert Harkness, sang a group of negro spirituals, at the same time furnishing a ukulele obligato, and did two whistling numbers. Robert Harkness, who accompanied him, favored with several piano solos.

BALANCE MARKS RADIO PROGRAM

Wesleyan University, now is a permanent addition to the musical colony of Los Angeles. Last night he was heard for the second time from KHJ in a group of four solos, one his own composition, one by Paderewski and two by Preyer.

Emil Sasinz, who studied violin at the University of Southern California School of Music and who has done much solo and orchestral work since, lent a high degree of interest to last night's broadcast with three superb violin solos—"Serenade," by Pierne; "Son of Puszta," by Kele Bela, and "Liebesfreud," by Kriesler—being accompanied at the piano by Stewart Beatty.

R. F. Townly, tenor soloist, who enjoys an enviable reputation in musical circles of the Southland, gave excellent interpretation to a group of songs last night which included Del Riego's "Slave Song," Carl Breil's "Song of the Soul" and MacMurrough's 'Macushla."

DUET INTERPRETATIONS

Mr. Townley also joined with Leah Morgan Brown in a duet interpretation of "Home to our Mountains," by Verdi, being accompanied by Mrs. F. J. Sch.wankosky. Mr. Townley is tenor soloist in the First Presbyterian Church and has done considerable work as soloist in churches in Spokane and Kansas City; also concert work in those cities.

L. M. DeWitt and G. O. Burdette, who give able expression to music on the mandolin, steel guitar and Spanish guitar gave radio listeners many enjoyable minutes last night with their duets which included a large group of popular airs. It would be difficult to choose between the mandolin and steel guitar duets and those rendered on the steel and Spanish guitars. Both are past masters of these instruments and their contribution to the evening's entertainment will long be remembered.

Songs and readings were passed on to the juvenile listeners in radioland last night by KHJ during the children's forty-five minute period—the songs being the work of Marjorie Thomas, soprano, who, accompanied by Helen Scott, put the acme of expression into such songs as "The Chrysanthemum," by Salter; "Daisies," by Hawley; "Animal Crackers," by Hagemann; "Joy of the Morning," by Ware, and "Mr. Dream-maker," by Woodman.

CHILD ARTISTS PROGRAM

Again Little Emerson Frome Livingstone, artist pupil of Marshall Stedman, whose readings and recitations have earned him a wide circle of friends among both juvenile and adult listeners-in and who has an ambition to emulate some of the juvenile stars of the silver sheet, entertained last night. He gave to his little friends three of his teacher's compositions—"Miss Kewpie Doll's Adventure," "The Little Man" and "Who Likes the Rain."

KHJ's afternoon concert yesterday was exclusively of the vocal variety, Mrs. Dwight Crittenden, mezzo-soprano, accompanied by Carrie Preston Rittmeister, presenting a group of five songs—"Canzonetta," by Haydn; "Come Home My Thoughts from the Hills," by Ronald; "I Bring You Heartease," by Branscombe; "Comin' Thru the Rye," an old Scotch ballad, and "Yesterday and Today," by Spross. Mrs. Crittenden clothes her vocal portraits with a charm that is irresistible and appealing.

Go To Church Sunday

"Adam's Rib and the Soul of Eve"

By DR. FRANK DYER 11 A.M.
AMBASSADOR HOTEL THEATER

Note 1.—This is not a sensational sermon, but one which considers the origin of woman from a Biblical and Theological standpoint, the story of the progression of the ages—the march of civilization, the masculine contribution to civilization and the feminine influences at work.

Wherein lies the hope and danger of the days ahead? How will woman use her power to bring lasting luster to her era of power?

It is a study in that notable contribution of Benjamin Kidd in "THE SCIENCE OF POWER."

I would like my men friends to hear this sermon.

FRANK DYER.

Note 2.—We are happy to announce a combination of musical gifts of an unusual order. We begin today the services of the Girard-La Bonte-Ambassador Quartet.

Harry Girard, the eminent baritone, and Mrs. Girard, the Soprano.

Ilsuri La Bonte, the gifted tenor, and Mrs. La Bonte, the contralto.

They are individual artists who in their combined work, we feel are unsurpassed in the West.

The aim of their work is the enrichment of our worship and the inspiration of our hearts.

10:10, Dr. Dyer's Class, "Evolution vs. Creation"

The Public Forum

Ambassador Theater, 5 P.M.

Dr. Frank Dyer takes pleasure in announcing that Dr. David Starr Jordan will open on Sunday the Los Angeles Public Forum.

Theme—"Is War Eternal?"

Note—It looks so in Europe. But eternal verses a long while.

Does human nature never change?

Does war breed a better race?

Can a human biologist ever love war? How can we get war out of our blood?

Open Discussion and Questions.

Music—The Girard-La Bonte-Ambassador Quartet—"The Best in the West."

This Forum will bring to its platform men and women of national and international reputation, who are leaders of public opinion.

Dr. Frank Dyer, Chairman

CHURCH NOTES

The value of the community church as a strong uniting force in the development of Christian communities is emphasized by Rev. John A. McGaughey, formerly State secretary of the Interchurch World Movement, and new pastor of the Community Church of Imperial, Cal. When the Rev. Mr. McGaughey accepted the pastorate of the Imperial church in 1920 it had a membership of less than fifty, while today there are 300 active members. "In many towns there are from four to six churches, each striving to support a pastor, maintain a building and raise missionary funds, when one strong church could administer to all the religious needs of the community," says the Rev. Mr. McGaughey, who is ably supported in his work at Imperial by Revs. Oscar Sweeney and T. H. Hill.

"Was Christ Divine? Was His Mission Attested by Miracles?" These two questions of special importance to all Christians, will be discussed by Dr. J. R. Young of Pomona in an address to be given tomorrow at Benevolence Hall, intersection of Tenth and Olive streets, under the auspices of the Christadelphians of Los Angeles.

"The Young Man That Popped the Question" is the subject of a lecture to be given by Rev. L. Thornton Barkman tomorrow evening at the Leimaster. The subject for the morning address will be "A Disappointment at a Wedding."

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Dr. W. G. Miller, pastor. Morning subject, "The Revival at St. Paul's and Its Need"; evening, "Getting Things from God—How?"

Dr. B. Nelson Allen will be in charge of services to be conducted tomorrow morning and evening at the South Hollywood Presbyterian Church.

At the Plymouth Congregational Church, Rev. Clinton J. Taft, pastor; morning subject, "Our Outlook for Democracy." In connection with the coming Lincoln Day program, in which the Boy Scouts will participate, the moving picture "The Slave Auction" will be shown.

Dr. C. F. Winbigler will discuss "The Duty of the Church" in his sermon tomorrow morning at the Central Baptist Church. In the evening the great Lincoln will be remembered with a special musical program and exercises by the Boy Scouts.

Members of Knox Presbyterian Church, Forty-third and Figueroa streets, are predicting a splendid year's work for that church and are enthusiastic in their support of their new pastor, Rev. William H. Marshardt, who preached his first sermon at Knox Church last Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Marshardt came to Los Angeles from Yates Center, Kan., in which city he was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The sermon subjects for tomorrow morning and evening will be, respectively, "God's Standard of Greatness" and "No Man Cares for My Soul."

"Joys based on personal aims and desires are but shifting lights against a background of emptiness shadow—and are as many as they are evanescent." That is the sentiment expressed yesterday by Prof. Kurt E. Reinsman, associated with Katherine Tingley in educational work at the Raja Yoga College, Point Loma. Prof. Reinsman will give a free lecture at the Rhell Club auditorium tomorrow evening on the subject, "Why I Rejoice in Being a Theosophist."

Grace Congregational Church, Rev. Daniel T. Thomas, pastor. The speaker in the morning will be Rev. J. Ely, formerly of Denver. In the evening the pastor will preach on "The Great Emancipator."

FISH AND SAUCE CONTEST TO END

Second Group is Synthesis of World Cooking Ideas

Meat and Sauces in Recipes for Next Prize List

Prize Winners and Others to be Published in Book

Today is the closing day for the recipe contest for fish and fish sauces.

The second of The Times' recipe contests proves the interest Southern California housewives are taking in developing a distinctive Southern California cuisine. As the region's inhabitants are drawn from all quarters of the globe, so the cookery is to an extent a synthesis of the best of world's cooking ideas. The number and variety of entries is so great that the judges will have a difficult task selecting the best from among them.

Entries postmarked later than today, or received later than next Wednesday, cannot be considered for the second contest. Prize winners will be announced next Saturday.

THIRD CONTEST STARTS

Today begins the third contest, for meats and meat sauces. Entrants must remember that the rules, while simple, must be followed strictly. Name and address of contestants must appear on each recipe submitted; recipes must be written on one side of the paper only and trade-marked ingredients are barred.

Below are printed some of the recipes submitted in the second contest and some recipes for Spanish dishes. All the prize winning recipes in all contests, together with others of merit, will be published in book form by The Times and will be available at a low price to those interested. Each recipe will be credited to its author.

BAKED HALIBUT

One-half pound salt pork. Small onion. Bay leaf. Two pounds of halibut. Three tablespoons of butter. Three tablespoons of flour. Three-quarters cup of buttered cracker crumbs.

Put half the salt pork cut in strips in a baking pan. Slice the onion on this and add the bay leaf. Put the halibut on top. Cream the butter and flour into a paste and spread over the top of the fish. Cover with the crumbs. Cut the remaining pork into long strips. Place across fish, holding in place by toothpicks stuck into the fish. Cover with buttered paper and bake fifteen minutes in moderate oven. Remove paper and brown another fifteen minutes. Serve on hot platter, garnishing with slices of lemon cut in fancy shapes and dusted with parsley and red pepper, parsley, radishes, etc. Remove the toothpicks before serving. Mrs. A. C. Jackson, 701 Central Building, Pasadena.

FISH ITALIAN STYLE

Pour into a pan four tablespoons of Italian oil. When hot put in one clove of garlic, a green onion, a few pieces of celery, a sprig of parsley, one can of tomatoes and one small can of mushrooms. Slice a large rock cod and lay on the vegetables. Cook one hour in a slow oven, basting often with oil. About ten minutes before serving add a dozen or so stuffed olives. Serve on a hot platter and garnish with parsley.—Mrs. Donna Hubbard, 400 West Dryden street, Glendale.

BONED SMELTS OR MACKEREL

Bone small mackerel or smelts and skewer together in pairs, using for skewers wooden toothpicks dipped in melted butter or bacon frying. Fasten the tail of one fish in the mouth of another with the flesh sides together. Dip in cream seasoned with salt, pepper and onion juice, then roll in flour. Bake in hot oven, basting often with hot butter or bacon frying. Cook fifteen minutes and serve on a hot platter with tartar sauce made by adding three olives, a gherkin, a tablespoon of chopped capers, a teaspoon of finely chopped parsley and a tablespoon of chopped onion to half a pint of mayonnaise dressing.—Mrs. Donna Hubbard, 400 West Dryden street, Glendale.

CURRIED FISH

Either canned tuna, canned salmon or fresh boiled halibut, salmon or tuna, well flaked.

Chop two onions very fine, add to two tablespoons of hot butter or bacon frying and cook until light brown, then add one pint of milk or two-thirds of a pint of water and one small can of condensed milk. If condensed milk is used add after taking from the stove, as canned milk curdles easily. To this mixture add thickened flour and two tablespoons of curry powder if you like it well seasoned; if not, add only one tablespoon curry. Mix the curry with flour and water to form a paste before adding. Lastly, add the fish, salting to suit taste. Serve on a platter filled with boiled rice, hollowing the center and filling with the fish. This serves six. With this recipe a can of tuna or salmon kept in the pantry keeps one ready for unexpected company.—Mrs. Donna Hubbard, 400 West Dryden street, Glendale.

SPANISH OMELET

Spanish omelet is made in the usual way, but filled before folding with a mixture of stewed tomatoes (canned or fresh,) a sweet green pepper which has been seeded, parboiled and minced; a teaspoonful of finely minched chives, and a minced mushroom, all seasoned to taste, cooked together for one minute, then poured upon the omelet as it lies flat upon the dish. The omelet is then folded over the mixture and if there be more than it will hold the rest is poured around it.—[Mrs. W. B. Randolph, 6054½ Makee avenue, Los Angeles.

STUFFED CHILIS

Remove the seeds from six long green chili peppers. Boil in water for fifteen minutes. When cool enough to handle fill with rich cheese. Beat one egg, dip the stuffed chilis in the beaten egg, then roll in breadcrumbs. Fry in deep fat and when brown place on a platter and serve with sauce made from one can of tomato sauce, one cup of water, two cloves of garlic cut fine, half onion cut fine. Cook the garlic and onion in two tablespoons of butter, add the tomato sauce and one-half teaspoon chili powder. Cook all together fifteen minutes, add a little thickening and salt, and pour over the chilis.—[Mrs. Charles Fife, 225 West Fifty-sixth street, Los Angeles.

CAPILITADA
(A Mexican Dessert)

Six slices of dry bread
Half-pound of shelled almonds
One cup of seedless raisins
One pint of heavy syrup of panoche (Mexican crude sugar)
Half cup of grated cheese

Cut the six slices of dry bread in two. Brown in hot fat until crisp. Brown the almonds in the hot fat. Arrange the bread in a dish, add almonds, raising and pour over the hot syrup. Sprinkle with the grated cheese. This will serve six persons.—[Mrs. H. M. Ross Palms, Cal.

HOT TAMALE PIE

Two cups of cornmeal
Six cups of boiling water
One tablespoon fat
One onion chopped
One pound of chopped meat
Two teaspoons salt
One-fourth teaspoon pepper
Two cups tomatoes

Add cornmeal and one teaspoon of salt to boiling water. Boil five minutes and cook over boiling water for forty-five minutes. Melt the fat, add the onion and cook until browned. Add the chopped meat and if raw stir until the red color disappears. Add one teaspoon pepper and one teaspoon salt and the two cups of tomatoes to the meat. If convenient, a green or red pepper cut in strips may be added. Eighteen ripe olives and thirty raisins will improve the flavor but are not necessary. Grease a baking dish. Put in a layer of the corn meal mush, pour in the meat mixture, cover with the mush and bake one-half hour.—[Mrs. Helen E. Root 122 North Hudson avenue Pasadena, Cal.

GRAND JURY PASSES HAT FOR YOUTH

Tampering With Mails is Charge, but Indictment Gives Way to Aid

George Holmes, 15 years of age, wasn't indicted by the Federal grand jury yesterday for tampering with the mails. Instead, the grand jury took up a collection for him and decided to see if there isn't some way he can get an education and become an artist, which he says is his ambition.

The boy had told U. S. Attorney Burke his parents had been dead so long he could not remember either of them. He was on his way from San Francisco to Los Angeles and took refuge one night in the baggage room of the Southern Pacific station at Santa Barbara. He was hungry, and having no money, was tempted to open a mail sack.

His conscience got the better of his hunger, however, and he took nothing from the sack.

When these facts were presented to the grand jury, the hat was passed and $58 was collected to get George a suit of clothes and give him a "stake."

The jury reported its action to U. S. District Judge Bledsoe, who congratulated the members of the panel for their humanity and kindly interest, and Mr. Burke joined in his remarks. Efforts will be made, it was said, to place the boy in a home or school where he can be taken care of and given an opportunity to develop his talent.

"TIMES" RECIPE CONTEST

Readers of The Times are invited to participate in a series of culinary contests in which this journal will pay cash prizes for the best recipes submitted. There will be six contests, each lasting two weeks. In each contest the best recipe submitted will win a first prize of $10, the next best $7.50 and the third best $5. In addition to these there will be two special prizes of $10 and $5 for the two best recipes for Spanish dishes. These Spanish-dish recipes may be submitted at any time during the twelve weeks, or until April 7. All other recipes must be submitted before the end of the two weeks allotted to the contest in which each is intended as an entry.

The first contest began January 13, and ended Saturday, January 27. It was a contest for the best recipe for a soup or an appetizer. The winners were announced in The Times on Saturday, February 3.

The second contest for the best recipe for preparing fish or a fish sauce began January 27 and closes today. Winners will be announced February 17.

The third contest will be for the best recipe for preparing meat or a meat sauce. It will run from February 10 to February 24. Winners will be announced March 3.

The fourth contest, to run from February 24 to March 10, will be for the best recipe for the preparation of vegetables. Winners announced March 17.

The fifth contest, March 10 to March 24, will be for the best salad or salad dressing. Winners announced March 31.

The sixth contest will run from March 24 to April 7. It will be for the best recipe for a dessert. This may be cake, pastry or frozen or moulded desserts. Winners in this and in the special Spanish-dish contest will be announced April 14.

Honorable mention will be given worthy recipes which do not win prizes.

All the prize recipes and many other worthy ones, each credited to its author, will be published by The Times in book form after the close of the contests. These books will be available at a low price.

Recipes must be written on one side of the paper only, must be legible and plainly marked with the name and address of the author.

No manuscripts will be returned.

It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Times to compete. Anyone may enter any or all of the contests, submitting as many recipes as desired.

Originality, economy and adaptability to Southern California conditions will be considered in judging the recipes. Contestants should submit only recipes that have been thoroughly tested out in their own kitchens.

Specify exact amounts of ingredients, using level measurements. Do not use trade-marked names of ingredients.

Recipes should be sent in as early as possible. A recipe may be sent in before the actual start of the contest in which it is entered but in this case the fact must be noted at the top.

Address all recipes to The Times Recipe Editor, Times Building, Los Angeles.

America Stands Aloof As Europe Burns

The very isolation which was voted our policy by the stupendous majority of seven million in 1920, the policy of detachment from the perils and broils that are distracting Europe, is now being savagely attacked by the critics of the Harding Administration as having no policy at all. "In all the history of American foreign relations, American prestige and influence was never at so low an ebb as it now is," says the Rochester Herald, which believes that if we were to offer advice or warning to France or Germany or any other nation, it would "snap its fingers in derision;" "first, because our Administration has no policy toward Europe; and secondly, because in its present relation to the Senate, which it fears, and to the American people, whose sentiments it mistakes, it is incapable of formulating a policy and adhering to it for as long as a fortnight." While there are many other newspapers that express a similar opinion, the Administration has its strong defenders. In playing "only the role of a benevolent bystander," and refusing "to be drawn into the maelstrom," it reflects the best thought of the American people, declares the San Francisco Chronicle, and "so long as the general attitude of the European peoples toward each other remains what it now is, the time for American mediation is inopportune."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, the leading news-feature presents the American attitude toward Europe in all its many angles, reflecting public opinion in this country as expressed in the leading newspapers. Other very striking news articles are:

See "Fun From the Press" at Your Picture Theater

In olden days when the cares of state burdened the king he would summon his jester. A round or two of banter and his good humor was restored. With the passing of time and the transfer of power from palaces to cottages the humble citizen demanded a jester for his entertainment. The cleverest jokesmiths of every realm were engaged by the press for the pleasure of the new majesty. But oftentimes the best of the jesters were removed from the far corners of the court of the public. So The Literary Digest now gathers the keenest of the wit and the cream of humor from all the world and embodies it in one uproarious motion picture, "Fun From the Press." It is the court jester to the American Public. Once a week a new one appears at the best theaters brimming with the latest laughs. Watch for it at your local theater. For your pleasure—"Fun From the Press," produced by The Literary Digest. Distributed by W. W. Hodkinson Corporation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—The taking of testimony from the officers and crew of the motorship Sierra of the E. K. Wood lumber fleet was completed today and the evidence passed to the hands of John K. Ridger, supervising inspector of hulls and boilers. The investigation was conducted by Frank Turner, inspector of hulls, and Joseph Dolan, inspector of boilers. The result of the hearing will be announced later from Washington.

Capt. John A. O'Hallen, veteran Seattle and Alaska shipmaster, left today for Portland to pilot the steamship Northia from the Columbia River to Los Angeles. The installation of pilots aboard the vessels of the Lockenbach Steamship Company as they reach Los Angeles, to remain aboard from that time until they return to the same port, has been adopted as a standard policy for this line and Capt. O'Hallen will serve as such a pilot into Pacific Coast ports.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 9.—The Empress of France, Canadian Pacific Steamship liner, now on a world tour, will not be solicited to Pacific Coast service from Honolulu, where she is now bound, company officials intimated here today. Rumors that the Empress of France would make such a change had been current.

H. A. Rosen has been appointed general freight and passenger agent at Tacoma for the Admiral Line. Mr. Rosen succeeds Frank Stapleton, who has gone to Portland.

PORTLAND, Feb. 9.—Shipments of cocoanut oil from the Philippines to Portland will be not less than 1500 tons a month hereafter, according to advices received from oil importing concerns by the Central Agency here. The Java-Pacific liner Sandoway is returning here with 700 tons of oil and the Hannawa of the Columbia Pacific Company fleet is now loading a heavy shipment at Manila.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce and the Steamship Owners' Association here have placed themselves on record as opposing a bill now before the Legislature to reorganize the State Pilots' Commission by increasing the membership from three to five.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

TANK STEAMER LIST INCREASED

Los Angeles-North Atlantic Run Gets Five Vessels

Two Are New Craft, Three From Shipping Board

Daily Average of Production Shows a Large Jump

Steady increase of tank steamer tonnage operating between Los Angeles Harbor and North Atlantic ports yesterday was continued with the announcement that five new vessels had been placed on the berth for the local part. Of this number three steamers were United States Shipping Board craft, while the other two tankers come directly from the yards of the builders to the Los Angeles oil market.

The two are the Agwipond, 12,500 tons deadweight and the Agwismith, 15,000 tons deadweight, both of which have just sailed for this port under the house flag of the International Chartering Company. Both were built for the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies Oil Company, the Agwipond by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company and the Agwismith by the Newport News Shipbuilding Company. Other units of the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies fleet which the International Chartering Company has placed on the Los Angeles Harbor run include the steamers Agwihavre, Agwilake, Agwimex, Agwisea and Agwistone.

SHIPPING BOARD ADDITION

The newest Shipping Board addition to the Los Angeles-East Coast oil fleet is the tanker Huguenot, which is due here today from Galveston to load under the flag of the Sidney Collins Agency of Port Arthur, Tex. The Huguenot and other ships of the Sidney Collins service will be handled at Los Angeles by Struthers & Barry, Inc.

The 10,000-ton Shipping Board tankers Tulsagas and Halsey are also en route here to enter the new Los Angeles-New York service of the New England Oil Company. The two vessels have been tied up at the Shipping Board storage yards at Orange, Tex.

California's daily average production of crude oil for the week just closing was 536,000 barrels, according to figures just compiled by the American Petroleum Institute. This is an increase of 6000 barrels from the preceding week, while the total daily average crude oil production in the United States for the week was estimated at 1,728,450 barrels.

BUNKER OIL PRICES

Rising prices of bunker oil at North Atlantic ports are said to be responsible for the unprecedented intercoastal oil movement. Bunker oil is now selling at New York for $1.56½ a barrel, at the terminal. At other Atlantic and Gulf ports the price ranges from $1.30 at Port Arthur to $1.70 at Montreal. At Los Angeles Harbor the price still stands at the rock bottom rate of $1 a barrel at the terminal.

Eighteen Companies to Begin Work in Short Time

Many Additional Stars Are Employed for Pictures

With the purchase of the motion-picture rights to several popular novels and famous stage plays at figures of approximately $400,000, and the negotiations to annex scores of stars and prominent directors to their film fold, the new heads of the Universal Film Corporation, yesterday announced a tremendous production program to become effective immediately.

"The greatest opportunity of the motion picture industry lies at the door of Universal. We are going to take it," Homer A. Boushey, who was appointed production manager yesterday, declared shortly after receiving the promotion.

"Never has such a time come in the history of any motion-picture concern as that which has come to us. With our plans to enlarge immediately our production program with bigger and better stories and a greater number of stars and directors, we can take advantage of that opportunity and rise to even greater heights than we ever have before."

ALL-STAR CAST

More than $200,000 was paid by Universal for the motion-picture rights to "Up The Ladder," by Owen Davis which was produced on the stage by William A. Brady; "The Acquittal," by Rita Weiman; and "A Lady of Quality," by Francis Hodgson Burnett, it was announced yesterday. Virginia Valli will be featured in "Up The Ladder" and "A Lady of Quality," according to Mr. Boushey, while "The Acquittal" will be made with an all-star cast.

By the first of the month eighteen companies will be constantly at work on the Universal lots, according to Julius Bernheim, business manager.

"We are making plans to have the largest producing unit on the Coast, in fact in the world. With eighteen companies constantly at work we can double our production program. With the annexation of several stars and directors we are now negotiating with, we can easily have that number of companies working by the beginning of the month," he said.

It was announced yesterday that eleven companies are now at work on the lots or in preparation to begin immediately. The pictures with the stars and directors are "Crossed Wires," starring Gladys Walton, directed by King Baggot; "Drifting," starring Priscilla Dean, directed by Tod Browning; "Up The Ladder," in preparation; "The Skyline of Spruce," under consideration, to star Roy Stewart, and to be directed by Stuart Paton; "Katy Didd," starring Hoot Gibson, directed by Ed Sedgwick; "Jewel," all-star cast, directed by Lois Weber; "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," starring Lon Chaney, directed by Wallace Worsley, "What Wives Want," all-star cast, directed by Jack Conway; "The Phantom Fortune," serial with William Desmond in the lead, directed by Robert F. Hill; "The Oregon Trail," serial with Art Acord in the lead, directed by Edward Laemmle; "The Eagle's Talons," a serial to star Ann Little, recently signed.

TO EMPHASIZE SERIALS

According to the Universal heads special attention is to be given the production of serials. Fred McConnell, serial manager for Universal, arrived at Universal City yesterday to take over the management and the production of serials, it was announced.

Ann Little, who returns to the screen after an absence of two years, will have two of the world's greatest athletes and stunt men to play opposite her in the serial. Fred Thompson, world's greatest athlete, who was recently signed to play in "The Eagle's Talons," and Al Wilson, civilian aviator and stunt man, was signed yesterday to play a prominent role in the picture, it was said yesterday.

Martin Bendheim, assistant business manager, left here last nigt for San Diego to purchase five aeroplanes which will be used by Wilson in the making of the serial which is to be directed by Duke Worne.

Edward Laemmle will leave here today for Big Bear where he will remain for three weeks searching for locations for a forthcoming picture. On his way back he will stop over at Victorville, called the "western part of the coast," to shoot some scenes for the "Oregon Trail" in which Art Acord is featured.

William Duncan and Jack Hoxie, who were recently given long term contracts, will begin work on a serial in the near future, it was announced.

Film to Beat Drug Evil Has Good Backing

Congressmen at Washington have expressed approval of Mrs. Wallace Reid's decision to appear in a motion picture that will serve as propaganda against the narcotic evil. Representatives from various States have offered Mrs. Reid their support in her endeavor to show, through the medium of the screen, the greatest danger to health and happiness which menaces the American home today.

In the opinion of Representative Railey of Illinois, the motion picture is a great force for constructive betterment, and no more opportune time could be chosen to produce a film pointing out the dangers of drugs and the menace which confronts the nation.

"The dope evil must be crushed. To this end much may be done through the medium of the films," wires Vincent M. Brennan of Michigan.

"May I commend the courage and fortitude under great sorrow which prompts you to undertake a message to the world on the greatest evil that menaces the present and future generations. The screen is a wonderful agency for good, and if it can awaken the national conscience to eradicate a curse that crushes the physical and moral fiber of mankind by this alone, it justifies its existence," Thus Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts wired.

SCENARIO EDITOR AT METRO

Youngest Chief Is to Take Charge

Winifred Dunn

WINIFRED DUNN, 24 years of age, today will assume the duties of scenario editor at the Metro studios. The appointment was announced last night by Joseph W. Engel, first vice-president of Metro and general manager of that organization's West Coast studios.

Miss Dunn is believed to be the youngest scenario editor either here or in the East. She came to to Coast more than a year ago to take charge of the scenario department for Sawyer-Lubin productions for Metro. She assisted in editing and titling "Quincy Adams Sawyer," wrote the screen version of Willard Mack's stage play, "Your Friend and Mine," recently completed, and other stories.

The new editor is now working on the script of Robert W. Service's Immortal "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," filming being scheduled to start as soon as the story is finished.

Another of her many duties will be the preparation of the stories for the special productions starring Viola Dana, the first of which will be made as soon as the little star recovers from the operation which confines her to a bed in the Good Samaritan Hospital. She is expected to be before the camera again in about six weeks.

ACCIDENTAL DISCOVERY

Miss Dunn accidentally discovered her ability to build dramatic situations when as a girl in school in Rochester, her home, she translated a German play into English and was forced to change it completely to fit it for production on the American stage. She was far from being out of her teens when she secured a position writing two-reel film plays in New York. Their quality was not high, she admits, and she did not even attach her real name to them.

Her first original feature screen story was entitled "Too Late" and was produced by Selig. Other scripts which she has prepared include "Garments of Truth," "Little Eva Ascends," "Silent Years," "Two Kinds of Women," "The Glory of Clementina," "Wreckage," "When Love Comes" and others.

The list of women writers holding important positions in studio scenario departments is already long. June Mathis recently was placed in charge of the scenario department of the Goldwyn studios. Eva Unsell and Olga Printzlau are scenario editors for Schulberg Preferred Pictures. Jeanie MacPherson has prepared all of Cecil B. De Mille's scenarios for a number of years.

Other women prominent in this line of work include Frances Marion, now preparing a series of stories for Cosmopolitan Productions, and who has written many for Mary Pickford, Constance and Norma Talmadge and others. Anita Loos is another who has written scenarios for prominent stars.

FILM GIRLS ASK NEW HOME

Studio Club of Hollywood to Campaign for Building Fund Middle of Next Month

Preparations are well under way for a campaign to obtain a new building for the Hollywood Studio Club at 6129 Carlos avenue. This club, which is under the direction of the Young Women's Christian Association, is a residence for girls employed in any capacity by the motion-picture industry.

It has provided a home and club center for these girls for the last seven years, and increasing demands on the part of the girls have brought the committee in charge of the club to the decision to provide a more nearly adequate building for the constant demands. The projected new building, which will be erected on the property occupied by the present building, will cost $150,000. This figure is the quota of the approaching campaign.

CHAIRMAN'S COMMITTEE

With Mrs. Cecil B. De Mille as chairman of the campaign executive committee, the following are assisting as vice-chairmen; G. G. Greenwood, Charles H. Christie, Mrs. W. F. Callander, Mrs. William A. Moses and Thomas J. Patteh. Subchairmen on the committee, in charge of specific details are as follows: Miss Jessica Lawrence, chairman of campaign teams; Mrs. William C. De Mille and Mrs. Willsie Martin, joint chairmen of publicity; Mrs. H. T. Wright, Mrs. Sharon M. Atkins and Mrs. John S. Sanders, chairmen of the solicitation lists; Mrs. Rose Habersham, chairman of hospitality; Mrs. Arthur Heineman, Mrs. Kenneth McGaffey and Miss Aimee Torriani, chairmen of preliminary meetings, and Mrs. Harry Lombard, chairman of speakers. Miss Marjorie Williams, director of the club, and Miss Florence D. McCarthy of New York, director of the campaign, are members ex-officio of the committee.

Luncheon meetings of this committee, with Mrs. Cecil B. De Mille, Mrs. Kenneth McGaffey and G. G. Greenwood as hosts, respectively, have been held in the course of the last few days at the Writers' Club, the Come On Inn and Levy's.

PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

Representatives of the studio club campaign committee met on Wednesday with members of the Los Angeles Y.W.C.A. campaign committee and decided that in view of the fact that the campaign for $60,000 for the Los Angeles Y.W.C.A., which is to take place February 19 to 27, is a budget campaign for carrying on the activities of the association through the coming year, while the studio club campaign is a building campaign, soliciting for the Los Angeles campaign will be restricted to Los Angeles itself, and not carried into Hollywood.

The Hollywood Studio Club was originally under the direction of the Los Angeles Young Women's Christian Association, but recently it was considered wiser to allow the club to be pursued as a distinct and separate activity, and since that time it has been managed by the national board of the Y.W.C.A.

The dates for the Hollywood Studio Club building campaign have been set for March 12 to 19.

ROBIN HOOD IS BREAKING ALL RECORDS

Doug's Play on Broadway is New Leader in Box Office Showing

Douglas Fairbanks as "Robin Hood" has broken the world's record as a box-office attraction.

With 101,000 persons seeing "Robin Hood" at the Capitol Theater, world's biggest showhouse, on Broadway, New York, last week, all former records were smashed.

The opening at the Capitol last week brought the second showing of the picture on Broadway.

"Robin Hood" is the sensation of the "Great White Way," goes the gossip of theater fans along the Rialto.

According to a tabulation of figures from leading motion-picture theaters throughout the country, Doug's latest picture has broken all cinema theater records.

Out in Hollywood, at Grauman's Egyptian Theater, a record has been established both in length of showing and in attendance. The picture, still being shown there, has been running for seventeen weeks, and 255,000 persons have viewed it there.

The greatest crowd that ever viewed opera, picture or play turned out to see "Robin Hood" when the picture was shown recently at the Park Theater in Boston, according to the records. Records were established in Philadelphia, at the Stanton Theater, Pittsburg, Pitt Theater; Washington, Columbia Theater, and London, Pavilion Theater.

Arrangements are being made at Oakland for the student bodies of the University of California and Mills College to attend en masse the opening of "Robin Hood" at the Franklin Theater March 3.

SELZNICK GOING EAST FOR AWHILE

Contract With Theda Bara Calls for Picture to be Made There

With the completion of "Rupert of Hentzau" and "The Common Law" at the Selznick studio, plans are now being made for a temporary transfer of the staff to New York City to aid in the production of two superfeatures which are to be made there in the near future, it was learned yesterday.

During the filming of the pictures in New York City the headquarters of the Selznick organization will be technically in Los Angeles. Upon the completion of the two pictures the entire force will be returned to the Hollywood studio and work resumed.

Because of a provision in Theda Bara's contract which specified that the picture she was to star in "The Easiest Way," be made in the East, the localorganization is preparing to hurry along the plans for immediate work on the film.

"The Reason Why," written by Elinor Glyn, will probably be the other picture made in New York City, it was said. "The Easiest Way" was written by Eugene Walter and was first produced on the stage by Belasco.

"Rupert of Hentzau," a special production, with an all-star cast including Lew Cody, Elaine Hammerstein, Bert Lytell, Bryant Washburn, Irving Cummings and Claire Windsor, and "The Common Law," with Corrine Griffith in the lead, are now in the editing and cutting rooms and will be ready for distribution within the next few weeks.

Others in the cast of the two pictures are Elliot Dexter, Phyllis Haver, Wally Van, Conway Tearle, Doris May, Harry Myers, Bryant Washburn, Hobart Bosworth, Miss Dupont, Marjorie Daw, Elmo Lincoln, James Marcus, Nigel De-Bruller, Josephine Crowell and W. Van Brincken.

Russian Basso Has Cold; Calls Off Recital

Chaliapin, the Russian basso, may be six feet tall and correspondingly broad, but his size hasn't made him immune from the naughty little microbe that causes sore throat, it was revealed last night.

At the last minute, it was announced to a large and disappointed crowd at Pasadena High School Auditorium that the famous singer had been forced to cancel his engagement because of a sore throat and a cold.

"Oh no, nothing serious," said his secretary when approached for news of the basso's indisposition. "The doctor just thought it best for him not to sing for several days. You know, at his last two concerts he suffered from a cold. He's expected to be in perfect condition in a few days."

MOURN FRIEND IN CHINATOWN

Hundreds of Chinese that did not attend the services mourned in the alleys of Chinatown, for Quan Man Foo left no enemies. His death had nothing to do with tong wars, in which he never engaged. It had to do with his benevolence.

The storekeeper had befriended a half-wit relative, a young man, whom he intended to send back to China. The police advised him to keep the boy in an asylum until such time, but the Chinese said, "No, he is my cousin and shall live with me." This demented youth for some fancied reason or other shot his benefactor and then killed himself.

Rev. Mr. Lee in his snug little black frock coat, narrow black tie and big white collar, prayed a long prayer in the name of Christ, and as he prayed, no doubt, silent prayers went up from the old men present to the gods of their native land. Then the little Chinese minister preached, and his monosyllabic eloquence lasted a long time. He took from his little, snug black frock coat a little black book and read from it, and then he went on with his preaching.

"I told them," he explained afterwards, "that Confucius and the other philosophers of China told nothing about the life to come, but that Christ did. I read them from the Bible, the last two verses of Matthew," and the little Chinese again thumbed his little black book. "Here it is, 'Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations'"—the last two words with emphasis—"'baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and, lo, I am with you always even unto the end of the world. Amen.'"

Rev. Mr. Lee said he did not mention anything about the murder or tong wars or anything of the sort.

"That is not my business," he explained. "It is my business to preach the Gospel, and that is all."

Old-fashioned sort of minister of the gospel, Rev. Mr. Lee, down to the cut of his little, black, frock coat.

After the services all the Chinese passed by the casket and many of them, the young men in their American clothes and the old ones in their black jackets, joined the widow and her children in tears. The widow and her daughter left as they came in, weeping and chanting.

JOB VS. POSITION

It Made Difference in Cochran Family, Husband Asserts

What caused the matrimonial troubles of Alvis S. Cochran, Jr., and Mrs. Quida Cochran was that Alvis had a job instead of a position, the husband declared yesterday in his answer to his wife's divorce suit, filed in Superior Court.

"She wantad to go to cafes and that sort of thing," the husband asserted, "and step out all the time. She needed a husband with a position and all I had was a job."

After a lingering illness of more than a year, Mrs. Jennie Hines, widow of the late Fred A. Hines, Past Imperial Potentate of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, died here yesterday at 2 p.m. at the family home, 1834 West Eleventh street.

For many years Mrs. Hines had been a resident of Los Angeles, having come here in 1883 with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Frankenfield. In 1894 she was married to Mr. Hines, who was at that time a prominent business man of this city and an important figure in the organization of the Shriners.

Mrs. Hines was a member of the Los Angeles Country Club and maintained the membership of Mr. Hines in the California and Jonathan clubs.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Marjorie H. Newman, who was living with her mother at the time of Mrs. Hines's death, and one brother, Bud Frankenfield, 857 South Wilton Place.
